TALMADGE OUT FOR PRESIDENT; HITS ROOSEVELT

Chief Executive Is Called 'Usurper.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—With a scathing reference to President Roosevelt as an "usurper" in the Democratic party, Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

If the Democrats renominate Roosevelt, the Democrats will lose the election, Gov. Talmadge predicted. But, he pointed out, the southern and border states have 360 votes in the Democratic national convention and "it takes but 367 votes to block the nomination of a president."

Conference in January.

Tossing his mane of black hair, the tempestuous Talmadge announced that a convention of the "southern Jeffersonian Democracy" would be held in Atlanta the last week in January for the purpose of formulating a program to battle the New Deal and President Roosevelt.

"Will you be a candidate for the presidency?" he was asked.

"I will," answered the governor, the cigar in his mouth cocked upward at a pugnacious angle.

He brushed away the fact that the congressional delegation in his state has already announced its backing of the President.

"Boys" in New Atmosphere.

"Those congressional boys have been back home for some time now, away from the Washington atmosphere," he remarked. "They've been hearing about the 45 cent tax on potatoes. They've been seeing hogs selling at 8 cents a pound and breakfast bacon being imported from Canada, and cotton going unsold. Information like that is good for all of us. It would be good for the President, too. I been hopin' the sunbeams would strike the President, but I guess that hasn't happened yet.

"At present it is fashionable in some quarters to sneer at principles and disregard tradition as an obstacle to the attainment of the more abundant life, but we in the south are not prepared to repudiate our faith either in the doctrin of states' rights or in the principles of Thomas Jefferson," he continued.

Call Coming Soon.

"The convention in Atlanta will be held for the purpose of formulating a program to combat actively the New Deal and the candidate who was elected to office on the Democratic ticket. The definite date of the convention will be announced and the call will be issued some time this week.

"The southern and border states have 360 votes in the Democratic national convention. It takes but 367 votes to block the nomination of a president. We are going to bring a lot of delegates to that convention.

"The Democratic party has played a great part in this nation's history. It shall continue to do so. Usurpers shall not wreck it nor nullify its proudest traditions. Our appeal is to the true Democrats of this country regardless of geography.

Interviewed at Hotel.

The governor received reporters in his hotel suite. He was garbed resplendently in a dark green suit, green tie with a diamond stickpin, white carnation in his lapel, black and white striped socks. A lavender handkerchief peeped from his breast pocket. On a gold chain strung across his vest hung a cameo of a horse's head. He introduced his pretty, 17 year old daughter, Margaret, as "my baby."

"I hope the Democrats will do the courageous thing in 1936 and not renominate Roosevelt," he said, getting down to business with no delay. "A candidate should be nominated whose deeds have carried out the platform of 1932. If that's done, there will be a Democratic victory. Otherwise there will be a Democratic defeat."

"Any Sane Man Would."

"Don't you think any sane man would?" he replied. "A man'd have to have his head examined if he refused."

A primary in Georgia is optional at the desire of the Democratic state committee, but one will probably be

HOLD WPA PLAN UP TO GIVE JOBS TO DEMOCRATS

Director Unable to Plan Project.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mount Vernon, Ill., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—In this Jefferson county town of 13,000 population the inhabitants are jeering with hearty laughs the antics of local Democrats, who are trying to carry out implicitly the order to give boss jobs on Works Progress administration projects only to "loyal and deserving Democrats."

They also see the serious side of this command of Walter Williams, WPA administrator for 22 southern Illinois counties, which is intended to reward Democracy's followers out of WPA billions. Projects to expend $96,000 are hanging in the balance while the Democrats are maneuvering to get party members in key jobs.

Subject Still Warm.

Mount Vernon's experience with the vagaries of the WPA officials in East St. Louis and the coöperating local Democrats began last August. The droll dénouement, over which Mount Vernonites are chuckling and shaking their heads, still is a prevailing subject at sewing circles, church gatherings, and the like.

It began when WPA requested the park board to sponsor a recreation project, according to stories confirmed by several sources. The park commissioners acquiesced with the understanding that they could assign Miss Mary Oliver Black to supervise the program.

Miss Black, who was graduated from the physical education school at the University of Illinois, had made special study of playground and recreation direction. She had been recreation director for the park board one summer, and members said they believed her to be most competent to handle this WPA project. WPA officials offered no objections.

Told to Select Aids.

Consultations between Miss Black and WPA officials followed. In these conversations and in letters addressed to her she was regarded as the project director. She was advised to inform the Mount Vernon reëmployment office what qualifications she wanted in the persons to be assigned on the project from the relief rolls.

Miss Black worked out a comprehensive program for 28 employés to cost $21,000. It was approved. She left town for the week-end preceding the start of the project, and returned to find that WPA had certified Mrs. Anna Kissel, a Mount Vernon Democratic precinct committee woman, as the project director. Miss Black, who reached the voting age only after the 1932 national election, had called for a Republican ballot in the 1934 primaries.

No Idea What to Do.

Mrs. Kissel and the other 28 employés went to the park board to get their applications signed. They met A. B. Compton, president, and reputable witnesses remember the conversation as follows:

"What is it that I am to do?" asked Mrs. Kissel.

"Report to Miss Black at the community center," replied Mr. Compton, "she'll tell you what you are to do. She has the entire program worked out."

"But Miss Black has nothing to do with this," answered Mrs. Kissel. "I'm the project director."

Mr. Compton was startled, but recovering asked if Mrs. Kissel had a recreation program or if she knew where the community center was. Mrs. Kissel answered "no" to both questions.

Park Board Objects.

The park board conferred and unanimously demurred to this turn of affairs. They offered to let Mrs. Kissel be assistant director under Miss Black, but that wasn't accepted. Then they told the WPA that the park board wouldn't sponsor the project.

No open overtures or threats came back from the local Democrats, but various persons came to the park board and said in effect: "You wouldn't like to see your $75,000 animal house, swimming pool, and park drive project go under just because of your attitude on the recreation project, would you?"

Some suspicion was held that Eldridge Webb, chairman of the Jefferson county Democratic central committee, had sent these emissaries. He seemed to know the park board's answers before any one else.

WPA Strike in Iowa Voted for January 2

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—A massmeeting here today of more than 300 Iowa labor and unemployed delegates voted a statewide strike on Works Progress administration projects to take effect on Jan. 2.

The strike resolution demanded prevailing wages. It said that this demand had gone unheeded by L. S. Hill, Iowa Works Progress administrator; Harry Hopkins, national administrator; Gov. Clyde L. Herring and Iowa senators and congressmen, and that therefore "drastic action" was necessary.

The resolution authorized the state labor federation to represent all groups involved. It asked all labor unions for support and provided for "lawful" picketing on all Iowa WPA projects. The strike would affect about 26,000 persons.

Leave Time for Negotiations.

J. C. Lewis, state labor federation president and chairman of the meeting, said wages on WPA projects are too low and are undermining union wage standards.

The committee which prepared the resolution called the WPA scales "starvation wages." The pay ranges from $40 for a 120 hour month for unskilled labor in rural sections to $85 for a 120 hour month for skilled workers in cities.

Strike in Illinois Postponed.

Staunton, Ill., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Delegates representing WPA workers from 75 Illinois communities, including Chicago, voted 83 to 19 tonight in favor of postponing "until a more favorable time" the proposed statewide strike they had assembled to consider.

"We are taking one step backward now in order to take two steps forward later," said a report of the resolutions committee. Agitation for the strike included demands for prevailing union wage rates on WPA jobs, a 30 hour week and transportation to and from work.

Fire Drives 130 Tenants from South Side Building

A fire, for which a 3-11 alarm was sounded, drove 130 members of colored families into the street last night from the four story brick 24 flat building at 503 East 33d street. The flames sent up dense billows of smoke which rolled through all the entrances of the building. Firemen succeeded in saving most of the building.

LEO, KING OF BEASTS, LOSES TITLE, 1 ROUND, TO BRUIN, BERLIN BEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—A brief, fierce boxing clash at the Herne zoo today saw Leo the Lion lose the title of king of beasts to Bruin the Bear.

Leo and Bruin long were on the friendliest terms in neighboring cages, until the door between them accidentally was opened.

Leo sprang into Bruin's abode. Bruin, resenting the intrusion, started to maul Leo. Leo put up a good defense, but one blow from Bruin's paw knocked Leo for the count into a corner. Leo's keeper, hastening to the scene, promptly threw in the towel.

Burglars Disdain Pennies and Miss Six $100 Bills

Burglars broke into the home of Harry Lavine, 1005 Broadway, Melrose Park, Saturday night, found only $10, and then in disgust scattered a box full of several hundred pennies over the floor. But the disdainful burglars, Lavine told the police yesterday, overlooked an envelope containing six $100 bills.

Canadian Pigs to Market at U. S. Expense

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Canadian farmers, for the first time in eight years, are finding it profitable to pay duty on their hogs and sell them to Detroit packers.

The AAA slaughter of American grown porkers has brought the price of native grown pigs to the point where Ontario farmers are reaping a golden harvest at the expense of Michigan and midwest farmers.

A half million pounds of Ontario pork has been sold in Detroit since September, in which month 535 head, or 110,935 pounds, were trucked into Detroit by Canadian farmers and shippers. During the month of November, 1,489 head, or 336,700 pounds, were handled through the customs house.

$2.50 Above Dominion Prices.

On these porkers a duty of 2 cents per pound was paid the government, the exporters receiving from $2.50 to $3.50 per hundred pounds above the price they would receive in Canada.

Meanwhile Michigan farmers, thrilled at the high pork prices, wish they had some pigs to sell. The New Deal's AAA planning under which thousands of hogs were slaughtered in 1933, however, has kept Michigan grown pigs to a point called appallingly insufficient.

Exports Jump Enormously.

Figures of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce reveal that Canadian farmers are cashing in on the AAA program. For the first 10 months of this year Canada exported 3,382,426 pounds of pork into the United States. In 1934 they exported 116,676 pounds. The tarif on dressed pork is 5 cents a pound. Under the new trade agreement, which goes into effect on Jan. 1, the duty will drop to 2½ cents a pound and meats imported from Canada are expected to increase correspondingly.

Report Heir to Millions Held by Abductors

New York, Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Caleb Milne IV., 24 years old, grandson of Caleb Milne Jr., millionaire retired textile manufacturer of Germantown, Pa., disappeared yesterday from his New York apartment and tonight was reported kidnaped for ransom.

Police, while investigating the possibility of kidnaping, also are searching several other clews which might have some bearing on the absence of young Milne.

New York detectives seemed to take the disappearance lightly. No general alarm was sent out for him, although the missing persons form containing his description was marked "publicity."

The youth, who lived with his brother Frederic, 18, left the apartment about 7:15 a. m. yesterday after leaving a note saying he had gone to Philadelphia with "a Dr. Greene of Gracie square."

Gets Mystery Phone Call.

It was reported he had received a mysterious telephone call yesterday morning.

"This is Dr. Greene in Gracie square," a voice supposedly informed Caleb. "Your grandfather is seriously ill and wishes you to come with me at once to Philadelphia."

Frederic Milne told detectives he thought nothing of the matter until he got a special delivery letter at 6 a. m. today, postmarked at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The letter said:

"We have your brother in the country. Keep in touch with your grandfather in Philadelphia and have a large sum in cash available. We will communicate with you again."

Mother Comes to New York.

The letter was turned over to the police, who could find no "Dr. Greene" in Gracie square.

Mrs. Frederica Milne, mother of the two boys, came to New York City from her home in Woodstock, N. Y., after being informed of the letter and conferred with detectives.

She refused to discuss the case, but Miss Anita Smith of Woodstock, the youth's aunt, said he had been abducted.

Tells of Ransom Note.

"I can't give any information except that Caleb has been kidnaped in New York," the aunt said, "and that a ransom note has been received. Naturally, we are all very much upset."

At the office of the department of justice, whose agents were reported at work on the case, officials refused to admit or deny they were investigating the disappearance.

Grandfather Doubts Abduction.

The boy's grandfather, in Germantown, appeared to take the disappearance rather lightly, too. He said he had heard nothing of any ransom demand, though his grandson Frederic had telephoned him of the disappearance.

"Boys will stay out all night," he said, "but they usually return. I don't think there is anything to worry about."

The grandfather said the boy's father recently moved to Boston and that he had not been in touch with him on the disappearance of Caleb IV.

The Milnes are an old family in Philadelphia. David Milne came to the United States from Aberdeen, Scotland, in 1827 and founded the textile firm which has been in the family since that time. It is known as C. J. Milne & Sons.

Parents Are Divorced.

The missing youth's father and mother are divorced. Mrs. Milne and one son, Aubrey, 16, live half a mile south of Woodstock.

Frederic and Caleb IV. have been living at the New York apartment for several months. Caleb was employed at one time as a clerk in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Son but more recently has taken small parts in several professional plays.

Friends in Philadelphia said he was at one time a member of the Mask and Wig club of that city and that he had had minor rôles at the Civic Repertory theater in Fourteenth street in New York, in plays produced by Miss Eva le Gallienne.

Police Subdue Ex-Bouncer, but It Requires 18 of Them

It required eighteen policemen yesterday to catch and subdue John D. Tierney, 45 years old, 1020 Lawrence avenue, who was chasing his wife, Anna, about the hallways outside their apartment. Tierney, who weighs 200 pounds and is a former tavern "bouncer" and is also commander of the Edgar Lawrence Highway post of the American Legion, was finally overpowered and taken to the Summerdale station. His wife signed a disorderly conduct charge against him.

FATE OF EUROPE SEEN AT STAKE IN PEACE ROW

Cabinet Alarmed at Growing Protest.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—A stormy diplomatic and parliamentary week for Great Britain will begin tomorrow. Its outcome may be crucial for the future of war or peace in Europe.

Alarmed at the swelling volume of protest at the peace proposals arranged by Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, and Premier Laval of France, the British ministers are preparing the ground for a great parliamentary battle in the house of commons on Thursday. They are also arranging for a debate on the peace terms before the council of the league of nations and the house of lords on Wednesday.

Baldwin Cabinet Shaken.

There have been week-end diplomatic exchanges with all European capitals and with Addis Ababa. There were many tonight who said that Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's government has been sorely shaken because of the offer to give Italy about two-thirds of Ethiopia. They insisted that Hoare will have to leave the cabinet. Others said that the parliamentary hurricane will clear the air, with Hoare, Baldwin, and Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league affairs, all remaining in their places.

These observers said that behind the scenes the peace proposals are being effectively used as a basis to bring about a settlement of the war in Ethiopia at conferences during Christmas week.

Baldwin returned to London today from his week-end meditations at Chequers and saw Capt. Eden, who summarized the situation at Geneva. Later he conferred with other cabinet ministers. Sir John Simon, former foreign minister, also had a conference with Eden.

Hoare Returns Today.

Hoare, for whose scalp the Laborites are shouting, will return to London tomorrow from his holiday in Switzerland. A cabinet meeting is expected to be held immediately upon his arrival.

The Baldwin government will face a hostile parliament Thursday when the prime minister responds to the Labor opposition's charges that he betrayed his campaign pledges and sold out the league through the cabinet's acceptance of the peace plans.

His own supporters also are criticizing his action in giving too much to Premier Mussolini. The popular indignation, indicated in letters to members of parliament and the newspapers, has swelled to a high chorus.

Baldwin, Eden, and Hoare will, in a measure, all be under fire. There is open talk that Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, may be shifted to the foreign office if Hoare is made the goat of this imbroglio and forced to resign.

Baldwin to Defend Hoare.

Baldwin is expected to deliver an impassioned defense of his foreign minister's part in the peace proposals. He probably will set forth as his argument that Hoare's acceptance prevented a general war.

It is understood he will maintain that overpowering events forced Britain to seek an early end of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. He also is expected to declare that the peace proposals are in any case a practical and realistic basis for negotiations between Mussolini and Emperor Haile Selassie.

The prime minister was reported to be sorely disturbed by the flood of protests which continue to pour into Downing street. It is said he considers Thursday's debate in the house of commons and the events connected with it will have far reaching repercussions on the league.

It is still uncertain whether the debate will take the form of a Labor motion for a vote of censure, or merely arise on a motion to adjourn.

DUCE PICKS PEACE ENVOY

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 15.—A new indication that France and Great Britain are working behind the back of the league of nations and already may have reached a secret agreement with Premier Mussolini for the settlement of the Ethiopian war came to light today. Confidential reports from Italy announced that Il Duce's son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, the aviator, who has just been recalled from Eritrea, will be a member of the Italian "peace delegation" at Geneva.

This is the first any one had heard that there is going to be an Italian peace delegation at Geneva. Some observers presumed that the league council, which meets Wednesday, intended to kill the Anglo-French peace plan so that there would not be any negotiations. However, Mussolini's decision to recall Ciano would seem to indicate that Il Duce has other information.

It is not by any means certain, however, that the British and French governments will be able to fulfill their end of whatever agreement was made with the Italian dictator because of the growing public indignation in England against the peace plan.

Herriot Hits Laval's Policy.

A possible indication that the revolt against the secret diplomacy of Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign minister, and Premier Laval of France is spreading to France became evident today when Edouard Herriot, minister of state, made a thinly disguised attack on Laval's anti-league policy in a speech at Montbeliard.

The powerful Radical Socialist party, Herriot declared, favors settlement of the war by conciliation, but only on the following conditions: First, it must be freely accepted by both parties, and second, the method of conciliation must be compatible with the covenant of the league and the principles of collective security and must be acceptable to the league.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Nicholas Titulescu, foreign minister of Rumania, will combat the peace plan before the league council in the name of the little entente [Rumania, Jugo-Slavia, and Czechoslovakia]. The little entente, it is said, wants the league to establish a lasting precedent against conquest by force.

38,000 Italian Troops Pass Through Suez in Month

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—[Monday.]—More than 38,000 of Premier Mussolini's troops bound for Ethiopia passed through the Suez canal in fifty-six Italian ships during November, according to figures published here today. This brings the total of Italy's military passengers through the canal in the last year to well over 300,000.

ITALY FRIGID TO PEACE PLAN AS BATTLES LOOM

Armies to Launch New Drives in Ethiopia.

ROME, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Big battles appeared brewing tonight on both southern and northern African fronts as Premier Mussolini spent a Sunday in speeding up airplane production.

The dictator also called on Italy to fly the flags of defiance from every housetop Wednesday in celebration of the Fascist kingdom's "Faith day," and, through his controled press, threw more cold water on peace proposals.

On the southern Ethiopian front, Gen. Rudolfo Graziani, with fresh white troops coming in, said he was ready for a long anticipated clash with the 40,000 warriors of Ras Desta Demtu, Emperor Haile Selassie's son-in-law.

Prepares Troops for Drive.

Il Duce, at home, gathered every important aviation executive about him and told them what he wanted.

Already five big and fast new type trimotored bombers are being delivered daily, and 100 are in service now. Experts have said the planes could fly to Alexandria, where the British fleet is clustered, and back again, if necessary.

Peace Plan Attacked.

Italian newspapers, so controled as to seem Mussolini's collective mouthpiece, shrouded their dictator's reaction to the Franco-British peace plan with editorial gloom.

They said the proposals, offering Il Duce sovereignty or control over two-thirds of embattled Ethiopia, would give Italy less than her armies have conquered in the Tigre, "only sand" in the east and south and a zone of influence where hostile Emperor Haile Selassie would reign.

Mussolini, informed sources said, will keep the league of nations and the rest of the world waiting for his answer until after another Fascist grand council meeting at midnight Wednesday, although the league council meets Wednesday to discuss the peace plan.

On Wednesday the women of the kingdom, led by Queen Elena, will give their wedding rings to the cause of an Italy besieged by a "sanctionist" world.

Give Scrap Metal for War.

The "Faith day" ring giving will climax a drive in which scrap metal of every sort—from rusty iron bolts to gold medals of valor—has poured into the government's hands.

Several weeks before sanctions became a reality a government official forecast the women of Italy would "strip the rings from their fingers" to aid in the fight against economic penalties.

Ethiopians Ready to Strike.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES AT DOLO, ON THE ETHIOPIAN-SOMALILAND FRONTIER, Dec. 15.—Ras Desta Demtu, Emperor Haile Selassie's son-in-law, was reported converging today with three main columns of 40,000 Ethiopians on a front 30 miles from Dolo, where a big Ethiopian attack has been expected momentarily since last Tuesday.

The Italian troops were weary from waiting and prepared for inward thrusts if Desta's slow moving divisions did not strike soon.

"On the Somaliland front we are on the defensive, but not static," Gen. Rudolfo Graziani said. "If the Ethiopians turn, then we will be ready to drive."

Calls Ford "Private Sanctionist."

The Italian general said he would be well on the road to Addis Ababa if Henry Ford hadn't become "a private sanctionist."

"We paid for 800 Fords in advance," the general said, "but the sale was canceled when Henry Ford began his private sanctions."

The general said he needed only more caterpillar tractors to break through to Ethiopia's capital.

"Although their speed is only five miles an hour," he said, "such tractors conquer our mobility problem. Three hundred more caterpillars here would enable us to march straight to Addis Ababa."

REPORT MANY ITALIANS KILLED IN ACCIDENTS ON ETHIOPIAN ROADS

KHARTUM, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Reports arrived today by devious routes from the war front in northern Ethiopia that Italy's northern campaign is suffering severely from accident tolls along the mountainous roads.

The number killed and injured in road accidents, the information said, is much greater than the casualty list in the actual fighting. Reports of accidents are not permitted to get through the drastic censorship.

Messengers brought one unconfirmed story that a party of twelve aviators heading for the front went over a precipice in the heavy dust arising from the improvised roadway, all being dashed to death on rocks a mile below. Another report said that six huge trucks, blindly following their leader one night, fell after him in line over a tremendous cliff.

Along the torturous mountain roads from Asmara to Adigrat and Adowa are the skeletons of more than a hundred trucks that lost their way.

URGES REPUBLICS OF SO. AMERICA TO QUIT LEAGUE

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 15.—El Imparcial today states that the league of nations is faced with the possibility of the withdrawal of the South American republics because of the failure of the peace organization to enforce in actual practice the principles on which it was founded.

El Imparcial contends that the position of the Latin-American republics at Geneva is weak, ineffective and costly. Therefore, it contends it is time to leave Geneva. The league, it is contended, failed of its purpose when it allowed the Chaco war to run for three years, and added that it is failing in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

The paper advocates withdrawal in order to save the heavy expense attached to membership in the league.

Duce's Nephew Sails for War with Duke of Spoleto

ROME, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Vito Mussolini, nephew of Il Duce and editor of his paper, Popolo d'Italia, sailed tonight with the prince royal, the duke of Spoleto, for East Africa. Young Mussolini will join an air squad in Eritrea.

JEWELERS' GROUP CLEARS STEGE IN GEM THEFT HOAX

Praise Captain's Work on Complex Holdup Case.

Officials of the Jewelers' Protective association declared yesterday that Supervising Captain John P. Stege was entitled to commendation and thanks for the services he rendered in the investigation of the $25,000 loop jewel robbery that turned out to be a hoax perpetrated by a paid stool pigeon.

The association will back Capt. Stege in any conflict that may arise due to what they termed police jealousy, it was announced.

William Schlossman, head of the association, said it is unthinkable that any one would believe the uncorroborated word of the confessed instigator of the robbery, Meyer Bogue, an ex-convict who was employed by Indiana police in the Dillinger hunt and later was employed as an informer by the jewelers' association.

Bogue, who last Thursday told of hiring three men to hold up Milton Jackson, a New York jewelry salesman—on Sunday, Dec. 8, at Wabash avenue and Monroe street—sought in court Saturday to create the impression that Schlossman, Chief Postal Inspector J. R. McWhorter, and Capt. Stege had been advised of his plans.

Absolves Stege of Blame.

Schlossman said Stege knew nothing of the crime until he was called to Inspector McWhorter's office on the Sunday night after the holdup. During the afternoon Bogue had telephoned to Schlossman: "I have a line on things and Jackson won't lose a cent," Schlossman said.

In police circles it was said that Stege should have been given credit for undertaking a police task while off duty and in response to a call at his home at night. It was pointed out by an official of the department that policemen can keep out of trouble by "doing nothing," but that a zealous policeman often will encounter difficulties that might be avoided, due to the desire of a criminal to be revenged upon him.

The state's attorney's office was called into the investigation by Stege when it appeared he was about to make important arrests, Schlossman stated.

Resume Court Hearing Today.

Judge Matthew D. Hartigan of the Felony court, before whom the hoax was aired Saturday, said yesterday he regarded Stege's actions as perfectly proper and would continue in that belief unless something to the contrary should be brought out before him when hearing of the case is resumed tomorrow.

Bogue was a $50 a week stool pigeon for the association and was about to lose his job when, according to his confession, he arranged the robbery and then produced the stolen jewels—ostensibly to prove his worth to his employers—and a trap was set to capture men whom he said could buy the stolen gems. The state's attorney's office arrested all five of the alleged actual participants in the robbery—three confessed—and Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty said he would ask that they be held to the grand jury tomorrow by Judge Hartigan. Dougherty said Bogue might testify before the grand jury if he signs an immunity waiver.

Fails to Stop for Police; Car Takes 75 Foot Plunge

Richmond, Ind., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Police wanted to question Lacey Martin, 34, about a trafic accident. When he didn't stop at their call they punctured a tire with gunshot and Martin's automobile plunged down a 75 foot embankment. Now he's in a serious condition at a hospital.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY TWO AUTOS

One Hurls Her Into Other's Path.

Mrs. Josephine Szymankowski, 50 years old, 4543 South Kilpatrick avenue, was killed last night at 46th street and Cicero avenues. She was struck by the southbound automobile of Karl S. Boehn, 4918 Potomac avenue, and hurled into the path of another southbound car driven by Howard Cross, 1535 South 59th court, Cicero. Both drivers were held.

At 4 p. m. yesterday 963 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. During the same period 749 were killed and 16,903 were injured in trafic accidents within the Chicago city limits.

Other Cook county motor deaths yesterday:

Joseph Rocko, 50 years old, who said he was a resident employé of the forest preserve at Glencoe, died in Highland Park hospital of injuries incurred on Saturday night in Green Bay road near Kohling road, Glencoe, when struck by the automobile of Louis Taziali, [illegible] years old, 653 West Park avenue, Highland Park. Taziali said he could not see for falling snow. He was held.

Louis Koslowski, 50 years old, 3818 West 45th place, died in county hospital of injuries incurred at Archer and Normandy avenues on Dec. 8, when the car in which he was riding, driven by Frank Murphy, 5647 Turner avenue, struck a truck driven by John Karnas, 6120 South Nagle avenue. Neither driver was held.

The North Damen avenue police were searching yesterday for the hit-and-run driver who fled unobserved after his car struck and fatally injured Lloyd Wing, 40 years old, 2324 Giddings street, a toolmaker. Wing was left lying in the street at 4760 Lincoln avenue. He died shortly afterward in Ravenswood hospital.

Blame Bad Weather.

Five men were injured seriously in a single accident when cars in which they were riding collided head-on at 1809 Augusta street late Saturday night. The injured are John Kowalski, 24 years old, 1346 Sloan street, a chauffeur; Florian Malek, 31, of 3247 North Keeler avenue, a painter; Louis Malek, 28, of 2243 Augusta street, brother of Florian; Louis Koto, 29, of 902 North Marshfield avenue, and Teddy Zaucha, 19, of 1346 Sloan street.

Zaucha was in Kowalski's automobile, and the others rode in the car driven by Florian Malek. All were taken to St. Mary's of Nazareth hospital. They told the Racine avenue police that falling snow and slippery streets caused the accident.

James Hayes, 58 years old, 11 North Long avenue, was seriously injured yesterday at 2560 Madison street when he was crushed against a parked car by another automobile which skidded on the slippery pavement. He was taken to Washington Boulevard hospital. The driver abandoned the car which skidded.

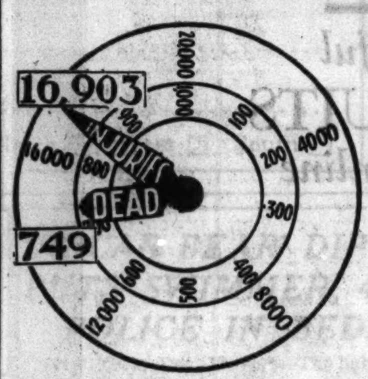
Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

BARES CRIMES SO OLD EVEN POLICE CAN'T FIND THEM

George Van Strook, 72 years old, who gave his address as 4620 Wallace street, was arrested yesterday as a burglary suspect by Policemen Andrew McNamara and Edward Witrey of the Hyde Park station. Said the policemen when Van Strook's criminal record, covering two closely typed pages, was brought from the detective bureau:

"Why, this record goes back to 1884, the year the police department first began to keep records."

Said Van Strook: "Shucks, fellows, that ain't all. I started getting arrested when I was 17, four years before then. I've spent about 20 years of my life in prison."

SEEK LAW TO END 'BODY SNATCHING' RACKETS IN N. Y.

Reach Home Before Kin Know of Death.

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Alarmed by a recent increase in "body snatching" activities of racketeering undertakers who prey mostly on the out of town relatives of deceased New Yorkers, George Goodstein, counsel for the New York State Funeral Directors and Embalmers' association, announced today a campaign to make "body snatchers" subject to jail sentences.

According to the proposal, backed also by the Metropolitan Association of Funeral Directors, for which Goodstein also is counsel, unscrupulous undertakers would be placed in the same legal bracket with ambulance chasing attorneys.

The next legislature, Goodstein said, will be asked to pass a law making it a misdemeanor for funeral directors to pay for "information concerning recent deaths" and subject to a $500 fine and maximum imprisonment of a year.

The move is part of a national drive to war on the practices of undertakers who through paid "tips" often arrive at the home of a deceased person before his family has received official notification of his death.

Out of Towners Easiest Victims.

"Of late," Goodstein said, "these New York body snatchers have been working their racket on out of towners mostly. A person dies in New York City, say, and the hospital files a telegram notifying relatives. Through inside tips the body snatcher learns of the message and telegraphs the family that he has the body and wishes instructions.

"This is impossible, as board of health regulations require permission direct from the family before the body can be released. The out of town relatives, ignorant of this, wire back instructions to the body snatcher which he then presents and obtains the body.

"If out of towners would consult their local undertaker before doing anything the racket could be stopped."

Because victims of the body snatching racket are loath to report events which recall grief, the funeral directors' associations have no accurate record of the number of cases which occur among New York City's 75,000 deaths annually.

Thousands of Cases Annually.

Goodstein said from complaints received, however, there are "several thousand victims of this racket a year."

The body snatching racket in Gotham has grown to such proportions recently, Goodstein said, that cases have been reported where undertakers hired patrol cars whose drivers telephoned the "headquarters" several times an hour.

In this manner they are able to reach the home of the deceased person before the official notification. In one recent case six undertakers arrived simultaneously at a house before the family knew there had been a death.

ROB LAKE FOREST HOME; TAKE ONLY RUGS WORTH $4000

Burglars early yesterday entered the Lake Forest home of Theodore W. Robinson, a former vice president of the Illinois Steel company, and took six oriental rugs valued at $4,000. Nothing else in the house was touched, although many drawers had been forced open and a number of rooms had been ransacked.

Lake Forest police found evidence that the burglars parked a car at the rear of the house, at 590 South Ridge road, and forced a rear door.

The Robinsons were at their Chicago home, 209 East Lake Shore drive, at the time of the burglary, which was discovered yesterday by David Kerr, the chauffeur.

CITIZENS' GROUP PRAISES UNITED FIGHT ON CRIME

Cites Its Achievement in Baring Poll Frauds.

The 61st annual report of the Citizens' association was made public yesterday, listing the accomplishments of the association during the past year. The report, signed by Francis E. Broomell, as president, and Shelby M. Singleton, as secretary, credits the state's attorney, the police department and the crime commission with remarkable results in the fight on crime.

The Citizens' association was founded in 1874 and its purposes were stated in resolutions beginning: "To insure a more perfect administration in our municipal affairs."

Cites Poll Fraud Activity.

The association cited its activities in presenting evidence of election frauds to County Judge Jarecki which resulted in the conviction and sentencing of sixty defendants. The association also led the fight on the handbook licensing bill, it opposed the permanent lake front fair and island airport plan, the report declares, and was instrumental in securing the passage of the law putting sanitary district employés under civil service.

Most of the report is devoted to the vote fraud prosecutions and criticism is directed against Sherif John Toman because of his refusal to make certifying returns on warants where arrests were made by a private detective. It recommends that the county judge abandon the custom of allowing the political parties to recommend judges and clerks of election to be appointed by the county judge.

A Plaudit for Horner.

The association congratulated Gov. Horner for his veto of the handbook license bill. Its protests regarding the permanent fair and the island airport bring this statement:

"In retrospect we feel proud of our clear-sighted preview and prompt action in these two matters."

A compliment is paid to Frank J. Loesch, president of the crime commission, for his recent statement that New York has taken from Chicago the reputation of being "the crime capital of America." The report concludes by the citation of figures to show that bombings have been reduced by more than 50 per cent.

Hinsdale Couple Marks Sixtieth Wedding Date

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Curtis D. Bird of Hinsdale, Ill., today celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Bird, 85 years old, is a retired railroad auditor.

GIRL AND THREE BOYS ADMIT 50 AUTO THEFTS

Joy Riders Captured After Crash.

Three young men and a girl were held by the Irving Park police last night in connection with the theft of more than 50 automobiles during the last two months. They admitted the theft of the cars, asserting that they stole them to go "joy riding."

Those under arrest are Robert Jansen, 16 years old, 2762 North Spaulding avenue, former inmate of the St. Charles School for Boys; August Wolfe, 18, of 3042 North Kimball avenue, who escaped from the St. Charles school on Oct. 11; Edward Maciong, 16, of 3819 Diversey boulevard, and Edith Strokosek, 16 years old, 3430 Belmont avenue.

Find Record of Thievery.

Wolfe was sentenced to St. Charles for automobile thefts and Jansen was sent there after being arrested for burglary.

Their arrests followed an automobile accident on Friday morning when a stolen automobile crashed into a telephone pole at Sunnyside and Milwaukee avenues. Detective William Mustopust found blood in the car, but the occupants were gone when he reached the scene.

A pair of broken eyeglasses led to the arrest of Jansen, whose head last night bore marks of injuries. Jansen admitted he was in the car Friday and named his companions.

The Strokosek girl confessed she had been along with the youths when they stole many of the fifty machines.

GIFTS OF CANDY LEAD TO ARREST OF BOY BURGLAR

Park Policeman Charles Williams, assigned to Chase park, Leland avenue and Clark street, noticed Jack Rayner, 14 years old, 5012 Winthrop avenue, treating neighborhood children with candy for several days. Last night he seized the boy, searched him and found his pockets stuffed with jewelry. Rayner confessed he had robbed fifteen homes in the district in the last three months. In the attic of an abandoned house at 912 Argyle street police recovered loot valued at $2,000, including jewelry stolen a week ago from the apartment of Miss Mary La Rue, 910 Lawrence avenue. Rayner accused his friend, John Walker, 13 years old, 4909 Winthrop avenue, of sharing the loot and both boys were held for juvenile authorities.

WOMAN, 87, DIES AFTER FALL.

Mrs. Theresa Vail, 87 years old, 4426 Berkeley avenue, died at the County hospital yesterday from injuries suffered in a fall on Dec. 3.

F. J. Thielbar Heads Wesley Memorial Hospital Trustees

Frederick J. Thielbar, member of the architectural firm of Thielbar & Fugard, was installed as president of the trustees of Wesley Memorial hospital last night at ceremonies in the First Methodist Episcopal church [Chicago Temple], 77 West Washington street. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf delivered the installation address, and brief talks were made by President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university, the Rev. John Thompson, pastor of the church, and Paul H. Fesler, superintendent of the hospital.

Two Shirts
THAT MEN INVARIABLY TURN TO FOR A SMART FRONT
$2.50

These are for the confirmed wearers of white shirts, those whose idea of patterns is more white. These fall in two classes, those who like their collars attached and those who don't but like their collars laundered and of the same material as the shirt. The collar-attached styles are of madras and broadcloth, the neckband style comes in the broadcloth only.

Sterling Silver
INITIALED BUCKLE—THIS WILL DAZZLE HIM, SO WILL THE BELT
$5 Set

So that your efforts are not met with scant praise—be sure the man you give one of these sets to hasn't turned the responsibility of keeping his trousers at the correct height over to braces. On second thought, you could still give him a belt set—he'll get a lot of wear out of it this summer and appreciate it equally as much as the confirmed belt wearer. One of the belts shown is a saddle stitch hand-bordered calfskin with suede lining. The buckle that goes with it has a 14 carat gold inlay. Another one is of rough grain genuine seal with cowhide lining. The third is of genuine alligator with cowhide suede lining.

From Switzerland
JACQUARD PATTERNED SILK CREPE—SELF FRINGE REEFERS
$3.50

Being down to brass tacks financially presents no obstacle here if you are bent on giving him something that has all the tell-tale marks of being a gift that set you back considerably. We make it easy with just such things as these imported silk reefers that, without overlooking the importance of being practical, have all it takes to satisfy his inner urge for luxury. They're admirably suited for both daytime and semi-formal evening wear—at any time, for that matter, when dressiness is of major concern reefers like these can be depended on for the right effect. In several different Jacquard patterns. All designed to our special order and exclusive with us.

Hand Blocked
PATTERNED FOULARD TIES WITH CREPE HANDKERCHIEF
$2.50 Set

Colored pocket handkerchiefs have reached the point of being an important accessory—at least they're of sufficient importance not to be overlooked if one of your "problems" is a son, nephew, brother, or boy friend who is up on his "Esquire." Any one of the four who gets one of these sets will laud you for your good work and your good taste. Both tie and handkerchief are patterned with an allover design of neat figures, typical of the foulard patterns we bring over from England. The ties are tailored over our own trim knot pattern and the handkerchiefs of a good size. Both in one gift box, ingeniously packed to save space and to give him no inkling of the surprise in store for him.

Twin Sets
A SLEEVELESS SLIPOVER AND SPORTS BACK JACKET
Both for $5

A new idea in outdoor clothes that has attracted considerable attention, and with good reason, is the so-called twin sweater set above. The slipover is sleeveless, the coat has a slide fastener front, and, as far as styling goes, a regular sports coat back. In blue heather, dark brown, and light oxford gray.

THERE'S TIME LEFT TO BE A GOOD FELLOW

Restaurant Staf to Aid 15 Families.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Employés and officials of the Pixley and Ehlers restaurants have contributed to a Good Fellow fund and on Christmas eve they will take heaping baskets of food, toys and candy to 15 unfortunate homes in Chicago. The names of these needy people are taken from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's Good Fellow bureau at its Public Service Office at 1 South Dearborn street.

This is the second year that this chain of restaurants has participated in the Good Fellow movement. The baskets will be packed this week at the Pixley and Ehlers commissary at 180 North Wells street.

There is time left for you to become a Good Fellow. As you buy your gifts for your loved ones please give a thought to the homes in which there will be little to remind the occupants that it is Christmas time. A basket of good cheer for these people costs little.

All Families Investigated.

Won't you pick up your telephone and call Superior 0100 or fill in the Good Fellow coupon which accompanies this story and join in this movement to make all Chicago a happier city on Christmas day?

Many have asked how they can be assured of the worthiness of the family which is chosen for them from the Good Fellow bureau. This question, THE TRIBUNE believes, is important, and that is why this newspaper maintains each year a Good Fellow clearing bureau, comprised of several recognized charitable organizations. Through this bureau a complete investigation is made of each family before its name is given out.

Proceeds from a Christmas recital to be given Thursday night at the Jefferson Park Congregational Church hall will take care of a family of eight, writes Miss Virgayne Ratchek, of 5282 North Lawler avenue, dancing instructor. Miss Ratchek has named her recital "The Dolls Jubilee" and she promises a visit from Old Saint Nick himself.

Cheese to Be Cut Up.

The huge cheddar cheese given by Wisconsin dairymen to the Chicago needy and exhibited in the lobby of the Tribune Tower on Saturday, was removed yesterday to cold storage.

It will be quadrisected and sliced by a special wire device this week and packaged to go into Christmas Good Fellow baskets for several thousand families. The cheese weighs almost two tons and was sent to Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, for distribution.

Italians Locate Belgier, U.S. Vessel Sunk by U-Boat

LORIENT, France, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The captains of the Italian salvage ships Rostro and Briero told port authorities tonight they had located the American merchant ship Belgier, sunk with a valuable cargo by a German submarine on Feb. 28, 1917. The Belgier's hulk is lying in about 350 feet of water off Ile de Groix, a few miles south of here in the Bay of Biscay, the Italians said.

IN STEP WITH GOOD FELLOWS

MRS. HUTTON WEDS LAWYER IN A QUIET NEW YORK CEREMONY

New York, Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton and Joseph E. Davies of Washington, a widely known corporate and international lawyer, were married here today at the home of the bride by the Rev. Clarence W. Pinkney of Watertown, Wis.

Only members of the two families and a few close friends were asked to the ceremony and reception that followed. These included the bride's three daughters and the bridegroom's three daughters.

After an extended southern wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Davies will live in Washington. The bride, the former Miss Marjorie Post, is the daughter of the late Charles W. Post, widely known in the business world.

This is the third marriage for Mrs. Davies. She was first the wife of Maj. Edward B. Close and after their divorce she was married to Edward F. Hutton. They were divorced recently.

Downtown Store Planned for Young People's Work

A downtown mart for the handicraft products of dependent young people will be established in February, according to plans made yesterday by an organization committee. The store will be a city-wide sales center, said Miss Blanche Van Buren, a youth worker and originator of the project.

'POLAR BEAR' DIP PUTS SWIMMER, 4 POLICE IN BEDS

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The habit of Michael Danzker, 37 year old Brighton Beach resident, of taking a daily dip in the ocean, regardless of weather, put four policemen in the hospital today.

This morning, with rain falling and the mercury registering in the thirties, Danzker started his daily swim at Brighton Beach. Caught by the undertow, he was being swept out to sea when he grabbed a line placed for the safety of summer bathers and held on until a policeman noticed him and summoned an emergency squad.

Four patrolmen, holding a life line, swam out and attached the line to the exhausted swimmer and all five were dragged to shore and rushed to a hospital.

Four hours later Danzker was released but his saviors remained under treatment for shock and chill.

TIENTSIN'S PORT SEIZED BY JAP PUPPET REGIME

Blood Shed in Three Hour Clash Near Tangku.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TIENTSIN, Dec. 16 [Monday].—Following an armed clash in which an undetermined number of soldiers were killed and wounded, the Japanese equipped forces of Yin Ju-keng, head of the East Hopei autonomous régime, today wrested control of Tangku, port of Tientsin, from Nanking authority.

A three hour battle took place yesterday around Hsingho, within a dozen miles of Tientsin, between forces of the East Hopei puppet régime and the withdrawing Chinese troops of Gen. Shang Chen, resigned governor of Hopei province, who has been appointed governor of Honan province. Two soldiers were killed and one wounded within sight of the Hsingho railway station. Fighting was visible from trains carrying foreign passengers.

Refuse to Lease Wharves.

The Tangku seizure followed closely upon the arrest of the Chinese commissioner in the Tangku area by the Japanese military because of his alleged refusal to lease certain wharves to the Japanese army for military purposes. His refusal was based on the vigorous opposition of the present occupants of the wharves. Japanese troops stationed at Tangku stood by while Japanese officers mediated the quarrel.

The Hsingho clash supposedly occurred because of Yin Ju-keng's haste to occupy Tangku before the complete evacuation of Gen. Shang's men, whose troops resent both the encroachment of the Japanese supported rebel movement and the fact that the withdrawal involves the surrender of their comfortable barracks while frigid weather prevails. Further trouble is expected because a considerable number of Shang's troops are still in the area. The Japanese destroyer Kiku stationed at Tientsin was sent to Tangku this morning.

See Attempt on Tientsin.

A spokesman for Japanese military headquarters alleged that an understanding previously had been arranged whereby Yin Ju-keng would occupy the port of Tangku, but Gen. Shang denied this. Chinese circles see the seizure of the important port as the preliminary to an attempt soon to seize Tientsin.

Since the East Hopei autonomous council was established early this month, including 22 counties in the demilitarized zone, Yin Ju-keng has moved to seize tax revenues, customs, the salt monopoly, railways, and communications and has declared Nanking's currency measures inoperative in the area.

Although Tangku is a mud flat village of only 2,500 persons, it is strategically vital as an ocean gateway to North China and controls Tientsin's huge export and import trafic.

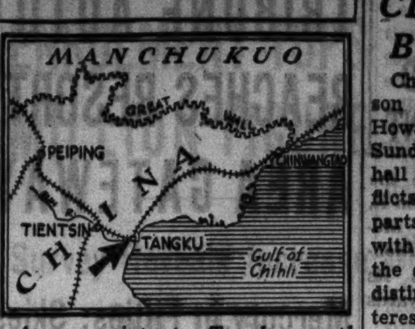
Kalgan Disturbed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KALGAN, Chahar Province, China, Dec. 16 [Monday].—A procession of Japanese troops in trucks, waving flags, terrified residents today. They were accompanied by large armament supplies. The "invasion" was regarded in Chinese circles as the forerunner of autonomy disturbances.

Fighting of a serious nature was resumed yesterday at the town of Kuyuan, east of here. Clashes began a week ago between a Japanese-Manchukuan force and the troops of the Chinese Gen. Li Shou-hsin. The invaders are seeking control of the entire northern part of Chahar.

PORT CAPTURED



Arrow points to Tangku, north China port, seized today by forces of Japanese supported East Hopei autonomous regime. Tangku controls the commerce of Tientsin.

'TOBACCO ROAD' WINS APPLAUSE IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—"Tobacco Road," closed in Chicago by Mayor Edward F. Kelly, opened here tonight before a capacity audience in the Davidson theater. Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, several other city and county officials were among the listeners.

From the comments heard during the intermissions it did not appear that the show is likely to be closed by executive order here. On the contrary, the mayor and City Attorney Max Raskin laughed and applauded during the presentation of Jack Kirkland's adaptation of Erskine Caldwell's story of share croppers on a tobacco plantation.

The work of the cast received frequent applause. Henry Hull, Fiske O'Hara, Donald Barry and others thus received virtual assurance that there will be no interference with the schedule of a week's performances here.

SUNDAY EVENING CLUB ADDRESSED BY CHARLES TAFT

Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, O., son of the late President William Howard Taft, told members of the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night that in present conflicts of church and state in various parts of the world his sympathy is with the church because, he said, the church holds as one of its most distinctive teachings that God is interested in every human soul, and not in dominant groups.

"It is of considerable interest to me," said Mr. Taft, "that the beginnings of democracy grew directly from the religious insistence upon individual conscience. This means a life free from the dominance of any other individual, a life of his own, a life of supreme importance to him and to God."

Three Identify Prisoner in Job Procurement Fraud

Salvatore [Sol] Porcaro, 43 years old, 741 North Trumbull avenue, arrested Saturday on a charge of accepting $35 from Oscar Medved, 2261 North Narragansett avenue on the pretense that he could get him a park police job, was identified by two other alleged victims in detective headquarters yesterday. John Zgorski, 58 years old, 5440 Melrose street, said he had paid Porcaro $30 on Nov. 11 to get him a job in the city water pipe extension department. Zgorski's son, Casimir, 25 years old, 529 North Hamlin avenue, said he paid Porcaro $45 for a park job.

SIX LOSE LIVES IN FIERY TRAP AT FARM HOME

Neighbors Watch Victims Burn to Death.

Carnegie, Okla., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Six persons were burned to death today as fire destroyed the four room farm home of George Bailey, 13 miles west of here. Two other persons were burned severely and five fled the house safely.

A defective flue apparently caused the blaze.

The dead:

Jarrett, 8; Gerald, 6, and Lillian Gene, 3, all children of the Baileys.

Mrs. Laura Bailey, 49, stepmother of Bailey.

Trapped in Flames.

Despite his serious burns George Bailey took the other survivors in his car to the home of a neighbor, where ambulances were summoned.

The fire, occurring early today, enveloped the house before the occupants were aware of it.

"The flames were in my bedroom when I woke up," George Bailey said. "I couldn't get out the door so I broke down an unused door which had been nailed shut. Then I went back into the house and tried to save others, but the roof started falling and I had to clear out. My clothes were on fire."

Find Body on Door Sill.

Others fled through doors and windows.

"When I reached the scene the body of one of the Floyds was lying across the door sill as though he had gone that far before he fell," Harry Jolly, state conservation commission employé, said.

"Other bodies were in the midst of the debris, and it appeared they had not been able to leave their beds."

The flames aroused neighbors, who stood by helpless to aid the screaming persons inside the house.

Three Die as Home Burns.

Newton, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Three persons were burned to death here early today when fire destroyed their home before fire apparatus from a nearby community could reach the scene.

'SHIP' OF ALUMINUM WILL BE LAUNCHED TODAY IN EXPERIMENT

Bath, Me., Dec. 15.—(AP)—With the eyes of the shipbuilding world upon it, the Alumette, an experimental aluminum "ship" which may revolutionize naval architecture, makes its maiden dip tomorrow from the yards of the Bath Iron Works, Inc.

Two years may be necessary, said W. Starling Burgess, the designer, to test the theory that the light metal alloy is practical for shipbuilding.

Six months in construction, the Alumette was built in the plate shop of the local concern. Known technically as a ship's "fragment," it weighs 12,000 pounds.

TRIBUNE AUTO REACHES RESORT AREA GATEWAY

Mercury in Fifties; Skies Are Overcast.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lake City, Fla., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—The Tribune roadster, trailing snow dodgers southward, was way down upon the Suwanee river today. The muddy stream, bordered by giant live oaks drooping with Spanish moss, was crossed about twenty miles before reaching this first community of any size to be encountered in entering Florida on U. S. 41, the most popular route from Chicago.

The town, with a population of 4,416, hardly big enough to be called a city and with no nearby lakes appearing on the map, is the automobile gateway to the peninsula that specializes in winter climate. It is at the crossroads on the old Spanish trail, U. S. 90, and of U. S. 41, known in parts of the midwest as the Dixie highway.

Topcoat Comes In Handy.

This introduction to Florida climate is not so hot. Only a real estate salesman or a member of the local chamber of commerce would be comfortable without a topcoat this morning. The sky is overcast and the thermometer is in the fifties.

The drive here from Atlanta, Ga., is over a high speed highway with smooth surface, light trafic, and easy curves and grades. Georgia's 40 mile an hour speed limit is enforced only in places, to meet local whims or local needs of revenue from fines. George Blohm, from THE TRIBUNE'S Atlanta office, warned of zealous cops near Jonesboro, not far south of the capital.

In the small towns en route children were setting off firecrackers and burning sparklers. It's an old southern custom to celebrate Christmas with fireworks. A tourist from Michigan, a "damned Yankee" lacking in understanding, remarked that it was "like shouting hooray for the Savior."

Cotton Fields Are Brown.

The highway through southern Georgia is in hills of red clay. There are expansive woods of slender pines, some of them scarred near the base to drain their sap for turpentine. Cotton fields are brown with just a few tufts of white left by the pickers.

Bedspreads, the fancy handwork of farmers' wives, hang in front of rural cabins. They are for sale to tourists. Pecans are sold at almost every gasoline station. The nuts grow wild and in orchards, trees neighboring the famous Georgia peaches.

Most of the trafic from the north—and it is heavier this year than ever before, according to all reports—is passing through Lake City continuing south. The Tribune roadster will do likewise.

CHARGE TAVERN OPEN LATE.

Four men and a young woman employed in the Oasis tavern, 6527 South Halsted street, were arrested yesterday and charged with operating the tavern after the 1 a. m. legal closing hour.

Girl Wounded as Youth Twirls Pistol on Finger

Miss Mary O'Donnell, 16 years old, 4852 South Racine avenue, was shot in the abdomen and seriously wounded last night in the home of Arthur Flege, 21 years old, 4844 South Racine avenue. Miss O'Donnell and Miss Anna Lontka, 5124 South Damen avenue, who was present, told Stockyards police that Flege accidentally discharged a pistol while twirling it on his fingers. Flege fled after the shooting. Miss O'Donnell was taken to the Evangelical Deaconess hospital.

DELICATE HEARTS IMPERIL CHAMP CANARIES' LIVES

Prize Birds Ride to Show in Heated Autos.

BY KAY HALL.

In deference to their body temperature of 110 degrees several hundred champion roller and type canaries were transported to the Congress hotel in heated automobiles yesterday for the opening of the annual international show of the National Canary Breeders' federation. In deference to their heartbeats their cages were handled with delicate care.

Their hearts pulse 400 times a minute and sufficient fright to raise the count past 500 times may cause death, Howard Fogg, an official of the show, explained. [The normal human heartbeat is 72 a minute; the normal human body temperature, 98.6 degrees.]

Rollers, choppers, and warblers are the three general types of canaries. The rollers have the capacity for varied melody and can be trained to sing specific tunes. The choppers give mere staccato chirps. The warblers, bred by crossing the other two types, have characteristics of both. Breeders of rollers were careful yesterday to keep their pets out of earshot of the choppers.

Self-Protection for Mimics.

"It's just like keeping a small boy away from other boys from whom he might pick up cursing," Fogg explained. "The rollers are apt to pick up anything in the way of noise. If they hear the dripping of water continuously, they will imitate the sound."

On exhibit in the show are a troupe of nine trained canaries that ride in toy electric automobiles, rock a toy baby in a cradle, seesaw and climb ladders. Their talents are directed by Miss Betty Norman. The birds were bred and trained by Miss Laura Merkl, 1733 Monticello avenue, a government employé, as a hobby. This is the first time she has exhibited them at a show.

"Quiet female birds make the best performers," said Miss Norman. "A canary can learn to act by watching others."

Judging for the award of $900 in prizes will begin today, with Anton Neukirch of Germany, George Dunbar of Scotland, and Frank Zager and Joseph Wolfe of Chicago as judges for the rollers. Tommy Brooking of Detroit and Samuel Hampson of Bristol, England, will judge the type birds.

A Contest of Champions.

The world's champion singing contest—the title was taken away from German entries at last year's show—will be a feature of the show, which will last through Saturday. Fogg said that secrecy has surrounded the training of this year's German entries and it is believed that the German breeders may have developed a new "tour" [canary musical tone]. Perhaps they may enunciate a brisk "Heil, Hitler," he conceded smilingly.

Two Chicago music makers, Billie, which whistles "Yankee Doodle," and Robbie, which whistles "The Sidewalks of New York," are displayed by Mrs. Nola Miller Fogg.

Pure orange birds are shown as the result of crossing blackheaded red South American siskins [finches] with canaries. The progeny of this crossing can mate and breed, unlike most crosses between finches and canaries, and the pure orange tone is achieved usually by the third generation.

GUZIK, CAPONE'S ALLY, FINISHES PRISON TERM FOR U. S. TAX EVASION

Jack Guzik, one time power of the old Capone booze and vice syndicate, was discharged yesterday from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., after serving a term for income tax violations. He was reported last night to be en route to his home on the south side.

Guzik was fined $17,500 and sentenced to five years and a day in prison for evading taxes of $230,000 on a total income of $1,000,000 for the years 1927, 1928, and 1929. With the usual time off for good behavior, his time in prison was shortened.

Guzik entered Leavenworth penitentiary on April 7, 1932. He was transferred to Lewisburg in 1933, when the government decided to separate members of the Capone gang who were sent to prison. Al Capone, only remaining member of the syndicate in prison, is on Alcatraz Island, California.

Guzik paid his fine in the summer of 1932. He protested, however, against an income tax assessment of $832,752 for the years 1924 to 1929 and in stipulations with the government, this sum was reduced to $378,533 last March by the federal board of tax appeals. This claim against him still is pending.

Sir Phoenix, a shaded silver, won the 15 inch cup and $35 prize as the best male cat in the Chicago Persian society's tenth annual cat show which closed last night at the Hotel La Salle. He is owned by Mrs. Charles W. Bidwell, 5220 Cornell avenue. Lady Louise of San Merkay, a black cat owned by Mrs. Thelma Bombard, 3940 Janssen avenue, won the smaller cup and $25 as the best female cat. The grand champion ribbon went to King o' Crest of Central Crest, owned by Mrs. Olive A. Brundage of Indianapolis, Ind.

Rockford Votes Tomorrow on Increasing School Tax

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—At a special election on Tuesday, Rockford will vote on a proposal to increase the public school educational fund tax from $1.50 to $2 per $100 assessed valuation. The board of education has announced that it faces a $180,000 deficit next year unless it is given means to raise additional revenue.

QUIZ U. S. FLYER IN KIDNAPING OF WEALTHY CUBAN

HAVANA, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Charles J. Wellstead, an American aviator, was questioned tonight by authorities in connection with the kidnaping last week of Nicholas Castano, a millionaire, for $500,000 ransom.

Wellstead crashed into Matanzas bay last Friday after, he said, he had been blown off his course en route from Miami to Key West. Cuban officials detained him, asserting he lacked entry papers as well as a pilot's license and a license for the plane.

Army officers said Wellstead told them he had been hired in Miami to fly to a point off Mantanzas to meet an unidentified yacht from which he would receive "further orders." The navy and coast guard have been searching along the north coast for the last two days following rumors that Castano was being held on a yacht.

Blame Old Kentucky Feud for a Slaying Near Joliet

Henry Robbins, 32 years old, a section hand living in New Lenox, eight miles east of Joliet, shot and killed Colvin Rowe, 28 years old, another section hand, in the George Osmus tavern in New Lenox yesterday. Robbins and his brother Earl, who witnessed the shooting, fled. It was said that the shooting was an outgrowth of a feud carried to Illinois when the two families moved from Kentucky.

Aberdeen, Wash., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Shooting of a huge experimental rocket, designed to carry a human passenger, was postponed today when trouble developed with an automatic parachute, intended to return the projectile safely to earth.

Charles Bushnell, inventor, said he hoped to have the parachute ready for a firing test tomorrow.

Nearly 3,000 people had asembled here to watch the test, scheduled for this afternoon.

Members of the Washington Experiment association, makers of the rocket, said one of their number may risk an ascent in the bullet like contrivance if preliminary tests are successful.

Hunt Burglar Who Mashed Thumb in Opening a Safe

The Hudson avenue police were looking last night for a safecracker with a mashed thumb. Early yesterday a burglar knocked the combination off a safe in the offices of the Banner company, machinists, 1873 Clybourn avenue, and took $100 in cash and $150 in jewelry. George Betterbeck, manager of the firm, told police that blood on the safe indicated that the burglar hit his thumb.

U. S. COLLEGES' ENROLMENT TOPS MILLION FIGURE

Survey Reveals Increase Over 1934.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, today reported that more than a million young Americans are continuing their studies in colleges and universities of the United States.

His annual survey of university and college registration for School and Society, educational journal, put the figure at 1,071,320 in 588 institutions, not including normal schools, accredited by the American Council on Education. Of the number, 705,989 are full time students and the rest attending part time and summer school classes.

Enrollment Shows Gain.

Altogether, his report said, total enrollment is 6.6 per cent above that of 1934, which in turn was 5 per cent above that of 1933.

Moreover, Dr. Walters commented, "economic improvement in many sections is indicated by fewer applications from full time students for instalment payments of tuition and notes payable after graduation, and by increased attendance of part time and summer school students."

25 Biggest Schools.

He listed the twenty-five largest universities as:

California, 20,388; Columbia, 14,116; Minnesota, 12,873; New York university, 12,705; Illinois, 11,528; Ohio State, 11,215; Michigan, 9,850; Wisconsin, 9,065; College of the City of New York, 8,286; University of Washington, 8,118; Harvard, 7,848; Texas, 7,534; Hunter college, 6,720; Pennsylvania, 6,449; St. John's, 6,265; Chicago, 6,158; Pittsburgh, 5,747; Cornell, 5,746; Northwestern, 5,622; Boston university, 5,552; Nebraska, 5,521; Temple, 5,454; Penn State, 5,228; Brooklyn college, 5,221; Oklahoma, 5,175.

Philippine Clipper Flying Last Lap of Manila Trip

GUAM, Dec. 16.—[Monday.]—(AP)—On the final lap of her 8,000 mile maiden flight across the Pacific, the Philippine Clipper left here today at 6:42 a. m. [2:42 p. m. Sunday, Chicago time] for Manila, 1,700 miles distant. Besides a regular consignment of air mail, the plane carried five Pan-American employés as passengers and a crew of nine men. The journey was expected to require 11 to 12 hours.

VETERAN OF 900 HANGINGS CALLS THEM HUMANE

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Hangman Sam Edwards, who said he has officiated at more than 900 executions, today recommended hanging as the most humane form of capital punishment.

"People who do not know believe that the electric chair or the lethal chamber would be more humane than hanging, but I challenge any one to prove me wrong when I say that hanging is the most humane," Edwards said. "It is all over in the split fraction of a second."

BROTHERS SEIZED AS ROBBERS.

Dan Zialowski, 22 years old, and his brother, Bruno, 24 years old, both of 1819 Hastings street, were arrested by Warren avenue police yesterday when they attempted to rob the Liggett drug store at 2259 West Madison street.

RARE AND BEAUTIFUL Lamps

Created with consummate skill for fine period rooms

To our knowledge, there is no single collection of lamps in the country that excels this in distinction. Our buyers, wandering through Europe, picked up exquisite bases inspired by museum pieces, and sent them to our own studios to be mounted with jeweler's skill and fitted with hand-made shades designed for each individual lamp. There are bronzes, pottery, porcelains, alabaster, crystal and marbles, many in pairs—and all truly works of art, which you will not see duplicated.

French Girandoles—above, an elegant pair in gold bronze and crystal from one of the finest makers in France. Each is wired for three lights. They are perfect lights to use on a mantel. Priced without shades . . . . . the pair, $250

Capo di Monte—left, a fine large base, intricately modeled and exquisitely colored, with a specially designed shade. One of an interesting group . . $77.50

French Porcelain—above, two classically designed urns decorated in blue, ivory and gold with swags and lion head handles. Each lamp . . . $65

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 15.—(AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas struck swiftly today to gain the upper hand over the newly returned Plutarco Elias Calles in what appeared to be a rapidly approaching showdown over whether the president or the erstwhile "Iron Man" will rule the political destinies of Mexico.

Cardenas announced the dismissals of Gen. Medina Veytia as chief of the military zone of the valley of Mexico and Gen. Joaquin Amaro as director of the National Military school. Thus, observers said, the president balked any possibility of an immediate military coup against the government.

The two generals, like the five senators expelled yesterday on charges of "seditious and rebellious" activities, were among the strongest supporters of former President Calles.

Accused of Plotting.

Accusations against the expelled senators, made public today, said the government had learned "a conspiracy is being carried on against the government of the republic by those whose political interests were injured by the breaking off of relationships between Calles and the government."

It also was contended that the dismissed senators and other Callistas have been meeting secretly with Calles, "who frankly revealed he returned to Mexico with the idea of assuming leadership of his supporters in order to restore an illegal situation."

The situation referred to existed during the years in which Calles really ran the country. It ended last June when Cardenas refused to accept the former president's suggestions regarding economic and political policies.

Calles Virtual Prisoner.

If Calles really is planning a conspiracy, as the senate charged, neutral political experts believed he committed a grave tactical error by coming to Mexico. Police and plain clothes men were quartered at his residence ready to halt any suspicious activities. Thus Calles' hands were tied and many considered him a virtual prisoner.

President Cardenas continued to receive additional pledges of support from organized labor, teachers, peasants and other powerful groups whose leaders said they were ready to fight against Calles if necessary.

Breaking its silence regarding Calles' return, the government paper El Nacional declared:

"The Mexican people in the mass are against Calles and behind the president."

The present crisis appeared to have two aspects: One political, involving the desire of the Callistas to regain their old power and the other economic, concerned with increasing leftist tendencies of labor organizations.

Conservatives Back Calles.

Calles, once called "the chief of the revolution," has come to be regarded as "rightist and reactionary" and as such would have the support of many businessmen and conservative blocs who opposed the government's economic policies as threatening to create a communistic régime.

On the other hand, organized labor, with the exception of the Regional Confederation of Workers and Peasants, appeared solidly with Cardenas.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Building Up Flock.

Dec. 15, 1935.

PLANS are under way for the establishment of a flock of pure bred Southdown sheep on the Tribune Experimental farm near Wheaton. This breed has proved satisfactory under practical central west farming conditions. The ewes produce a good crop of high grade wool and lambs that meet the requirements of the consumer. The lambs can be finished and placed on the market before they become too large, producing the small or medium sized cuts that are in demand today.

Following the practical plan that has met the needs and conditions on many central west farms, the Wheaton farm manager will start with a small flock of pure bred Southdowns. A few ewes and rams will be used as a foundation flock in developing over a period of years a band of high grade pure bred sheep that will fit into the farming scheme on a thousand acre farm where much of the land is kept in grass and hay crops.

This same plan is being followed on the Yorkville farm where a herd of 100 pure bred breeding cows will be developed from a small foundation herd of ten Aberdeen-Angus cows and a bull, all of famous black cattle families.

In both cases the best females will be selected and saved for breeding purposes each year.

The Wheaton farm manager is looking for a small flock of pure bred ewes that will be two years old next spring and already are bred for spring lambing. While the new pure bred flock is being developed the farm will continue with the present flock of nearly 200 one, two, three and four year old ewes and approximately one hundred 1935 lambs to be bred next year. This flock has been built up over a period of years by crossing western ewes with pure bred rams of the Lincoln, Southdown and Corriedale breeds.

A few days ago the last of the fat lambs produced this year on the Wheaton farm were sold. There were 17 in the bunch, weighing a total of 1,480 pounds, averaging slightly more than 87 pounds. They brought $11.25 a hundred pounds. Fourteen of these were from grade ewes crossed with a Corriedale ram and the other three were from grade ewes crossed with a Southdown ram.

A few wether lambs have been kept and will be slaughtered this winter for use on the farm.

Seeds of hemp, flax and soybeans from crops grown on small plots in a test field at the Wheaton farm have been thrashed out by hand and weighed. These crops were grown for exhibition purposes but men at the farm have weighed up the seeds and made estimates of the yields that may be produced from these crops in the northern part of Illinois.

Hemp ordinarily is grown for seed separately from hemp grown for fiber. In the Tribune plots the plants were allowed to remain in the field as late as possible for the benefit of visitors and when harvested both fiber and seeds were saved.

This hemp, which is the Chington variety, produced a crop of seeds yielding at the rate of 9.1 bushels per acre. Cayuga soybeans, introduced in Illinois by the Yorkville farm in 1934, yielded at the rate of 10.4 bushels per acre. The J. W. S., fiber variety of flax produced seed at the rate of 7.25 bushels per acre, while Bison, a regular seed producing variety of flax, yielded at the rate of 6.33 bushels per acre. All these crops were grown in rows.

CRASHES GRID DINNER WITH 14 SUBPENAS FOR HENRY DOHERTY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—(AP)—A process server in white tie and tails "crashed" the Gridiron club banquet attended by President Roosevelt last night and presented Henry L. Doherty, utilities magnate, with 14 subpenas.

The server, Gerald W. Sickler, walked up to Doherty with papers for suits filed against him by persons claiming to have bought $50,000 worth of stock in the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company. The suit alleges misrepresentation of the stock.

"How are you, Mr. Doherty?" asked Sickler upon reaching the table where the Cities Service head was seated.

"How are you?" returned Doherty.

"I have something for you," said Sickler, and handed him the papers.

Sickler obtained admission to the banquet with ease. Posing as a guest he took an elevator to the banquet room and was given a program which showed where Doherty was seated with hundreds of other distinguished persons.

Mother of 2 Found Dead of Auto Fumes in Garage

Mrs. Elizabeth Bolech, 38 years old, 2020 Chicago avenue, the mother of two children, was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning early yesterday in the garage at the rear of her home. Her husband, Anthony, found the body. Police said there was evidence of suicide.

WARDEN OUSTED; PRESS HUNT FOR ESCAPED BANDIT

New Brunswick, N. J., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Warden Alfred H. Puerschner of Middlesex county jail was suspended today as authorities pressed an intensive hunt for Edward Metelski, escaped desperado.

With "shoot to kill" orders, state police, detectives, and sherif's deputies searched for the 26 year old gunman, who made a cool dash for freedom on the eve of his trial for the slaying of Trooper Warren G. Yenser.

Capt. John Lamb of the state police took command of forces, watching rain swept highways and known hideouts for Metelski and Paul Semenkewicz, 22, the latter also a prisoner, who accompanied Metelski when he left prison officials locked in their own jail late yesterday.

Sherif F. Herdman Harding, in announcing Warden Puerschner's suspension, said the visit of the ex-prisoner with his wife, mother, and father a few minutes before the escape was in violation of prison rules.

Dr. Maurice Rubel Given Cross of Legion of Honor

Dr. Maurice Rubel, 1209 Astor street, was awarded the Cross of the Legion of Honor by the French government yesterday. Gov. Horner was among those present when M. Rene Weiller, French consul, bestowed the honor at Dr. Rubel's home. Dr. Rubel was born in Chicago and always has resided here, though he has spent considerable time in France. He received his bachelor of science degree at the University of Chicago and the degree of doctor of medicine at Johns Hopkins university, where he served as house officer. He is a member of the Chicago and Americal Medical associations and is on the advisory committee of the state board of health as well as being personal physician for Gov. Horner.

$91,377 OF STATE FUND RELEASED FOR LIBRARIES

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes announced yesterday that 54 of the 278 tax supported libraries in Illinois have been authorized to draw $91,377 of the $600,000 appropriated at the last general assembly for replenishing depleted library shelves. Of the allotments which are made on a per capita basis Chicago gets $76,783; Berwyn, $3,131; Blue Island, $245; Chicago Heights, $1,007; Glen Ellyn, $172; Joliet, $174; Kankakee, $546; La Grange, $91; Moline, $775; Palatine, $102; River Forest, $224; Riverside, $338, and Wilmette, $506.

Some of the many magic uses to which radio advertising is put

IT HAS been said that Lord & Thomas have pioneered more new things in radio than all the other agencies combined.

Certainly the famous "Firsts" which distinguish our record support this statement, and notable sales results confirm it.

But Lord & Thomas are the last who would care to be characterized as a "radio agency." Our record in the successful use of all the other advertising media is an open book.

It is no accident that practically all of the successful users of broadcast advertising are large and successful users of other advertising media. With a large background of newspaper and magazine advertising, far-seeing advertisers have found in broadcasting the way to more customers, reached by a different method.

Since the nature of the sales tasks given us vary almost as widely as the character of our clients' businesses, a thorough knowledge of the broadcast medium is essential in deciding the method of advertising attack.

Programs Must Do More than Entertain —They Must Sell

Lord & Thomas never lose sight of this fundamental. In the distinguished programs which bear the imprint of Lord & Thomas showmanship, salesmanship is strikingly evident. Each program is not only a first-rate show—it is a first-rate selling show, as sales records will prove.

Our radio departments include program directors, continuity experts, musical directors. They are versed in every phase of broadcast advertising. They have been foremost in recognizing new talent, and in securing it for advertisers at advantageous prices.

Lord & Thomas offer evidence of the most convincing kind to support these claims—the sales records of many of America's most important advertisers. We are happy to offer the accumulated wealth of our experience to national advertisers.

Pepsodent, with "Amos 'n' Andy"

Today—who does not know Amos 'n' Andy? And Pepsodent? This blackface team, first of all the present-day strip programs, is in its seventh great year. And still voted the No. 1 laugh show of the air!

—NBC Red Network, 7 P. M., week nights, E. S. T.

Lucky Strike, "Your Hit Parade"

"Cities Service Concert" with Jessica Dragonette

"The Magic Key" of RCA

Radio acts as good-will ambassador and salesman for a great company, the Radio Corporation of America, and the members of the RCA family: RCA Mfg. Co., RCA Communications, Inc., Radiomarine Corp., National Broadcasting Co. An entirely new kind of radio hour, enlisting the greatest array of international stars ever assembled for one program.

—NBC Blue Network, 2 P. M., Sun., E. S. T.

Associated Oil, Football Broadcasts

—Pacific Coast Networks, Sat. afternoon

Pepsodent, with "Al Pearce and His Gang"

A great new show pre-proved by its top ranking for six years on the Pacific Coast. Through it we bring Pepsodent Tooth Powder and Junis Cream to millions of women listeners three times a week in the late afternoon at approximately half the cost of evening hours.

Bourjois, "Evening in Paris Roof"

—NBC Blue Network, 8:30 P. M., Mon., E. S. T.

Kleenex, "The Story of Mary Marlin"

Introduced as a cold cream remover, Kleenex sought new customers for its many other uses. "The Story of Mary Marlin" was tested locally . . . a hit! Put on a national chain, sales pyramided. "Mary Marlin" became radio's most popular daytime show.

—CBS, 12:30 P. M., week days, E. S. T.

Some radio "firsts" credited to Lord & Thomas
(NAMES ON REQUEST)

It has been said that Lord & Thomas pioneered more new things in radio than all the other agencies combined. Those credited to us are listed briefly below:

1. First Daily Radio Contest of National Scope It rocked American streets with conversation. Made an average of 10,000 one-dollar sales a day for months.
2. First Daily Network Strip Program Started a whole new technique of commercial program building.
3. First to Rebroadcast Commercial Program Repeat same program late at night for Far West coverage.
4. First Big Hit Variety Musical Show Sponsored on Network Set the pattern for big commercial musical production shows in radio.
5. First Commercial Broadcast of Metropolitan Opera Series
6. First Commercial Series of Pick-ups of Foreign Dance Orchestras
7. First Sustained Commercial Series of Spot Pick-ups Artists and orchestras from all over country picked up on same program.
8. First to Present Authentic Police and Department of Justice Dramas
9. First in Number of Contest Returns 1,800,000 forty-cent purchases in two weeks.
10. First Chain Sponsorship of Football
11. First Network Daytime Serial Show to Women

Talent which was first sponsored or popularized nationally through us

Amos 'n' Andy; Bing Crosby; Eddie Duchin; Hal Kemp; Walter O'Keefe; Phil Cook; The Goldbergs; Rosario Bourdon; Donald Novis; Fred Astaire; Lum and Abner; Al Goodman; The Revellers; Walter Winchell; Jack Pearl; Clara, Lu and Em; The Cavaliers; B. A. Rolfe; Al Pearce.

Horlick's Malted Milk, with "Lum and Abner"

Local radio tests decided Horlick's on an unusual step—to concentrate the entire appropriation on radio, and "Lum and Abner." They were recently voted the third most popular air team.

• • •

Other radio programs featured locally by Lord & Thomas include: "Jeannine and Lilac Time," Pinaud . . . Local Koolmotor Broadcasts in three cities, for Crew Levick Co., a Cities Service subsidiary . . . St. Paul "Traffic Court Broadcasts," Nestlé's Lion Brand Milk . . . LEADERS OF BAR URGED TO PRESS LIGGETT INQUIRY

Law and Order Society Makes Plea.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—In the belief that law prosecuting agencies in Hennepin county and the state attorney general's office lack personnel capable of vigorously investigating the murder last Monday of Walter Liggett, editor and publisher of a crusading weekly newspaper, and obtaining conviction of his slayers, the Minnesota Law and Order league announced today it would seek aid of "brilliant counsel" from the city's bar association.

The Law and Order league, which consists of a forceful group of business men in Minneapolis, tomorrow will ask that the bar association appoint experienced members to take over the entire case, according to Merrill Hutchinson, head of the civic organization. The bar association has been approached by the league, which includes in its membership several of the city's most prominent attorneys and has received the reply that a formal request for aid will be favorably considered.

Strong Prosecutors Sought.

"In neither the office of County Attorney Ed Goff nor in that of Attorney General Harry H. Peterson, is there a strong, resourceful and experienced prosecutor," said one of the league members today. "Such a man should be put in to head the investigation and the court side of the case as well.

"The only man in Goff's office who is a capable court man is William Compton. Goff never takes a case himself and I've heard others express a doubt that he has tried a case in ten years. How can such an office personnel function against the powerful hoodlums who are, we believe, responsible for the killing of Liggett.

"While Peterson's office is not much better off than Goff's, we are sure that Peterson is honest and will make a sincere effort to bring the killers and those responsible for the killing to justice."

Arrest Reports Denied.

During the afternoon there were repeated rumors that an important arrest in connection with the police investigation of the case had been made, but Capt. James Mullins, chief of detectives, denied this. He said the police are still trying to find several witnesses, one a man and another a woman, who were believed to have seen the large sedan in which Liggett's slayers escaped after firing five bullets from a machine gun into his back.

"Why don't these witnesses come in and do their duty as citizens by aiding the police?" he was aked.

"There's only one answer to that question," replied the detective.

"The witnesses are scared to death. They are afraid to come in. We know that the man who we've been trying to reach is out of town now. It's possible he went out of town in order to avoid being dragged into the case. The woman is supposed to be afraid to come down because she does not want to get mixed up in prosecution of gangsters."

Paper Published Again.

Meanwhile the latest issue of Walter Liggett's Mid-West American has appeared and newsboys are selling the paper which hitherto has been found on only one stand in the town's business section, from every street corner. The paper was gotten out by Mrs. Liggett with the aid of several Twin Cities newspaper men who stepped in when her husband was killed.

In bold headlines across the front page of the tabloid size sheet is the declaration:

"My Husband Was Slain But His Fight Will Go On." It is signed "Edith Liggett." The lead story declares:

"In life Walter fought alone. He fought against tremendous odds. His death was inevitable. The politico-crime machine that he fought against first tried to 'buy' him off. He scorned them. They framed him and brought him to trial on the most heinous of sex charges. He was acquitted.

Carries on Fight.

"Their thugs beat him up at the edge of the Minneapolis loop. He carried on his fight from a hospital bed. They had to kill him. Death was the only thing, they thought, that would silence the attacks that bit by bit were cracking the foundation of their craftily built house of crime.

In the same issue Mrs. Liggett reiterates her positive identification of Isador Blumenfeld, alias Kid Cann, bootlegger, and familiar with Twin Cities gunmen, as the man who killed her husband.

Cann is still in jail where he so jauntily appeared only a few hours after the killing on Monday to offer what police now say is an "unbeatable alibi." Cann's statement of his innocence is borne out by half a dozen persons who said he was in a Minneapolis barber shop at the time of the killing.

Calls Alibi Perfect.

Today his lawyer, Thomas W. McMeekin, said he would not seek a writ of habeas corpus to free his client. He added that Cann's alibi was perfect and that he does not believe the grand jury will indict him.

Mrs. Liggett, who still is under a physician's care at her home, 1825 Second avenue, South, is to tell her story to several lawyers from the attorney general's office tomorrow and probably will appear before the grand jury on Wednesday.

Bus Company Lets Contract for 100 New Double Deckers

The Chicago Motor Coach company has let a contract for 100 new double deck buses for delivery next spring, officials of the company announced yesterday.

CLEMENCY PLEA FOR HAUPTMANN WILL BE DRAWN

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's attorneys meet tomorrow to draw up a petition for clemency, almost the last move remaining which may save him from the electric chair the week of Jan. 13.

In the office of Judge Frederick A. Pope at Somerville, Egbert Rosecrans, C. Lloyd Fisher and Pope will frame the petition asking the New Jersey Court of Pardons to intervene in behalf of the convicted kidnap-slayer of the Lindbergh baby.

The petition then will be presented to the clerk of the court, who will notify Gov. Harold G. Hoffman.

The governor, who already has visited Hauptmann in the death house, will arrange the court session.

Hauptmann's chances for clemency, however, are generally conceded to be slim, due to the setup of the pardon body which is composed of the governor, chancellor and six lay judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals.

Clemency would require a majority of the members, including the governor. The Court of Errors and Appeals by unanimous vote already has refused him a new trial.

G.O.P. CHIEFTAINS VIEW LANDON AS MAN OF THE HOUR

Cleveland Gains in Race as Convention Site.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Dominant Republicans from throughout the nation, gathered here for a meeting tomorrow to issue a call for the party's national convention, expressed the opinion today that Gov. Alfred Landon of Kansas is leading all other aspirants for the Republican nomination in public popularity.

Most of the members of the Republican national committee were cautious in expressing their preferences for the nomination, but the consensus seemed to be that Landon would have the best chance if the convention were held today. The situation may change in the next six months, it was pointed out.

Late tonight it appeared probable that Cleveland might win out in the convention city contest. The Kansas City backers were reported reconciled to defeat because of the objection that holding a convention in that city would prove too advantageous to Gov. Landon. Not wishing to permit the convention to be held in Chicago, the residence of Col. Frank Knox, another prominent candidate, the Landon forces were reported swinging their strength to Cleveland as neutral territory.

Chicago May Withdraw.

The Chicago group, notified of this development, announced that they would not make a prolonged fight for the convention.

"Chicago will withdraw in favor of Cleveland if the majority of the committee seems to favor Cleveland," announced George F. Getz, speaking for the Chicagoans.

Albert D. Lasker and Robert F. Carr, co-chairmen of a citizens' committee formed to secure the convention for Chicago, were busy today urging that Chicago be chosen. They guaranteed the payment of convention expenses up to $150,000 and pointed out the advantages of the city in location and facilities.

Lasker and Carr will appear before the national committee tomorrow, together with Mayor Edward J. Kelly and George W. Young, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The meeting tomorrow promises to be a rather dull affair, unless a controversy develops over the appointment of delegates to the convention. Committeemen whose states went Democratic in 1932 may contest the usual convention rules which would deprive them of their usual "bonus" delegates.

Hilles Favors Old Set-up.

Charles D. Hilles, New York state committeeman, spent a busy afternoon among the committeemen who were somewhat jaded as a result of the hilarity which usually follows a gridiron dinner. Hilles favors retention of the 1932 basis for apportionment of delegates on the ground that the last election was "not a fair test."

Under the party rules as adopted by past conventions, each state is entitled to twice the number of representatives it has in house and senate, plus a "bonus" if it gave a majority to the Republican presidential candidate in the previous election.

The bonus consists of three additional delegates-at-large to each state carried by the presidential candidate in the previous election, plus an extra delegate from each congressional district that in such election cast at least 10,000 Republican votes.

On the advice of the party's general counsel, John Hamilton, Chairman Henry P. Fletcher has taken the stand that the national committeeman has no authority to change the basis of apportionment.

SEEKS U. S. CASH TO BUILD TWO LINERS AT FIFTY MILLIONS EACH

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Paul W. Chapman, former president of the United States Lines, disclosed today that he has been in Washington for the last week seeking federal aid to build twin "super cabin liners" at a cost of $50,000,000 each.

If and when the proposed liners are constructed, they will be the largest in the world, Chapman said, outstripping in size, speed, tonnage displacement and cabin accommodations the Normandie and the Queen Mary, now under construction.

Chapman and his associates plan to charge $60 for a single one-way passage, or $50 for double occupancy of a cabin to England and France. Plans call for erection of 5,000 cabins, with a maximum capacity of 10,000 passengers.

HORNER TO KEEP ON BEGGING U. S. FOR RELIEF AID

Gov. Horner hopes to confer with Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, over the long distance telephone today in an effort to obtain funds to continue relief in Illinois during the first quarter of 1936. In three days' effort he has failed to reach Mr. Hopkins. Officials estimate that the state will run a deficit of $3,000,000 unless additional funds are supplied.

Gov. Horner has asserted that he will not approve the transfer of money from the $17,000,000 general fund of the state to meet relief needs. He implied yesterday that he has not considered an alternative plan should his request be refused by the federal authorities. He said that he would wait until after his talk with Hopkins before issuing a statement.

The Joint Committee on Public Assistance, representing nine social service agencies in the city, will discuss the local relief problem at a general conference next Friday in the committee's quarters at 203 North Wabash avenue.

held next spring and Gov. Talmadge expects to be his state's candidate, he said.

He refused to discuss other candidates.

"This thing is bigger than names," he declared. "It's a pretty big job to stop the communistic trends of this administration and its throwing away of billions."

He asserted that the President had been deceived by the apparent cordiality of his recent reception in Atlanta.

Respect for His Office.

"The people turned out because of respect for the office," he asserted. "The politicians did a lot of bowing and kowtowing because they want money. And the farmers are taking those checks and laughing up their sleeves. On election day they'll give the President an awful shock."

Asked about his views on the Townsend plan, providing for the payment of $200 monthly to all persons more than 60 years old, the governor said he was opposed to any pension plan except one for incapacitated veterans of the world war. He favors payments of the soldiers' bonus out of the 4 billion 800 million dollor works relief appropriation, he added.

Albert B. Fall's Condition Reported Slightly Better

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Doctors at William Beaumont hospital reported today that the condition of Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior in President Harding's cabinet, is slightly improved. He is ill with bronchial pneumonia.

HOOVER WILL ANSWER ROOSEVELT IN SPEECH AT ST. LOUIS TONIGHT

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Ben Allen, secretary to Herbert Hoover, said here tonight that the former President definitly viewed the address he will make in St. Louis tomorrow night as an answer to the speech made at Atlanta, Ga., by President Franklin R. Roosevelt.

Hoover will open his St. Louis address with a discussion of expenditures of the administration and later will swing to a discussion of relief, Allen said.

Hoover changed trains here tonight for St. Louis. He was met by Ballard Dunn, Nebraska Republican leader.

Hoover is scheduled to leave St. Louis Monday night for Chicago, will remain in Chicago Tuesday, and will leave Tuesday night for his home in Palo Alto, Cal.

3 DESCENDANTS OF PRESIDENTS TO ATTEND FETE

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Descendants of three Republican Presidents will attend the annual luncheon of the Women's National Republican club on Jan. 18.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth will be guest of honor. Two of the three speakers will be Robert A. Taft, son of William Howard Taft, and Princess Cantacuzene, granddaughter of Ulysses S. Grant.

The third speaker will be John D. M. Hamilton, national committeeman from Kansas and general counsel of the Republican national committee.

Heavy Tools in Oil Truck Crush 2 'Hikers' to Death

Springfield, Mo., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Two hitch-hikers were pounded to death by hammers and pieces of steel when a truck in which they were returning from a funeral crashed over an embankment near here. George Sloan and Harvey Sands had hitch-hiked to Branson and were returning when the driver of an oil company service truck with a heavy load of tools gave them a ride. When the truck plunged over an embankment the heavy tools crushed both men to death. The driver was only slightly injured.

Recreation Commission to Hold Dinner Meeting

Representatives of civic, political, social, and industrial groups will attend the first annual dinner meeting of the Chicago Recreation commission tomorrow night at the Auditorium hotel. Frederic A. Delano, an uncle of President Roosevelt, arrived in Chicago yesterday to speak at the gathering. Among the speakers will be Mayor Kelly, Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan, Librarian Carl B. Roden, and Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago Park district.

JUNKETERS ARE SHY ABOUT TALK ON SUGAR TARIF

Garner Says to Quiz His "Boss in Washington."

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—The United States congressional junketers came home from the Orient today, after giving the new Philippine commonwealth government an official send-off, but most of the members were wary of comment regarding future status of the islands' great sugar exports in relation to the American tarif wall.

It has been intimated, more or less openly, that the Manila government would consider the cost of entertainment for the American officials—some $200,000—would be money well spent if they developed through it a friendly attitude in the matter of this sugar tarif as it relates to the Philippines.

"Naturally the Philippines are looking to this country as a market for their sugar," said Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana, when the party disembarked from the President Jefferson.

"For ten years they will have special rates on their sugar tarif. After that they have hopes, but no assurances from this country, for some tarif concessions.

Closely Watched in Japan.

"I was amazed at the industry in Japan. Also surprised at how closely they kept check on our party while we were there. We had to give up many cigars and cigarets when going ashore. It's almost impossible to take anything past the Japanese customs."

Senator Ernest W. Gibson of Vermont predicted that the new tax on coconut oil, which is to take effect in five years, "will mean the ruination of the Philippine Islands.

"Of course we have to protect home industry, but this tax strikes a hard blow at the islands," he said. "I believe some changes will have to be made in the Tydings-McDuffie act."

Garner Wants a Match.

"I couldn't light a smoke with those little matches in the orient," he said. "I need the kind a fellow can strike on the seat of his trousers or on the wall."

Garner, as usual, was silent on political subjects. When questioned about probable disposition of the sugar tarif question, he answered:

"I have a boss in Washington, D. C., who does the talking for the firm."

Mrs. Garner is glad to be home where the cooking "is just plain American." She made a study of oriental styles and became an authority on fashions of the far east.

Predicts a Short Session.

The Philippines can maintain themselves if let alone, in the opinion of Joseph W. Byrns, speaker of the house of representatives. "The three most serious problems of the commonwealth will be finances, revenue, and defense," he stated.

Speaker Byrns believes the next session of congress should be finished by May.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader in the senate, stated that there had been little time during the two months' tour of the orient for conferences on he approaching session of congress.

"I believe I am justified in saying that the session will be comparatively short," he said. "Among measures likely to be brought up are those pertaining to payment of adjusted compensation certificates and flood control."

Sees Nippon Military Waning.

"It is not altogether surprising to find the Japanese agitated upon the prepardness issue, just as we Americans are," he said in his public address. "I found there large resentment over the domination of the Japanese military in government affairs, but large expectation that the military is doomed to fade soon.

"I question that Japan wants the Philippines. Certain it is that she has her mouth so full of new territory now that she herself wonders about her ability to swallow it. The Quezon government is being burdened by a national defense way beyond the means of the Philippine people. Schools and other institutions of government are bound to suffer as a consequence, and in the end the Philippines may be convinced that they cannot possibly get on without the help of Uncle Sam."

Will Continue to "Lean."

Senator Nye believes the Philippines will continue to lean on Uncle Sam's shoulder even after the ten year period of guidance by this nation. Whether the United States will lend support after that period depends on the oriental policy of congress, he said before making his public address.

Members of the junket who declined to be quoted were unanimous in stating that the Philippines must face the same United States tarif barriers as other nations after ten years.

LIBERTY LEAGUE WARNS OF PERIL IN DICTATORSHIP

Fears Present Trend Will Thwart Constitution.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—The American Liberty league today cited results of dictatorships in Russia, Italy and Germany as object lessons meriting the attention of New Dealers and the American people.

As extreme examples of dictatorships, the nonpartisan league held, the three European countries show what might be the ultimate result if steps already taken in the United States are pursued to their logical end. The league asserted that the constitution stands as a bar to dictators here, but New Deal legislation has brought about an extraordinary centralization of power.

"If those parading as 'economic planners' are able to throw off the restraint of the courts, they will at once become an all powerful group and exercise complete dominance over the economic order," the league warned. "The price paid by the American people would be the relinquishment of the liberties which are a vital part of their heritage."

Traces Trend of 'Isms.

The league traced the trend toward centralized authority in New Deal regimentation of industry and agriculture and curtailment of individual liberties as characteristic of Communism, Fascism, and Nazilsm. The league declared that an autocratic burocracy infringes upon, if it does not destroy, traditional American liberties, and if this country is to pattern itself on those which have rejected democracy, it means the abandonment of our form of government.

In appraising the results of economic planning in Russia, the league found that the Soviet Union has not succeeded in obtaining a standard of living for its people comparable to that of western Europe or the United States. While unemployment has been done away with because the nation has complete control of economic life, the standard of living has continued to decline even below its previous level, the league said.

"The mistakes of 'planning' have been quite as costly in Russia as have 'uncontroled' events in other countries," the league continued. "In spite of a program for an increase in agricultural production, there are thoroughly authenticated reports that each year a large number of people die of starvation.

Explodes Cure-All Myth.

"Altogether, economic planning in Russia offers little which could be helpful in the solution of American problems. The Russian experiment demonstrates that a planned economy is not an automatic panacea."

The league said planning in Italy has not averted the hardships of the depression as wages and salaries have gone down. A false showing of prosperity has been made through the government's manipulation of prices and suppression of information as to unemployment, destitution and bankruptcies.

Similarly the league holds economic planning in Germany has failed to prove superior to methods tested under the American constitutional system. Here also, it was said, dictatorship has hidden the true facts from the rest of the world.

Cabaret Girl Slashes Own Wrist in Suicide Attempt

GATES REPORTS ON PROGRESS AT PENNSYLVANIA U.

Part of Faculty Pay Cut Will Be Restored.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Thomas S. Gates, who quit the business of finance for the business of higher education, has given University of Pennsylvania alumni an indication that he has piloted alma mater safely through to better times.

He told all on the university pay roll that part of their 1933 salary cuts are being restored. That means all but President Gates. He's not on the pay roll.

It is little more than five years now since Thomas S. Gates stepped out as a partner in J. P. Morgan & Co., and Drexel & Co., an associated Philadelphia concern, to become president of Pennsylvania. In that transfer of interests there was the stipulation on his part that he receive no compensation.

What actuated him was work for the sheer pleasure of it.

Affords Him Opportunity.

The presidency of the university, he says, was an opportunity to fulfill "a heartfelt desire to devote some years of my life to public service."

The salaries of others have been on his mind from the beginning. His views first appeared with his institution of the "Gates plan" of athletics at Penn.

The salaries and prominence of coaches, he believed, were not necessarily too high, but were out of proportion to the compensation given to those high in academic work. A university's business, he said, is primarily education.

Coaches on Faculty.

As part of the Gates plan, which attracted nation-wide attention, he established the department of physical education and gave it a dean. Coaches of athletic teams were made members of the faculty and were employed on a full time basis with compensation not in excess of the salary scale provided for all faculty members.

Simultaneously with the recent announcement of pay cut restorations, President Gates announced plans for a campaign to raise at least $10,000,000 for the university by 1940 when it will celebrate its two hundredth anniversary.

Plan Slashes Number of Aldermen in Half.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 15.—[Special.]—The La Guardia charter revision commission has agreed on the basic outlines of a revised New York City government and on many details of the proposed charter as well.

Outstanding among the conclusions at which the commission has arrived, it became known today, are the following:

Elect Some Aldermen at Large.

The board of aldermen to be reduced to less than half its present size, with the members to be elected by proportional representation, or, if the people refuse to approve proportional representation, to be elected from the state senate districts, with additional members at large for the boroughs whose population merits greater representation.

Creation of the post of assistant mayor, appointed by the mayor, to whom the mayor could delegate virtually all routine duties, including that of sitting in the board of estimate.

Curtailment of the powers of the controler and creation of a city treasurer who would handle all city funds.

Creation of a central department of public works.

Creation of a powerful city planning commission, whose rulings could be upset only by more than a majority vote in the board of estimate.

On the subject of city finances the charter commission is prepared to make three sweeping recommendations. The principal of these calls for the ending of all future corporate stock issues and the substitution of serial bonds for all future funded indebtedness. In that recommendation the commission is following the lead of the state government, which has been bound to that policy since 1926.

Provision for a capital outlay budget, with a prohibition against capital expenditures not included in that budget, also is to be proposed.

Adhere to Pay-as-You-Go Policy.

Drastic adherence to the pay-as-you-go policy is another point. This policy, adopted years ago, has since been "amended to death," in the opinion of the charter commission members.

The commission, after much deliberation, decided to leave the board of estimate as constituted at present with the mayor, controler, president of the board of aldermen or council, and the five borough presidents. The powers of the sinking fund commission, which would be abolished, would be turned over to the board.

The aldermen, with certain restrictions, would have the power they now have to pass local laws and ordinances.

PRINCE OF WALES TO ACCEPT RULE WHEN TIME COMES

Gives Up Hope to Evade King's Duties.

LONDON, Dec. 15. — (AP) — Hard working David Windsor, Britain's 17th prince of Wales, may dream of retiring from the exhausting duties of an heir apparent to his ranch in the Canadian Rockies—and often he has hinted at such a desire.

"My brother Bertie," he has said, referring to the duke of York, would make a better king than I." Moreover, in the privacy of the royal family he often addresses the duchess of york as "Queen Elizabeth."

But today, in contrast to the often expressed fears of a few years ago, there is little doubt that when his aging father dies and London rings with the tidings "the king is dead, long live the king," he will accept the throne.

The sudden death of King George's younger sister, 67 year old Princess Victoria, on Dec. 3, sharply emphasized the present monarch's advancing years and stirred new discussion on the dapper, shy, smiling bachelor prince who is destined to become King Edward VIII, inheriting the allegiance of 400,000,000 subjects.

Still the Popular Prince.

Now 41, Albert Edward Christian George Andrew Patrick David, prince of Wales, earl of Chester, duke of Cornwall, duke of Rothesay, earl of Carrick, baron of Renfrew, lord of the Isles and great steward of Scotland, and high steward of Windsor—to give him his full complement of titles—is still the golden haired "prince charming" who captured the heart of America on his first visit there in 1919.

Perennially boyish in appearance, he seemingly has changed but little in those sixteen years since Broadway showered ticker tape and gave him a wild ovation never since equaled except by that other shy young idol, Charles Lindbergh.

Yet the years are leaving their inevitable traces, and it was only a few months ago that the British public, with something of a shock, heard that their prince had been forced to wear reading glasses—large horn rimmed spectacles which give him an air of sudden grave maturity. The necessity arose from eye strain from poring over hundreds of documents and reports which are part of his daily work.

All Work and No Pay.

With his father's increasing age and diminishing capacity to handle the myriad tasks of statecraft, more and more the prince is performing the sovereign duties, and it is no exaggeration when he is called "the hardest working man in England." He will be ready to take over the reins the minute he ascends the throne.

Oddly enough, for all his work, the prince receives not a penny of income from the state; he is, in fact, the only "unsalaried" member of the royal family.

Long ago, King Edward III [1327-1377] took care that the heir to the throne should have an independent income by creating the duchy of Cornwall, embracing a great part of southeast England, for his eldest son and allocating several wealthy estates for its upkeep.

These estates, situated in London, Devonshire, Cornwall and South Wales, yield the prince an estimated income of about a million dollars a year—and he is, moreover, exempt from paying income tax, such as his younger brothers have to pay.

SAFETY ROADS.

Progressive St. Louis is to build a three mile stretch of safety road, a type of elevated highway involving continuous grade separation as well as a mile of depressed boulevard. In Chicago we are still talking about modern roadways and listening to this or that argument involving untried nostrums while the massacre continues on our streets.

Superhighways of this type furnish one hundred per cent protection for pedestrians and almost one hundred per cent protection to motorists from other motorists because they entirely eliminate the dangerous left turn. It might further be added that if they are well built they furnish a very high degree of protection to the motorist from himself, as he cannot run into trees, lighting equipment, and other roadside obstructions.

Will Chicago continue to retain its preëminent position in the middle west if it continues to offer hazardous streets to the motorist? Will those in power never realize that Chicago's citizens are holding them directly responsible for a murderous condition, the solution of which lies dormant on their desks?

ON TIPTOE TO THE MOON.

Mr. Morgenthau announced last week that he is no longer buying silver in the London market but he is still using taxpayers' money to buy silver at more than it is worth. The change is of no consequence. The price of silver, as long as the treasury is bidding, will continue to be the treasury's bid, whether it is presented in Singapore, Shanghai, Montreal, or London. The markets of the world are all tied together and will quickly readjust themselves to the treasury's new practice.

In the end the treasury must cease buying. When it does the price of silver will drop precipitately to its natural level and Mr. Morgenthau or his successor can then calculate the taxpayers' loss on silver inventory. As the government has already bought three-quarters of a billion ounces of silver the loss can now be reckoned in eight or nine figures and before we are done the total may go much higher.

Mr. Morgenthau has never said that he regards the silver purchase policy as monstrous, absurd, and self-defeating, but he must know that it is. He repeatedly refers to the law under which he is acting. It is a vicious law and it ought to be repealed at once before any further damage is done. It could be repealed at a special session of congress, called for the purpose. If Mr. Roosevelt does not wish to call such a session Mr. Morgenthau might dramatize the issue by resigning. He could not then be suspected of being a willing participant in an effort to touch the moon by standing on tiptoe.

AFTER THE MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY.

The closing scenes in the movie, "The Mutiny on the Bounty," may leave the spectator with the notion that as a consequence of the revolt the conditions of life in the British fleet were greatly improved. This is very far from the fact. If any betterment resulted it was negligible. It was so negligible that in 1797, eight years after Bligh's return, a far more terrible revolt swept through the entire British fleet. The mutiny of 1797 took place at a particularly critical period in the Napoleonic wars, when Britain was in real peril of invasion. It was only then that reforms were instituted.

The record is of interest to Americans as offering one more illustration of the almost incredible stupidity of the governing burocracy in England under George III. That stupidity had already cost the British empire its most valuable colonial possessions. Only the French failure to take advantage of their opportunity now saved England from invasion.

The story, as perhaps might be expected, has been little stressed in English histories. It is pleasanter, on the whole, to forget such incidents. Those who have seen the movie may be interested by the fact that the rebels of 1797 made no demand for the abolition of flogging and other brutal forms of capital punishment. Flogging, in fact, was not abolished in the British navy until almost a century later, in 1879. What the seamen did demand, and what they did get as a consequence of the wholesale mutiny, was better wages, better and more food, better care of the sick aboard ship, the privilege of shore leave when they could be spared from duty in port, and pay for wounded men.

When the revolt broke out pay in the British navy was what it had been under Cromwell, although wages ashore and the cost of living had much more than doubled in the intervening century and a quarter. The low wages were particularly galling to men who had been drafted into the service and whose dependents were thereby reduced to starvation. To make matters worse, ships' pursers, with the connivance of such men as Bligh, enriched themselves by skimping the crews' rations. The men's life was hard at best, but it was made much harder than it need have been by burocratic stupidity. Respectful complaints were ignored at the very moment when the loyalty of the fleet was of maximum importance to the empire. Many officers, including Nelson, felt the justice of the complaints, but their advice was not sought and when volunteered was not heeded.

Bligh's rôle in the great revolt was a minor one. The crew of his ship, the Director, sent him ashore but did not harm him. When the revolt terminated he returned to the service, rose to the rank of admiral, and lived to provoke one more mutiny. In 1805 he was sent to govern New South Wales. In due time his men rose against him. He was held prisoner until 1810. That seems to have concluded his public career. He died in bed in England in 1817.

MASARYK.

The determination of President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia to resign is one more evidence of the man's unselfish devotion to his country. At 86 he knows that his term of usefulness is nearing its end. Even should his life be prolonged for many years, his vigor of mind and body may fail at any moment, leaving his government without a strong and cohesive leadership. To avoid the national disorganization and factional intrigue which might result he has chosen to resign his office. He desires the succession to take place under circumstances as favorable as possible to national stability.

President Masaryk is no Washington but, like Washington, he has dominated his country primarily through the force of his character. His motives have never been in question. Czechoslovakia exists today largely because of his efforts to win independence during the great war and at the subsequent peace conferences. Under Masaryk his country has survived as a democracy in the midst of big and little dictatorships. He is the only head of a central or eastern European state, save Switzerland, who can resign without endangering the peace of his country.

That is no mean achievement, particularly when it is remembered that Czechoslovakia has faced many of the problems which have reduced the citizens of other central European powers to slavery. Dr. Masaryk's country is strategically difficult to defend. It contains strong minority groups, including large numbers of Germans who look to Hitler for rescue, and large numbers of Slovaks and Hungarians, some of whom also have their own national aspirations. There is a religious problem and an urban-peasant conflict. Despite all these difficulties, aggravated as they were by the economic crisis, President Masaryk has held his country together. He has made mistakes, but they are negligible beside his achievement. He has released the energies of an intelligent and industrious people with results which are properly the envy of all neighboring lands.

Americans look upon this record with particular satisfaction because of the fact that Dr. Masaryk lived in this country for many years and has never failed to acknowledge his debt to America. Dr. Masaryk brought to his high office something which he had not learned in Europe. Thanks to Masaryk's influence, a certain tolerance, a certain magnanimity, a certain sense of human worth have frequently characterized the acts of the Czechoslovakian government and not of the governments of the surrounding countries. Dr. Masaryk's belief in free institutions and his faith in the common man may not have been born here, but they were greatly strengthened by his experiences in America.

Editorial of the Day

THE GHOST OF THE CORN-HOG VOTE.

[Unionist and Public Forum, Sioux City, Ia.]

On our way to Estherville last Thursday, Oct. 31, we stopped to see a friend in High Lake township, Emmet county. We discovered how the corn-hog referendum was conducted in one township—the corn-hog committeemen visited each farmer of the township and labored with him to vote for the corn-hog program. The committeeman handed the farmer a ballot, and where possible got him to mark it for the corn-hog program. If the farmer was unwilling to do so, the committeeman visited him again. If the farmer still held out he received a third visit. This third visit in some cases was on Friday night before the election on Saturday. One or more farmers still declined to mark the ballot for the program, saying he would vote at the polling place on Saturday. Then the committeeman informed the farmer that he would not have a chance to vote at the polls, as all the farmers had been seen and the polls would not be opened for voting. A few farmers visited the polling place on Saturday and found the place closed, so had no chance to vote. The election officials merely took out of their pockets the votes they had secured in their canvass of the township from house to house and counted them, and announced the result without the trouble of going to the polling place.

If any person desires to question these facts let him call on us for the proof and we will furnish it.

How many townships of Iowa conducted the election that way? In this paper on Oct. 17 we told how this "referendum" was being conducted.

We are not discussing here how we think a farmer should have voted on the continuance of the corn-hog program. What we are saying is that:

Any man who permits himself to be a party to such a pretended referendum has chloroformed his American conscience to the point where it is dead or dying, and has pawned the birthright of his children even to the third and fourth generations. He may not have awakened yet to what he has done. In this case one may charitably exclaim, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Now, if any person in Iowa feels that what we say about this farce is unjust, let him have the manhood to challenge our opinion openly. If this subject will not bear open and frank discussion it is because we are cowards, not daring to face publicly an issue that goes to the very heart of American honor and decency.

Any intelligent man knows that Tammany in New York City or the corrupt bosses of Philadelphia in their palmiest days never dared to do anything so raw as that.

Now, fellow citizens, you know where to find us. We expect you to accept what we have said and face your own conscience with it, or challenge it like men, openly and honorably before the public in the open light of day, and make us take it back.

TOO BAD.

Mr. Higgins—Rotten beer, ain't it, Joe?

Mr. Grimes [eyeing his pint gloomily]—It is that, Jim; I'll be bloomin' glad when I've supped it.—London Express.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

WE MIGHT READ any day now that Great Britain further demands that King Haile Selassie proceed to Rome and act in the future as doorman in front of Mr. Mussolini's house and that he is to wash the automobiles three times a week and take care of the furnaces. Also that Mrs. Selassie shall do the cooking for the Mussolinis and the dry ironing. The Selassies will not receive any pay for their services, but they can have every other Thursday afternoon off. It is believed in highly informed circles that King Selassie and the missus are not going to like the arrangement.

‡

THE EARLY PART of the campaign for the presidency next year is right now in the lashing stage. And, oh, terrible is the lashings. The headlines tell us of the lashings of the leaders of the G. O. P. of all the New Deal individuals and work and the Democrats from Mr. Roosevelt down are giving daily lashings to the critics of the administration. Everybody just lashes and lashes. The air is full of the cracking of blacksnake whips as their cruel blows fall upon their victims. It's awful for a tender-hearted person to read about all this lashing. But let us cheer up, for soon the time will come when both the Democrats and Republicans will "point with pride." And it will be much pleasanter when our statesmen "point with pride" than when they give vent to their angry passions and lash and lash and lash.

‡

(For L. J.)

Yours was the song that my heart first heard ringing
Out of the stillness that stays round a child.
I listened and waited; you came to me singing,
Lyric and music half tender, half wild.

Clear was your voice; now the lilt of it bearing
Force of the wind—and now soft as a sigh,
Glad and so proud my young heart to be sharing
All of the tenderness raised in your cry.

"Youth songs are changelings," I said when no pleading
Could keep you beside me. "New strains before long
Will be ringing around me." They are . . . and unheeding,
My heart keeps on singing its very first song.

WILLIAM LYON PHELPS said in his lecture at the Blackstone an evening or two ago: "I like murder mysteries where somebody is bumped off in every chapter. I don't like mysteries where there's a murder in the first chapter—and we have to read 300 dull pages to learn who's guilty." But if we had murder in every chapter would Mr. Phelps soon want two murders in every chapter? And after that began to bore him he would want the murders to double with each chapter so that there would be several thousand foully slain before the end of the book. Authors would have to turn into regular machine gun bandits and slay and slay and slay. And how bloodthirsty the readers would become! No; it's all wrong. William Lyon Phelps and all those who demand more murders in their mystery stories should be compelled for the next six years to read nothing but seed catalogues, cook books, telephone directories, and "How to Know the Wild Flowers," with an occasional exciting dash at the Elsie Dinsmore series and "Little Rollo and His Papa."

THE ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE still refrains from passing that drivers' license bill. Well, if they won't do that, why can't they at least enact a law that a man who is a hundred and fifty years old, deaf, dumb, and blind and without arms or legs and who has been dead five years should not drive an automobile in Illinois in excess of seventy miles an hour? It would not cut down the number of automobile accidents very much, but it might scare some of our best demon drivers into thinking that if they didn't mend their ways some time the law would be after 'em.

RABBIT FEVER.

When papa goes a-hunting for a rabbit skin to "wrap baby bunting in" he will need to be careful else he may acquire rabbit fever. Contrary to many of our ideas concerning the healthful character of life in the open, certain wild animals are more susceptible to infection than are their domestic cousins. In fact, one of the new diseases that has been wreaking havoc among wild rabbits and rodents has been known definitly only since 1911. It was discovered in that year by G. W. McCoy of the United States public health service in Tulare county, Cal., and was named tularemia. The causative organism is found in the blood of many species of wild life—rabbits, squirrels, mice, quail, sage hens, opossums, etc., and is fairly widespread, having been reported from 46 states and the District of Columbia. The disease is conveyed from rabbit to rabbit through the bites of wood ticks or other insects such as lice and flies.

Shortly after its discovery reports of the disease in human beings began to appear first in California, then Arizona, then Utah, etc. Infection occurs in hunters or those who are engaged in skinning or dressing wild rabbits. Blood from diseased animals may come into contact with a human host and the organism find lodgment in a slight break in the skin, about a hangnail, or in a cut or scratch, or—as sometimes occurs—in the eyes.

The disease requires from one to ten days to develop, the average period varying from three to four days. There is usually a severe headache with chills, pains in various parts of the body, vomiting, and a high fever. At the site of infection ulceration develops and the adjacent lymph glands frequently become inflamed and may develop into abscesses. Many persons will mistake the condition for influenza as the beginning symptoms are quite similar. However, as soon as ulceration appears, followed by the typical gland enlargements, the diagnosis is suggestive, if not positive. The fever may continue for two to three weeks longer, although for a brief period each day the temperature may be normal.

One of the most characteristic features of tularemia is the slow recovery. The strength of the patient has been sapped to exhaustion and it seems as though convalescence would never come.

Treatment consists of rest in bed as long as the fever continues. If lymph glands undergo abscess formation it may be necessary to open and drain them, great care being taken during the dressing not to soil the hands. Applications of hot salt solution appear to be helpful.

Of course, tularemia existed prior to 1911, and some of us may recall hearing old hunters tell about epidemics among rabbits that were observed in certain seasons. They would relate that at such times many rabbits would be unable to run rapidly and on capture would show obvious signs of illness.

Rabbit hunters and all those handling wild game should not permit the bare hands to come in contact with blood from the animals. In other words, in dressing rabbits gloves should be worn to protect the hands thoroughly. If rabbits are used for food the meat must be well cooked so that no red areas are visible. It is estimated that at least 1 per cent of all wild rabbits are infected with tularemia and any animal that appears sickly or that can be run down by the hunter should not be used for food. The germ of tularemia can be killed by freezing or by thorough cooking.

Those who are inclined to seek a fresh rabbit's foot as a luck piece would do well to change their desires to something "horsey," such as a horse chestnut, a horseshoe, or a horsehair ring.

SEARCH FOR WORMS.

Mrs. D. S. writes: I grind my teeth day and night, I have constant itching of the nose and rectum, I am nervous and my tongue is always coated. Thinking I had worms I stopped eating candy, grape jelly, etc., but I still have these symptoms. Do you think I need a worm medicine?

REPLY.

Grinding of the teeth is probably due to nervous irritability. There may be a slight infection of the mucous membrane of the nose, causing itching, or it may be due to nervousness. Coated tongue is usually accounted for by an unclean mouth, although the digestive tract and the kidneys should be investigated. The popular belief that grinding the teeth means worms is not borne out by the facts. Ask your physician to make a careful stool examination. If worms are found he will advise you as to the proper remedy.

No worms—no worm medicine!

TOOTH DECAY IN AFRICAN NATIVES.

In a recent article covering a study of a considerable number of South African natives, P. Orange and others report that the incidence of tooth decay is relatively lower in the primitive Bantu tribes than after the tribesmen have had a closer contact with Europeans working on farms, in mines, or in towns. The authors do not agree with the data issued from English research laboratories that the use of cereals is attended with appreciable increase in dental caries, although they note that machine ground meal gives rise to a slight increase of tooth decay over the Kafir grain cracked in the native manner and boiled whole. They conclude that a regular consumption of sour milk [lactic acid milk] is associated with a diminished incidence of dental disease.

SORE HEELS.

H. S. H. writes: My heels have been bothering me for some time. When I first get up in the morning I can hardly step on them. After I walk around the soreness leaves. If it were spurs wouldn't pain be present when I am on my feet?

REPLY.

Spurs may cause pain on walking. I would suggest an X-ray film of the heels. This will definitly prove or disprove the presence of spurs. Chilblains should be thought of, particularly at this time of year. Arthritis must also be considered. Spurs often signify this condition.

NATURALIZATION LAWS.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[Friend of the People.]—1. Is it true that the naturalization law has changed and that a man serving during the war does not have to take out a first paper? I took out a first paper a year ago. Can I get my second papers now or do I have to wait until the two years are up? 2. Where shall I go to apply for second papers? M. A.

1. If the inquirer served in the military or naval service of the United States between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918, and was honorably discharged therefrom he may file a petition for citizenship at any time prior to May 25, 1937, without a declaration of intention [first paper]. A certificate of arrival is required only if he arrived in the United States subsequent to March 3, 1924. He must prove that immediately preceding the date of filing his petition he has resided continuously in the United States for at least two years, in pursuance of a legal admission for permanent residence, and that during the five years immediately preceding the filing of his petition he has behaved as a person of good moral character. No fee is required except $2.50 for a certificate of arrival, if one is necessary.

2. An application blank may be obtained at room 718, new postoffice building.

EMPLOYMENT FEES.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My friend and I are registered nurses of eastern states. Two weeks ago we came to Chicago and saw an advertisment in the paper reading: "Nurses: at once. Apply X Y Z agency." We registered with this agency, paying a fee of $4 each. Twenty-four hours after registering we told the registrar we wished to cancel registration because of a position we got through a relative. During that twenty-four hours we received no services whatsoever from the registry. When we asked for a part refund of our $4 we were rudely told, "O, don't bother us," followed by a slam of the telephone receiver. Have we any right to part of the refund? E. J. H.

You are entitled to a refund less any expenses they may have incurred in looking up your references. If they persist in their refusal report to the Department of Labor, Division of Private Employment Agencies, 205 West Wacker drive.

MORTGAGE EXTENSIONS.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What effect does not recording an extension of a mortgage have on the property involved? S. G. M.

A new limitation provision as to mortgages says that "Extension agreements shall be . . . recorded" and "any such extension agreement hereafter recorded . . . shall continue the lien . . . for a period of ten years" from the extension due date. This implies that if the extension is not recorded the lien will be shorter lived, but unfortunately the point is not expressly covered. Presumably the purpose of the statute is to protect purchasers of the real estate in relying on the ten year limitation act, unless an extension shows of record. The safe course for laymen is to record all current extensions.

CONTRACT ENFORCIBLE.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1929 I sold my office and practice in a small suburb and signed an agreement to refrain from practicing in that village indefinitly. Since that time I have been unable to make a living in my new location. Under the circumstances would it be possible for me to go back to this village to practice? What could the other party do in that event? I have a permanent license to practice in Illinois. Can he restrain or sue me?

J. B. G.

We see no reason why your contract should not be valid and enforcible against you. We rely on authorities cited in 13 C. J. 469.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY VICENTE ALBANO PACIS.

[Editor of the Philippines Herald.]

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA.—Filipinos today seem most worried about the national economic system in connection with their forthcoming complete independence from the United States.

The Philippines face the prospect of losing their present American market by the establishment of tarif walls where none now exists. The independence law provides for gradually ascending American tarifs and upon establishment of the republic for payment of the full American duty.

This prospect is a nightmare to Filipinos. The entire economic system now is based upon free access to the American market. Closing of that market means the islands must find other foreign markets or produce only for home consumption. It is considered doubtful, however, in view of the comparatively higher cost of production in the Philippines, whether insular products such as sugar, coconut oil and cordage could meet competition in the open world market.

For this reason the Filipinos have pinned all their hope on a conference for economic adjustments promised by President Roosevelt to be held soon at Washington. They are preparing at this parley to appeal to American self-interest by talking "reciprocity."

The Philippine market, however, is not so attractive to the United States as it might be. The balance of a yearly trade of $150,000,000 is invariably much in favor of the islands. The flood of cheap Japanese goods available also presents an obstacle.

Should the commonwealth become hard pressed economically it may resort to nationalization of industry. If industries which now contribute the bulk of taxes are to be crippled by the loss of their American markets the government has indicated it may take direct control of all profitable business, of which the most tempting is gold mining, in order to raise the necessary revenue.

President Quezon has already announced that "the government is definitly going into business." He insists, however, that this will be kept out of politics. The government, he says, will simply exercise control in the already existing National Development company, through which he and his economic advisers will engage in business.

The Philippine government for two decades has controled a bank, sugar centrals, a railroad, a cement factory, a hotel, and other enterprises. Earlier it lost tremendously in the bank and in a coal mine. At present it is making considerable profits in the bank, the hotel, the railroad and the cement factory. Quezon believes that the experiments thus far have been successful and justify further ones.

LAND ECONOMICS FOR CARTOONISTS.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—May I suggest the endowment of a school of land economics for TRIBUNE cartoonists?

First, Dick Tracy, supersleuth, almost fell into the clutches of Basil Bowman, a mortgage man who quoted rates ranging from 6 per cent on up. But Tracy got wise and shopped around, and Basil eventually had to loan him the money at 4 per cent, a rate which no other mortgage banker in Chicago could match.

Now Andy Gump, that brilliant plunger in Flexible Glass, has been guilty of a serious mental lapse. Faced with a situation calling for sound legal advice, he has failed to consult his eminent counselor. Had he done so when he defaulted his loan yesterday the lawyer would have told him not to worry about being dispossessed, that he could not be put out until the property had been brought to foreclosure sale, and that under no circumstances could such a sale be held in less than 60 days, and probably not within 90 days. Furthermore, his property would have to be sold for less than the amount of the mortgage if the cruel banker were to have any chance of tossing Andy's furniture and wife into the street.

The lawyer, no doubt, would have advised him of numerous other helpful loopholes made possible by our antiquated Illinois foreclosure laws, which were enacted way back in 1878, and which our legislators have never had the courage to modernize. He would have told Andy that these laws, designed to give the defaulting farmer of 1878 a chance to plant and harvest his crops, have never been adjusted to our modern industrial life.

But all is not yet lost! Andy can still consult counsel and be advised that he probably has a pretty good suit against his banker for dispossessing him without court authority. In fact, such a suit might prove so profitable that Andy would recoup his entire loss in Flexible Glass and come out with a profit on the deal.

On the other hand, if you can obtain the name of the attorney who represented Andy's banker and got possession of Andy's house within a single day, there should be several hundred other perplexed mortgage holders in town that would be interested in hiring him and finding out just how it can be done.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 11.—I was in Chicago Monday and Tuesday of this week attending the farm bureau meeting.

One of the most peculiar things which came to my attention is that the restaurants in Chicago have raised the price of milk to an exorbitant amount. For instance, it used to be possible in almost any restaurant to purchase a glass of milk for five cents. Quite a number of them now charge ten cents a glass, which is forty cents a quart.

At places where the proletariat eat and where food is supposed to be low priced, I found that the smallest bottle of milk, containing one-third of a quart, sells for ten cents. This is at the rate of thirty cents a quart, and the farmers here are only getting four cents a quart for it. This seems to me to be a very unreasonable price for milk. It will certainly curtail the consumption of milk, a very valuable food, and also be injurious to the farmers, inasmuch as the public will not drink milk if they have to pay such a high price for it.

R. T. GLASSCO,
County Agent.

BOUQUET FOR THE FORCE.

Manhattan, Ill., Dec. 11.—No visitor or delegate to the American Farm bureau convention held Monday in Chicago could fail to be impressed with the neatly and splendidly attired police corps stationed in and around the stockyards amphitheater to guard the President. With such an array of youthful, stalwart and intelligent law enforcers it would seem that any visitor at any time would have little to fear. If actions and appearances can be relied upon, certainly Chicago criminals and gangsters are going to meet with plenty of trouble in the future.

YEAR OF JUBILEE.

Caldwell, Idaho, Dec. 7.—For as much as many have taken in hand to bridge this depression that has become a deep, dark, dank gulf that no man can pass, it seems good to me also to hand over some of my bridge timbers.

Let men stand up in all the churches next Sunday and in all the clubs and lodges and associations next Thursday night and say: "Yonder over there sits Mr. Smith. He owes me $500 and is not able to pay it and does not know when he ever will be; therefore right here and now I forgive him his debt." Let another man stand up and say: "There sits Mr. Brown. He owes me $90 and is not able to pay it. I hereby forgive him his debt." Let another man stand up and say: "Over yonder sits Mr. Jones. He owes me $3 and is not able to pay it. I here and now forgive him his debt." Let these forgivers not say a word about having some work for these men to do. When a judge wants to add extra punishment to his hard sentence on a criminal he adds, "at hard labor."

Let Uncle Sam forgive 5 billion dollars of the debt the states owe him, provided the states show that they have forgiven individuals a like sum. Let the states forgive individuals who show that they have forgiven other individuals. Let this process go on down the line ad infinitum. At this rate, by the third Sunday, a big white angel will approach the throne of God and shout, "The world is catching your idea!"

Let editors forgive the ancient subscribers; doctors forgive the old debts they will never collect; undertakers, hospitals, public institutions and everybody else join in this until 1936 becomes our real jubilee year. Let rich men catch the swing and make the poor fellows ashamed by the tremendous sums they forgive.

NOTARY'S FEES.

Georgetown, Ill., Dec. 10.—"Law limits fee of notary public to not more than 25 cents," it says on the back of the auto license application blank.

Obviously this public notice casts a reflection upon the honesty of notaries public. Possibly some of them would charge 50 cents or maybe six bits. Suppose they did have a sliding scale to suit every purse, do not doctors, surgeons and lawyers charge ad libitum not to say ad valorem? If they may do so without state molestation, why limit the notaries' fee to less than the cost of a pound of hog jowl?

An attorney and a notary public may each do same amount of work. The former can buy a new car with his fee while the latter can buy only a peck of potatoes and two slices of bacon.

On this same application blank we read these words: "Fee for certificates of title, 50 cents." That's 100 per cent more than the notary gets and no more work is required. It is my opinion that the notarial fee should be uniformly $1, deductible from the auto license fee.

OSCAR RAISOR.

GOVERNORS COMPARED.

Gillette, Wyo., Dec. 10.—After hearing a news item over the radio about Gov. Herring, telling how much better he had handled affairs in Iowa than Gov. Landon had in Kansas, especially in reducing taxes, I dug down in the safe and got out my tax receipts as I was naturally interested, having to pay taxes on a quarter section in each state.

This was what I found: Iowa taxes for 1935 on a quarter section were $155.30 and Kansas taxes for the same amount of land were $79.40. While I was looking I dug a little deeper and went back to the year 1925 and found on the same land in Iowa I paid $207 while in Kansas the taxes were $113.20.

I read a few days ago about ex-Senator Brookhart saying that Gov. Landon was a friend of the Standard Oil company. If so give us a few more governors like him and less Brookharts.

J. H. KIRBY.

DEAD CERTAINTY.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—If killing every 3d or 4th hog and destroying every 3d or 4th row of cotton helped the price, and we know it did, as we are paying it, why not kill every 4th or 5th person and that will then raise the price of labor, which then could afford the price of pork and other foodstuffs and also keep the undertaker busy? How do you think this plan would work?

FRANCE INSISTS HER NAVY MUST EQUAL GERMANS'

Seeks Only Short Term Agreement.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—France and Italy were keyed tonight for a more active part in the second week of the London naval conference.

They left the preliminaries to the three big sea powers—Great Britain, the United States, and Japan—but both want the conference to get down quickly to limitation of individual tonnages and sizes of guns, chiefly to lighten the burden on their taxpayers.

Both nations, too, are convinced of the futility of discussion of modification or prolongation of the Washington treaty ratios for battle fleets, which relegated France to a position of inferiority.

The French delegates are believed desirous of parity both with Germany in the North Sea and Italy in the Mediterranean.

Fear German Arming.

The conclusion last June of the Anglo-German naval agreement, permitting a German fleet 35 per cent of Great Britain's, has caused France to declare she will not bind herself "except for a short period."

France considers the reborn navy of Germany one of the greatest threats to her security. France actually faces what is for her the grave possibility of Germany outclassing her in capital ships.

France now has nine battleships, is building three, and another has been projected. Germany has five and is constructing three more. Two of these, of 26,000 tons and laid down in 1934, are said to be of more formidable design than her redoubtable "pocket battleships."

Similarly, while France laid down one 35,000 ton warship in 1935 and has another projected, these will not be ready for several years and are designed chiefly to offset Italy's two 35,000 ton vessels.

Wants More Submarines.

France also is unwilling to yield her position as the world's greatest submarine power, because she has 20,000 miles of coastline and great maritime trade routes to defend.

She opposes Japan's plans for upsetting the present balance of power in the Pacific because of her colonial commitments in Indo-China and elsewhere in the east.

Italy, conference observers believed, is not likely to be over-conciliatory in view of existing league of nations sanctions, which Dino Grandi, chief of the Fascist delegation, has hinted would be taken into account at the conference.

It has been rumored that Italy intends to urge internationalization of Gibraltar, but an Italian spokesman said today the delegation is without instructions to go this far.

NAVY MAY HELP ENFORCE PACT, GUARD WHALES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—(AP)—The coast guard and the navy may soon get new jobs—tracking down whalers who violate a new international treaty.

This pact, solemnly concluded at Geneva with all the flourish of staid diplomacy, is intended to conserve the dwindling supply of giant sea mammals, now almost a rarity in American coastal waters.

Congress will be asked to approve a bill introduced by Senator Norbeck [Rep., S. D.] giving the coast guard and navy authority to do this new police work.

Customs officers would be empowered to seize whaling ships used in taking or killing "right" whales which include the North cape, Greenland, southern right, Pacific right, and southern pigmy right whales. This species is the more valuable for commercial purposes.

No policing will be necessary in Atlantic waters. Whaling, what little there is left, has shifted across the continent to the Pacific coast from New England where in the middle of the nineteenth century huge fortunes were made and lost.

HOLD TWO IN CLOTHES THEFT.

Thomas Patterson, 19 years old, 6016 South Winchester avenue, and John Janson, 18, of 6240 South Wood street, were held yesterday after Henry Fuchs, 26, of 1537 West 51st street, identified them as the men who stole his hat, gloves, overcoat, and suit coat.

HITLER REFUSES TO REDUCE ARMS WHILE WAR RAGES

Cool to British Plan for Limitation.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The British government was informed today by Sir Eric Phipps, its ambassador to Berlin, that Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany expects little progress from Anglo-German arms discussions while the Italo-Ethiopian war continues.

Since Sir Samuel Hoare, the British foreign secretary, indicated to commons recently that this government feels about the same way, no further developments of a major character are anticipated for some time.

It was understood Great Britain wanted to make sure how Hitler felt on the question and to see what he would say. Hence Phipps was instructed to discuss the trend of events with Der Fuehrer.

The ambassador will continue to keep in close touch with Hitler and will be ready for future discussions when the time arrives, it was indicated.

Hitler Cool to Plan.

BERLIN, Dec. 15.—(AP)—A lack of enthusiasm characterized reaction in government circles today to Great Britain's move for limiting European armaments.

Spokesmen recalled Reichsfuehrer Hitler had outlined his own program last spring and had asserted he was ready to join in an aviation pact. But surprise was manifested that the question of limitation should be raised now, with war raging in Africa.

Usually well informed persons linked the visit of Sir Eric Phipps, the British ambassador, to Hitler Friday with the Franco-British proposals for Ethiopian peace which the Berlin press has called a "peace bomb."

Germans Voice Suspicions.

"As seen in Berlin," these persons said, "it appeared to be an attempt to make the public believe that the embarrassing Ethiopian proposals were part of a big European peace move. The proposals might more easily be accepted if they were but one section of a larger plan."

Competent officials privately expressed the belief France and Great Britain had been attempting to "use" Germany for internal purposes by talking about arms pacts which no one expected to conclude.

The Phipps-Hitler conference was officially announced yesterday as having dealt with the question of arms limitation and the possibility of an air pact among signatories of the Locarno treaty.

French Point to British Pact.

PARIS, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's recent conversation on arms limitation with the British ambassador was seen in diplomatic circles here today as a result of the Franco-British solidarity reached by Premier Laval and Sir Samuel Hoare a week ago.

Conceding the idea of a tri-power agreement between France, Great Britain, and Germany was "too nebulous" for comment, officials nevertheless indicated the current agreement between the British and the French "covers more than the Italo-Ethiopian war."

FATE OF SPAIN IN BALANCE AS VOTE FIGHT OPENS

Monarchists Engage in Early Campaign.

MADRID, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The political future of the young Spanish republic hung in the balance tonight as political parties of all shades, from Monarchists to Socialists, opened their campaigns for general elections probably late in February.

The new center government of Manuel Portela Valladares, who took over the premiership yesterday after Spain had been without a cabinet for six days, will hold an important council tomorrow.

The ministers will discuss a date for reconvening congress, when a decree of dissolution probably will be read and the time for the new elections fixed.

Gil Robles Takes Lead.

Rightists and leftists, each expressing the utmost confidence of electoral victory, began their respective drives for national support.

Attention was centered on José Maria Gil Robles, former minister of war and leader of the powerful Ceda, which draws its support from conservative and Catholic ranks.

Gil Robles is expected to issue an election manifesto shortly. He has promised to "make clear what ought to be made clear, accusing whomever ought to be accused, and forming a wide national front against revolution and its accomplices."

President Criticized.

Some leftist circles thought Gil Robles might even swing toward the Monarchist side, but so far he has restricted himself to declaring his united front would be "with Monarchists, with Republicans and with all producing mercantile and industrial classes."

The most bitter rightist criticism was directed at President Niceto Alcala Zamora because he refused to summon Gil Robles to form a government, even though his party is the largest in congress.

FAILING SIGHT

Don't risk blindness by neglecting a venereal infection, but consult a good doctor or come to Chicago's largest venereal disease clinic!

MANY a comparatively young man is risking the loss of his sight and his livelihood by neglecting syphilis. For failing vision is an all-too-common consequence of this most destructive of all infections.

In fact, loss of sight is a possible complication in almost half of all cases of neglected syphilis! That is because syphilis attacks the nervous system in nearly 50% of "late" cases, and any person with untreated nerve syphilis is liable to have failing vision.

Hence it is evident that syphilis is an extremely dangerous thing to trifle with. For, if it does not lead to blindness, it may result in heart disease, deafness, apoplexy, paralysis or even insanity! Gonorrhea, too, should never be neglected, for it may be the cause of a disastrous eye infection, sterility, crippling rheumatism, or serious prostate, bladder and other troubles.

Avoid trouble by acting now!

Fortunately, modern medical science can usually prevent failing sight and other dread complications of venereal infections, or can benefit them if they already exist. But extreme care must be taken to avoid quack or self treatment, and to immediately consult a capable physician such as your family doctor or one of those on the staff of the Public Health Institute.

The Public Health Institute offers the superior facilities of the largest venereal disease clinic in the world. Its friendly men and women physicians are thoroughly experienced in the very latest methods of treating venereal infections and their various consequences, and are licensed by the State Board of Medical Examiners. In addition, the Institute maintains a completely-equipped eye department as an aid to the proper diagnosis and treatment of ocular complications.

To date, the Public Health Institute has helped more than 225,000 Chicagoans to escape the disability or premature death so often caused by neglected venereal infections. Its Trustees sincerely believe that it is impossible to obtain better treatment for these diseases! Each patient is promptly treated in a private room, and for the sake of even greater privacy is known by number instead of by name.

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute specializes in venereal infections at remarkably low fees. A complete examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including urinalysis and Wassermann blood test, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less!

Hence there is no longer any need for a venereal disease sufferer to fear failing vision and other serious consequences. For not only can virtually all such complications be prevented or arrested, but the very best of treatment is now available at nominal cost. Even persons temporarily pressed for funds can arrange to be treated. NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those operated for personal gain!

What's New in Chicago Shops? Rhea Seeger Tells You Every Day

Answer Shop Offers a Gift for Any Man

Articles for Those Who Have Everything.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The answer shop tucked away in an upper floor of a swanky men's shop is going strong! It really lives up to the rather intriguing name. Shopworn and weary shoppers with the last of the most difficult of Christmas shopping to do, that of supplying Christmas gifts to a man who already has a tie, muffler or pet lounging slippers, with something new and different and smartly masculine, are crowding this answer shop till the walls bulge.

In it you will find all kinds of truly distinctive plunder for men. You'll find the newest of imported lether loot, stunning English lether desk clock with gold metal face and hands, lether cuff links for sports clothes and tweeds, lether encased and thonged strap watches, and some exceptionally good looking trick clip cuff-links in golden brown wood that snap into place. Also very unique evening cuff links of prystal that match the newest watches imbedded in this prystal. Look for the smoked prystal watch fitted with a dark gray cord.

The bar fittings are better than ever, from the goofy gloves of cotton hung with tiny bells that jingle merrily while the cocktails are being shaken to opaque Tom and Jerry setups. New gadgets for the care of bottled goods are the zippered bags in large and small sizes that are made to keep your treasure secure. These bottle guards are padded and have an extra flap inside to cuddle around the top of the bottle.

Snooty souls who are not satisfied with anything that is mixed, will be delighted with the new small individual cocktail shakers, with a clever sliding top arrangement that keeps a record of what the mixture is. The shakers hold just enough for two. These can be purchased separately or in sets of four on a square standard holder affair.

Robes and blankets are another grand display. Coolish gentlemen who like to pamper themselves, will bless you forever if you send such a princely gift—nice red lether lounging chairs, super-comfortable models will keep men anchored indefinitly by your fireside.

All kinds of new lamps including a lot of nautical models, are especially interesting with all the clever new shades and unusual base ideas. Gadgets for cars, thermometers, stormoguides, compasses, desk sets, and supplies for the bachelor with an apartment are still other ideas.

New golf clubs, by themselves, or all of them assembled in a new bag, traveling backgammon games, with a good carrying handle and strap, badminton games, all the gambling games, and the last known supply of monopoly, a game that practically sells itself. Luggage, featherweight and otherwise, come in a bewildering assortment ready for the most fastidious globe trotter.

Hammered aluminum trays, mugs, cigaret and cigar humidors and ash trays are stunning new arrivals. Brass desk sets and gadgets; trick picnic kits and a whiz of a small kit for mixing cocktails—the squeezer, strainer, jigger measure, swizzle stick and everything needed all collected in one wicket hamper.

All this and plenty of other plunder can be found and wrapped for the troublesome men on your list. Shop in the answer shop before the stuff is all gone.

Fashion photograph: Two piece daytime outfit ready for the southbound luggage. The slim skirt is of forest green soft wool, the clever short sleeved blouse is of printed knitted material in cherry red and white design. The fabric belt of cherry red is contrasted with a white strap and buckle. Available in a Chicago shop.

Dance Recitalists New to City Give Goodman Program

Joseph von Hahn and Martha de Negre, dance recitalists new to Chicago, introduced themselves in the Goodman theater last night, offering a program typical of modern trends in minor choreography. Foyer gossip identified them as dancers of recent professional experience in Mexico City, but Von Hahn is said to have studied his leaps and bounds in the dance studios of Chicago.

The program of eleven numbers was divided into three sections, called Classic Moods, Character Moods and Tragic Moods. The high points were "An Escapade," a comic study of peasant or peon character with a dash of cake-walk in its patterns danced to music by Debussy; a quiet tango to music by Albeniz, and Von Hahn's solo, "Impressions of Goya," to music by Wilckens. In the latter, grotesque masks were used. C. C.

Mark Woman's Symphony's 10th Birthday

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A woman's place is on the stage. So say the seventy-odd matrons and misses who compose the Woman's Symphony orchestra, which yesterday completed ten years of work in support of this belief. The birthday celebration took the form of an afternoon concert at the Studebaker and a reception in the orchestra's Fine Arts building offices in the evening.

Early in the program the Debussy Fantaisie for piano and orchestra received its first Chicago performance—and possibly its last. The work was coldly received and the audience's applause sounded perfunctory. A concerto must have great musical importance or genuine brilliancy to give it a place in the regular répertoire, and a first hearing of the Debussy disclosed neither quality.

Ralph Lawton, who played the solo instrument, returned to the stage in the latter part of the program for the Ravel concerto. The music is much more vital and did greater justice to his accomplishments as pianist. Lawton's rich and lovely and well controlled tone in the adagio movement combined with the highly sensitive support of Ebba Sundstrom and her orchestra to make what was perhaps the musical high point of the afternoon.

Ralph Lawton is a native of this country who has made quite a name for himself in Europe. His was the first American name to find a place on the official program of the Salzburg festival. Sensuous beauty of tone is only one of the qualities that have given him such position; another is fine head work, with its resulting ability to play strange tricks with rhythm without getting too dangerously near the boundaries of good musical practice.

The first and last movements of the Ravel concerto make heavy demands on the musicianship of soloist and orchestra both. It is very modern music, with emphasis on line rather than tone. Its melodies are eccentric, and not so thoroughly French as you would expect.

The gay "Yellow Princess" overture of Saint-Saëns, a dull symphonic poem by Franck, and the friendly "Coppelia" music of Delibes made up the remainder of the afternoon's offerings.

The program was all French, and was naturally not so interesting as one planned without any such artificial restrictions. This shaft is not directed against French art, but against the practice of allowing any supposedly unifying idea to come between program makers and their one responsibility—that of making as good a program as their resources will allow.

Midwest Girls Lead Parade in Film Beauty Poll

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 15.—Either the midwest girls are prettiest or they travel the most, for a poll of 98 chorus girls on the salary list at Warner studio shows 48 from the midwest area, of which Chicago is the metropolitan center. Twenty-three girls came from southern states and only 13 from the Pacific coast.

New Orleans was represented by more young beauties than any other one city—three. They are: Belle Richard, Lois Lindsay and Florence D'Aquin.

Erik Rhodes, actor, and Harry Carey, whose film work has ranged from acting, writing and directing, to providing squads of Indian actors for film westerns, are demonstrating the "spirit of Christmas" in an unusual way. Erik and Harry are making transcriptions of popular films—boiled down, of course—for recordings to be run off for the blind, who will "hear" movies instead of seeing them. Carey, who conceived the idea, and Erik plan to furnish the records to organizations which will distribute them gratis.

Afraid to cable her husband, Samuel Joseph, in London, that she can't keep her date to spend Christmas with him, Binnie Barnes is still hoping against hope that a reshuffle of her film schedule can be completed. She was supposed to sail from New York Saturday, but is still playing the Russian girl in "Sutter's Gold," and the rôle may keep her here until the holidays are almost over. Joseph doesn't know the bad news yet.

'Stella Parish' Is Melodrama of Distinction

Kay Francis, Ian Hunter Have Chief Roles.

Produced by First National.
Directed by Mervyn LeRoy.
Story by John Monk Saunders.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Here you have melodrama—and pretty sensational melodrama at that. But the finely restrained acting of the principals and the sensible direction of Mervyn LeRoy have invested the piece with distinction, and you will, I think, agree that "I Found Stella Parish" proves a satisfactory vehicle for Kay Francis and her brilliant leading man, Ian Hunter.

Stella Parish is an actress with an unsavory past. She disappears immediately following the tremendously successful London opening of her new play, "This Brief Hour."

Keith Lockridge, a star newspaper reporter who had gone to the aftertheater party given for Stella by the theater manager, sets out to solve the mystery of her disappearance for his paper. He catches up with her at the docks, and is aboard the vessel on which she, her child, and her child's nurse take passage for America.

And then the scene shifts to New York. Here Keith learns certain truths. He sets wheels in motion which he later tries vainly to stop. . . . The rest of the picture is concerned with the tragic consequences of his regretted activities and his frantic efforts to make amends.

Do the efforts succeed? The picture at the Chicago will answer that question for you. . . .

Kay Francis is always beautiful, and as Stella Parish I found her appealing. You may not care for several soppy sequences in which the heroine becomes involved, but Miss Francis carries on bravely and does all a clever actress could do to put them over.

Ian Hunter [Ah, there's an actor!] does a grand job as Lockridge. Sybil Jason, the little English girl who's considered such a "find," gives a sensitive interpretation of Gloria Parish. She is splendid in her emotional scenes—not as good when she essays comedy. Jessie Ralph as her nurse and Paul Lukas as the manager turn out smooth characterizations.

Hollywood is showing us how perfectly a person may be disguised—without using much of a disguise. In "In Person" Ginger Rogers gave a demonstration of simple identity concealment and in "I Found Stella Parish" Kay Francis makes Stella into an old maid auntie by just a little addition and subtraction.

We live and get pointers!

See you tomorrow!

CHRISTMAS tree note. This year Christmas trees are being sold with roots and soil in a Christmas basket that serves as a tree stand. These are Norway spruce, ranging from three feet to six feet tall, which have been grown in nearby nurseries, instead of having been cut in the north woods. No doubt you can plant them outdoors afterwards, or put them in a tub for the entrance hall.

AN English girl passing through town on a visit told, over tea with friends, a tale that caught our fancy that concerned a visit made by King Edward VII. to a shoot on the estate of an Indian prince whose name we have forgotten. The young woman who told the story, daughter of a lord high admiral of the British navy, had been talking about a visit made by Queen Mary to her parents' home, and how one of the maids is still thrilled over the fact that she fixed a hot water bottle to put in the queen's motor. There were other tales that concerned British royalty. Here's the story of the shoot attended by King Edward VII.: It seems that at the first stand a flock of golden pheasants flew overhead, at which no one shot. At the second stand a flock of silver pheasants were released, and at the third a flock of singing birds that sang "God Save the King" as they flew overhead. After that the shoot proper began.

Mrs. Howard Linn's Guests Surprised at News.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE guests who were invited by Mrs. Howard Linn to come to high tea yesterday at Pointed Roofs, the Linns' home in Lake Bluff, were told it was a party for the former Edith Cummings and her husband, Curtis Munson, but when they arrived they found it really was two other persons for whom the party was being given, Miss Eleanor Weston Holden and Winfield Scott Linn. And this morning Miss Holden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hale Holden, formally are announcing the engagement and that the wedding will take place this coming Friday. It will be a very quiet ceremony with just the immediate families present at the Holden residence in Astor street with a few friends invited to a small reception that will follow the service.

The announcement of the engagement came as something of a surprise to Miss Holden's and Mr. Linn's friends, but it wasn't a complete one, for it had been suspected as long ago as last summer that Miss Holden and Mr. Linn were engaged. Miss Holden is one of society's most popular young women, and one of its most stunning. Tall and slender, she has a delightful sense of humor, and almost a genius for comedy. Her costumes and makeup at fancy dress parties and comedy skits always have been the "hit" of the affairs. She is talented as a painter and is generous in giving her services as a painter of backgrounds, etc., for charity affairs and garden club shows, but she does not confine her work to those things, for she has a studio and works very seriously at her art.

Friend of Mrs. Munson Ever Since Childhood.

She and Mrs. Munson have been friends since childhood, and before the latter was married they often vacationed together, sometimes hunting in Virginia or again wintering in Jamaica, where they had a house one season. Miss Holden made her debut in 1916 and during the war was active in war work, especially in that of the Fatherless Children of France, of which Mrs. Walter S. Brewster was the Chicago head.

Mr. Linn, a cousin of Howard Linn's, was married in 1923 to Miss Elise French Rice of New York and they were divorced two years ago. He and his sister, Miss Katharyne Linn, live in Fullerton parkway and have a summer home in St. Charles, one of the oldest and loveliest houses in the Fox river valley. It is the old Linn homestead and is one of the show places of that part of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Munson failed to arrive in time for the party. They are expected to arrive today from their home in Alberta to spend the holidays with Mrs. Munson's mother, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings.

The Briar Pipe

By Stuart Palmer

SYNOPSIS.

Violet Feverel is killed, apparently by having been thrown from her horse, Siwash. She was taking an early morning's ride in New York's Central park. Miss Hildegarde Withers, teacher and student of criminology, helps her friend, Inspector Piper, investigate. They suspect murder. Miss Withers finds a briar pipe on the spot where the dead girl had lain. Mrs. Maude Thwaite and her husband, Rufus, are owners of the stable where Siwash is kept and Latigo Wells, manager. Maude Thwaite desired to own Siwash. At Violet Feverel's apartment Miss Withers and Piper overtake Violet's half-sister, Barbara Foley, about to elope with Eddie Fry, Violet's boy friend and a race track gambler. Violet was divorced from Don Gregg and had had him put in alimony jail. Thomas, who with his wife, Mattie, are old retainers of Don's father, Pat Gregg, comes in search of Violet. Old Mr. Gregg thinks he is going to die. Thomas hints at foul play. Don Gregg had been released from alimony jail on a fake writ before his wife's death, though he has an alibi and is not held. The medical examiner's autopsy reveals Violet Feverel was killed by a BB bullet which hit her throat. An expert tells Miss Withers that the "murder" pipe's owner had false teeth. She buys apples with which she hopes to find who among the suspects has false teeth.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

RIFLE PRACTICE.

The pouting expression was gone from the pale and untanned face of Mr. Don Gregg, though his eyes were still a little flitting, a little evasive.

"I had to know if you were suspecting Barbara," he admitted evenly. "I—I just had to know."

"Really?" Miss Withers sniffed. "Well, young man, I don't see how it concerns you. But I don't mind telling you that as far as I am concerned I'm willing to give Barbara Foley a clean bill of health in this murder investigtaion. But what difference would it make to you?"

"She didn't do it," said Gregg breathlessly. "And if you did seem about to arrest her I was going . . . well, I intended . . ."

"Not a confession, surely?" Miss Withers prompted.

"No, of course not." He was suddenly a thousand miles away. "I don't suppose there's any use my asking you whom you do suspect?"

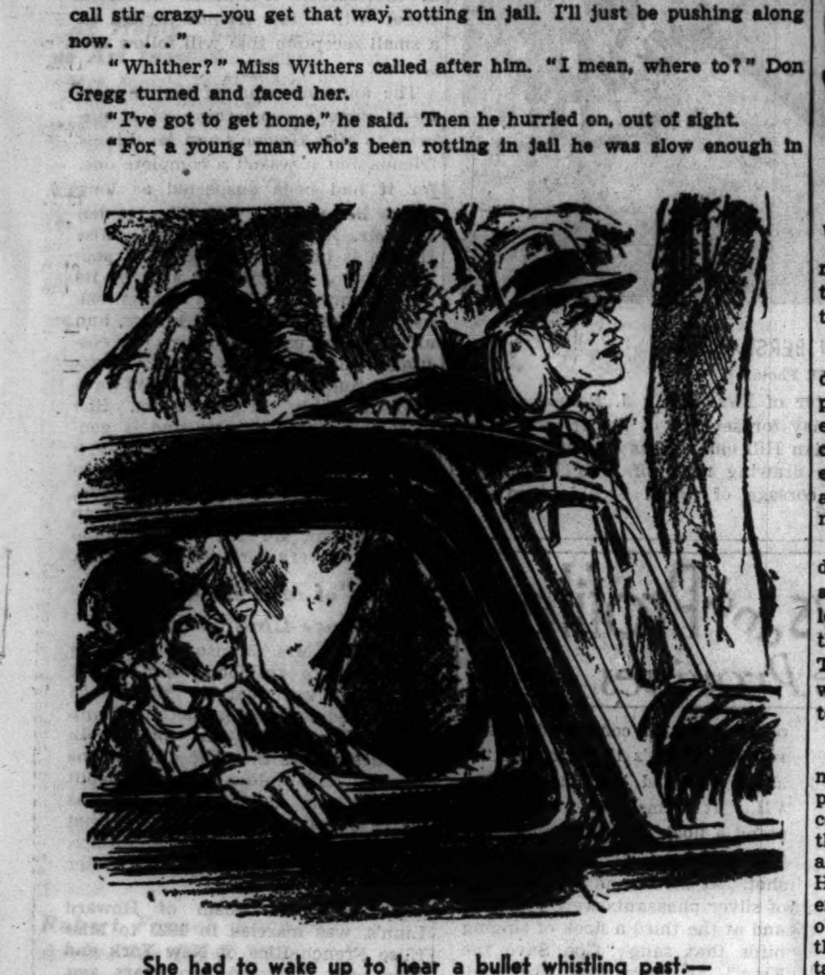
Miss Withers surprised him. "You, of course!" she said brightly.

Don Gregg turned two shades lighter than his prison pallor. "Did Thomas tell . . . ?" His voice trailed away to nothing. "Don't pay any attention to what I've been saying," he told her bitterly. "I'm what they call stir crazy—you get that way, rotting in jail. I'll just be pushing along now. . . ."

"Whither?" Miss Withers called after him. "I mean, where to?" Don Gregg turned and faced her.

"I've got to get home," he said. Then he hurried on, out of sight.

"For a young man who's been rotting in jail he was slow enough in deciding to seek the shelter of the family estate," Miss Withers told the inspector half an hour later. "Could there be a reason?"



She had to wake up to hear a bullet whistling past.—

They were sharing limp drug store sandwiches and a can of coffee across one corner of his official desk at Centre street.

Piper took a large bite of bacon, lettuce, and tomato. "Who cares about him?" he mouthed crumbily.

Miss Withers pushed aside her coffee with an air of decision. "Oscar, the police aren't getting anywhere with this case!"

The inspector grinned. "You'll be glad to know that two of 'em are. Greeley and Shay, the boys who stepped out of line and arrested you along with young Gregg yesterday." He picked up two green slips of paper from his desk. "Here's orders jerking the boys off radio car duty and bouncing them out to walk beats among the vacant lots of Brooklyn."

Miss Withers rose up in her wrath. "Countermand that order, Oscar Piper, or I'll take my doll rags and go straight home! Those men were doing what they imagined was their duty."

"Okay," said the inspector with a shrug. "It's your dignity, not mine." He took up the two green slips of paper and tore them across the middle. "You're still on the case, Hildegarde."

"I am and I haven't begun to fight!" she said belligerently. "You know, Oscar, it strikes me that it would be a good approach to this case if we cracked down on the most obvious liar."

"Hm! You mean Don Gregg?"

She shook her head. "I was thinking of the hen tracks up in the country."

For a moment the inspector stared at her. "Abe Thomas, eh? You know, I was intending to go up there and quiz him. I've been wondering about that guy all along. . . ."

He stuffed a handful of cigars into his pocket. "Come along if you like, Hildegarde. Yes, sir, it's a great idea and I'm glad I had it. We'll solve this case or bust!"

Enthusiasm fired by what the inspector fondly imagined to be his own idea, they rode slowly northward through the busy afternoon trafic of Manhattan. Miss Withers slept all the way up to the Gregg farm, a pleasant and much needed nap.

It was too bad, as she admitted later, that she had to wake up to hear the alarming music of a bullet whistling past her ears.

The car had come to a stop in the driveway of the Gregg home and the inspector was frozen half inside and half on the running board. His mouth was unbecomingly open.

Miss Withers blinked at him. "Oscar, what was that?"

"Keep your head down or you'll find out!" he returned, drawing himself somewhat under cover. "Sounds like a declaration of war to me," he added.

"Sharpshooting, eh?" Miss Withers peered toward the gingerbread house in an interested fashion. "But I didn't hear a shot!"

She heard one now—a sharp spat like the clapping of hands. Again she heard a sharp z-z-zing in the air overhead. This time the aim of the invisible marksman was either worse or infinitely better, for a fat sparrow who had been quarreling noisily with his fellows in the clear air overhead now did a perfect double inside loop and then shot away toward the distant thickets, leaving only a couple of silvery feathers to float lazily down upon the inspector and Miss Withers.

"Wasn't shooting at us, after all," the inspector admitted.

"He had the range closely enough to make me feel uncomfortable," the school teacher returned. "Come on—in the immortal words of the poet, let us storm their redoubt!" She led the way toward the porch of the gingerbread house and pressed a resolute finger on the bell.

"Somehow," she observed during the ensuing silence, "somehow, Oscar Piper, I have a feeling we are getting warmer."

Mrs. Mattie Thomas opened the door and greeted them as long lost friends. But behind the vast smiles her eyes glinted warily.

"We want to see——" began the inspector, and stopped. "Say, Hildegarde, who do we want to see?"

"Every one in the household," Miss Withers prompted.

"You can't see Mr. Gregg," the woman told them. "He's a lot better, but he can't see anybody. He even sent out the nurse to say he couldn't see his own flesh and blood."

Miss Withers' eyebrows went up. "Then—his son is here?"

Evidently Mrs. Thomas had made a mistake. "Who? Why — no, ma'am. . . ." She managed another smile. "He was—but he's gone. . . ."

He hadn't gone far. Don Gregg was coming down the staircase, holding a rusty air rifle in his hand.

"Hello," he said. "Owe you an apology, I suppose. But I didn't think anybody would be in the driveway." He held out the little gun. "Stumbled on this in my closet when I got home a little while ago—haven't seen it for years. I was practicing shooting out of my bedroom window. . . ."

"You're quite a good shot with that thing?" Miss Withers hinted.

Young Gregg smiled. "I used to be—but it took two shots to get that sparrow. When I was a kid Thomas would have given me the raspberry if I didn't do it first crack."

"O—so the efficient Mr. Thomas taught you to shoot?" Miss Withers went on.

Psychologists Slowly Outline Mental Pattern

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.

The training of children for a useful life or a happy one, or both, takes a place of high importance as social existence becomes more complex. The psychologists are slowly forming the key to an understanding of mental qualities of people, which must be known to make persons fit into conditions as they are today and as they are going to be tomorrow.

WILLIAM T. TILDEN.

A school teacher was puzzled about discipline in handling children. One psychologist stated that a child needed peremptory instruction in what could and could not be done. Another emphasized freedom from dictation and only a lovingly guiding hand as means for character education.

Probably the truth is that children differ as much as grown-ups. One is amenable to suggestions and easily led, and another is insensible to anything but the threatened punishment. The features would tell which is which in relation to an individual teacher.

William T. Tilden, tennis star, like most men excelling in sport, has well protected eyes, good eyebrows, and covering eyelids. This seems to give that feeling of freedom of movement against opposition—which is courage. His jaws are narrow, denoting a tendency to use strategy in overcoming obstacles, an inclination to seek the most vulnerable point before attacking.

The nose is of even width down to the tip in front view, which denotes interest in things and motion rather than in people. The very strong mouth construction [long upper and lower lips and heavy muscles at the corners] gives a powerful drive to his desire for gain over an adversary. His broad chin in front view signifies endurance of purpose and action.

Buying Your Child a Book? Here Are Some Suggestions

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Before you purchase gift books for a child have a good "browse" in a bookstore, book department, or library. Look over the many new books that are usually grouped according to age, which grouping is not of course a hard and fast rule but just a general guide. Choose from among the beautiful, the intimate, the funny, the fantastic, and the everyday in picture and story, with these points in mind:

Take your child's interests into consideration.

Take your child's temperament into consideration.

Avoid like a pest the grotesque or fearsome for the young child.

Choose a book that will not be exhausted by one reading, but which will have permanent value.

And don't, if you can help it, let the holiday pass without either beginning your little child's library, or adding to it.

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

We have lists for all ages, containing old favorites that will never die and some that are new. A stamped, self-addressed envelope and a mention of your child's age should accompany your request.

Mothers Will Get Free Trial of Vicks Colds-Control Aids

Every Home in Chicago to Receive Package—With Home Guide to Fewer and Shorter Colds, and Proof from Clinic Tests

OVER 14,000 IN TESTS

Show How School Absences Caused by Colds Were Cut Almost Half (40.20%)

Mothers in this vicinity will welcome the free trial packages of Vicks Colds-Control Aids now being distributed to every home here.

These free packages not only bring you Vicks Va-tro-nol, unique aid in preventing colds, and Vicks VapoRub, modern external method of treating colds—but they also bring all the information you need to follow Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds.

5,118 Children in School Clinics

The Plan was tested in three series of clinics conducted over a period of three years, among 14,702 people. These tests indicate gratifying results in fewer, shorter and milder colds for those following Vicks Plan. Especially interesting to mothers are the results from the clinics among 5,118 school children. Children following Vicks Plan lost 40.20% fewer days from school on account of colds.

Naturally, results varied with different groups. Some groups made even higher records—savings up to 75.30%. The saving of 40.20% was the average for all groups following Vicks Plan.

Prove It In Your Family

In your own family group, too, individual results from Vicks Plan may vary. But the high average of its success in these clinics suggests its very real possibilities for your household—possibilities that only your thorough trial of the Plan can disclose.

That's why this trial package with details of the Plan, and samples of Vicks Aids to Better Control of Colds, is being sent to your home. Test the samples—follow the Plan—then watch results!

Mrs. Howard Linn's Guests Surprised at News.

Bay. Mr. O'Connell and the former Mrs. Thompson had been planning a very quiet wedding, but they had not told any of their friends just when it would take place, so although their engagement had been announced last summer by the parents of the bride-to-be, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cary of Greenbush, Wis., the news of their wedding came as a surprise.

Mr. O'Connell and his bride are away on a brief wedding trip, and they will be at home Wednesday in a house at 2416 North 3d street, Sheboygan, which is a gift from Dr. Cary to his daughter. It is situated on the lake front and Mrs. O'Connell has been rearranging it, one reason for the delay in her marriage.

Dr. and Mrs. Cary were not present at their daughter's wedding, for they already are installed in their Florida home for the winter. They passed through Chicago Thanksgiving week-end on their way south, and had a brief visit with his brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Cary.

"At Home" and Preview at Art Institute Today.

Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, president of the Antiquarian society of the Art institute, and Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett will head the receiving line at the society's "at home" today which will serve as a preview of Miss Bartlett's collection of antique arts and crafts of Mexico, and the opening of the English galleries. Mrs. James Ward Thorne is arranging a Mexican tea table. She will receive with Mrs. Patterson and Miss Bartlett and members of the board of the society will take turns pouring tea.

Many of those who will throng the Art institute between 3 and 5 o'clock will go either earlier or later to the home of Mrs. Mortimer J. Adler at 20 Cedar street to see an exhibition of the work of the Royal Institute Paolo Colosimo for the blind of Naples, Italy, which will be on view between 2 and 7 o'clock. In spite of the rather sonorous titles connected with the exhibition it should be a lovely one, for woven linens, silks, and brocades are the blind students' handicraft. Some of the work was done by Americans, exchange students at the institution. Among those who will be present at the exhibit this afternoon will be Mrs. Robert E. Wood, Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson, Mrs. Ernest Byfield, Mrs. Royden J. Keith, Mrs. Gerhardt F. Meyne, Mrs. Henry Vanzwoll, Mrs. Frederick P. Boynton, Mrs. Frank Mulford, and Mrs. Edmund Mosser.

Robert French Evanses Arrive for Brief Visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert French Evans arrived in Chicago yesterday from Hingham, Mass., to spend at least four days with the former Jane Rowe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Rowe. They will be widely entertained during their brief stay in Chicago. Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Mitchell and the Marshall G. Sampsells gave a joint party for Mr. and Mrs. Evans, and tomorrow afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Roger D. Shaw, who are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul Noyes, will entertain at cocktails. Other parties will be arranged as soon as Mrs. Evans' friends have a chance to speak to her.

Wilton B. Martin, who has achieved quite a distinction in the Dixon clan for his ability to portray Santa Claus, will take the part of St. Nick at the annual Christmas party the Drake hotel will give for children a week from this afternoon. The party will be given in the fireplace lobby, where a huge Christmas tree will twinkle with lights. Little Betty Fleming, the Benjamin H. Marshalls' elder granddaughter, will greet Santa Claus there, and it is possible that little Virginia Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Simmons, the Marshalls' other granddaughter, also will be present. The Rush Butlers' grandchildren will be there, and so will the children of the John Mac Donalds and of Dr. and Mrs. Peter Krupp, among others.

Carl Kelly's to Give Dinner for Daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kelly of Winnetka are giving a dinner next Saturday at the Drake hotel for their debutante daughters, Miss Marjorie and Miss Patricia Kelly. Afterward the young people will go to the ball Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Smith are giving at the Blackstone to present their daughter, Miss Joan Smith. Miss Marjorie will arrive at home on Thursday from the University of California and Miss Patricia will arrive the next day from Sarah Lawrence college. They will be presented formally on New Year's day at a tea at home.

Walter J. Cummings Jr. is at home from Yale for the Christmas holidays, having returned early for a reading period. Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cummings are giving a dinner for their son, Edward, a student at the Boys' Latin school, on Dec. 26 in their apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive, which will be followed by a dancing party in the home on Astor street of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Curtis, at which Mrs. Curtis' son, Teddy Russell, will be the youthful host. Arthur Cummings, who is in the senior class at the Boys' Latin, will enter college next fall, presumably Yale.

Mrs. Clifton Utley will lead the last of a series of study groups on "American Neutrality Legislation" at 3:30 o'clock today at the home of Mrs. Arthur Bissell, 1209 Astor street. The department of government and international coöperation of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters is sponsoring the series.

Mrs. Charles E. Rollins and Mrs. E. M. Hadley will entertain board members of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children at luncheon today at the Woman's Athletic club. Mrs. Richard Hackett will preside at the regular monthly meeting preceding the luncheon.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FORMAL GOWN.

Metal lame was used to make this lovely evening gown patterned today. In addition to this lovely dress there is a smart little tailored jacket that will be just the thing for dinner wear. Its glamorous beauty makes it perfect for almost anything after 5 o'clock such as cocktail hour, bridge, theater, etc. Velvet and satin are other lovely suggestions for materials.

The pattern, No. 2940, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material for evening length dress, with 2¾ yards of 39 inch material for the jacket.

Dutch Roses.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This quaint little quilt block from Pennsylvania has all the charm and freshness typical of the people in the vicinity in which the pattern first was designed. The figured flowers may be of the same shade or of a contrasting or harmonizing color scheme. "Dutch Roses" has more of the vivid colors of delft blue, orange, green and red, than blocks designed on the New England coast or in Virginia. There are 28 plain and 28 applique blocks in an entire coverlet.

For a limited period Nancy Cabot offers 10 quilt patterns of her own choice at a price of 10 cents for the group (12 cents by mail). Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street, or Tribune Tower.

Spaghetti Is Ideal Food on Shopping Days

Famous Yuletide Cakes and Cookies," a booklet containing recipes for fruit cakes and foreign Christmas cookies, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

If you're saving your strength for Christmas shopping these days we hope you're spaghetti-minded. Nothing is quite so comforting as a can of spaghetti and tomato sauce [yessum, that's the kind we mean; not any intricate sauce recipes in this column today] on the pantry shelf. No matter what other oddments your refrigerator discloses at that eleventh hour search, you're pretty sure to be able to turn out a creditable one dish dinner and in double quick time. Thus:

There's the old trick of browning a little chopped, cooked ham with green pepper and onion in a little butter and serving it in a ring around a hot platterful of the spaghetti, for one. Or you can make it a three ring meal, with first spaghetti, then a ring of mixed pickles, and, on the outside, the hot meat mixture. Leftover cooked meat of almost any kind may be used, or you may open up a tin of dried beef for the purpose.

Cooked leftover vegetables, along with some freshly sautéd onion and, perhaps, a little diced celery, may be combined with the canned spaghetti for a vegetarian casserole. Or try your own combination of the minute with a polka dotted top made with browned slices of frankfurter.

The best bet we know of at this minute is, however, a spaghetti soufflé. To make it melt a fourth cup of butter and blend it with an equal amount of flour. Gradually stir in a cup of tomato juice and stir over a low heat until the mixture is thickened. Remove from the heat and add one 21 ounce can of cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce and the slightly beaten yolks of three eggs. Season to taste and add three tablespoons of shredded green pepper if desired. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs, turn into a large buttered casserole, and bake in a moderate oven about 40 minutes. Serve with a hot tomato sauce, to which chopped leftover meat has been added.

Another dish the family will applaud is spaghetti-filled ham rolls. Better stop on the way home and buy some thinly sliced cold boiled ham for this one, unless you're mighty sure of your refrigerator contents. Each slice is spread thinly with mustard, and then a generous spoonful of hot spaghetti in tomato sauce placed on each. Roll the slices, secure with several wood pins, and lay in a buttered baking dish. Any remaining spaghetti may be heaped in one side of the pan. Heat under the broiler until the ham looks a trifle frizzly and serve at once.

According to CULBERTSON

WHEN TO TAKE-OUT IN NO TRUMP.

A bid of one no trump over partner's opening suit bid, when the next opponent has passed, is known as a negative response. It denies sufficient strength for a raise or a take-out in a suit.

A take-out of one no trump should be made when holding one honor trick with stoppers in two suits; or one-plus to two-plus honor tricks however distributed.

Since a one no trump response shows weakness, the opening hand probably will pass unless holding well over the minimum strength required for his opening suit one bid.

Partner bid one heart. Bid one no trump with:

♠Q 8 3 ♥6 5 ♦9 6 4 2 ♣K 8 6 3
♠7 4 ♥4 3 2 ♦10 8 5 4 2 ♣A Q 8

With greater strength, but still lacking the proper type of hand for a suit take-out or a raise, bid two no trump. The two no trump take-out is forcing to game and shows 2½ to 3½ honor tricks, with at least two cards of partner's suit.

Blocking the Defenders.

Playing no trump contracts, it often is wise to refuse to win the first lead of opponents' suit, in the hope that communication between the defenders may be cut off. But the exceptions to this rule are equally important. Each hand must be judged on its individual merits.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 No trump*	Pass	2 No trump	Pass
3 No trump [final bid]

*One heart would have been a better opening bid.

When West opened the six of spades and East played the king, the declarer gave the situation serious thought. It was obvious that his contract could not be made without clearing the heart suit, and when the opponents should take the lead, how many spade tricks could they run? The answer lay in the opening lead of the spade six. Assuming that it was not from a short suit—and there was no reason to think it was—the leader could not have had a sequence of Q J 10, or he would have led the top. East, then, is marked with another honor after the king and, if the suit is divided 5 and 2, it will be blocked.

On this reasoning declarer won the first trick and led a heart. As he had foreseen, the spade suit was effectually blocked and the three no trump contract was made with ease. Note that a holdup at the first trick would have been fatal.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: If South plays the contract and West has 100 honors, does West get credit for the honors?

Answer: Yes.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

There is a trim little Christmas package in the shops now that will probably interest you as a little gift for yourself. In it is a large jar of a tremendously popular cream for keeping the nails in shape and a sturdy little nail brush, which also helps the nail cause along.

The cream is one of those magic preparations which does almost everything but file your nails for you. It eliminates the necessity of cutting the cuticle, since it removes dead cuticle without so much as a snip of the scissors. It takes away the loose cuticle, too, doing away with scraping; keeps the cuticle soft and pliable and serves as a perfectly grand bleach, not only for the nails themselves but for the finger tips. What's more, they do say that when you use this cream before applying polish the enamel will gleam like everything.

This pair won't set you back much, either. It's a bargain.

And let us remind you again of the "wind and weather" lotion that saved the skin of so many of you last winter. For the tender skinned this should come under the head of winter necessities; it will prevent chapping of the face, the hands, and the legs, but if you've been so unfortunate as to let disaster sneak up on you it will be amazingly effective as a cure.

This same lotion can be used as a winter powder base on face and neck, if you like. A generous bottle of it costs a little but lasts a long time.

Right Method Lengthens Life of Nail Polish

Adviser Tells Technique of Application.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Many complaints are heard about nail polishes wearing badly and peeling off before they should.

Investigation proves two things. First, that some of the women who complain expect the polish to last much longer than should be expected. That they don't take into consideration the kind of work they do with their hands, such as thrusting them often into hot water during household duties. Secondly, the comment having increased since the advent of the oil manicure, there is tieup with its use. Or, we should say, to the misuse of the oil manicure. Oil is beneficial to the cuticle and nail, of course, because it prevents the cuticle from hardening and the nails from growing brittle.

But the cuticle oil or cream should be used after the polish has been applied and is dry. People who apply the cuticle oil first wipe it off before using polish and it is next to impossible to remove all the oil from the nail. A thin film remains under the polish, preventing it from adhering to the surface of the nail. The result is that the polish wears badly and peels early. The simple remedy is to wait until the polish has been applied and is dry before using cuticle oil or cream. The oil serves its purpose just as well at this time, because the cuticle absorbs it, yet it cannot affect the lasting power of the polish.

◆

Another way to lengthen the life of a coat of polish is to put on two layers. Use a thin coat of colorless or light polish for the first layer. After this has dried apply a heavier coat of bright polish over it. This gives the lacker more body and prevents it from chipping.

Referees—Ag Smith and Eusebe Daigneault.

New York, N. Y., Dec. 15.—(AP)—The New York Americans celebrated the tenth anniversary of the birth of professional hocky in New York by shutting out the Chicago Blackhawks, 3 to 0 in a National league game in Madison Square Garden tonight.

This defeat dropped the Blackhawks from a tie for first place with the Detroit Red Wings and the New York Rangers into a tie for second place with the Rangers, who lost to Detroit tonight.

The Americans opened the game with a startling display of speed and aggressiveness that threw the Hawks back on their heels. Only two minutes and 36 seconds of the opening chapter had gone by when Dave Schriner broke away and whipped one in. Eleven minutes later, Joe Jerwa raced into a swarm of men and sticks near the Chicago cage and jabbed the puck in between the feet of Goalie Karakas while the latter's view was blocked by wriggling bodies.

Fight Breaks Out.

The second period was slow and fruitless as far as scoring was concerned but the teams came back raging in the third period which was featured by a furious slugging match between Bill Brydges of the Amerks and Marty Burke of the Hawks. Both went off for five minutes after trading blows for about ten seconds.

Oliver completed the scoring in this frame when he took the rebound of a shot by Stewart and ripped it home while the goal tender was off balance. The time was 9:54.

Howie Morenz of the Hawks, who was with the Canadiens when they inaugurated professional hocky in New York with the Americans a decade ago, faced off the puck for the encounter.

Referees Are Hurt.

The game was shot with rough play and even the two referees, Eusebe Daignault, and Ag Smith, got in on the bruising contact. Daignault received an injured leg when he was jammed against the boards by rushing players and a physician was called on the ice to examine him. He continued and later Ag Smith received a cut mouth when hit by a flying stick.

Eddie Wiseman, fast moving American forward, was cut on the forehead after he had gone down in a spill.

The game was only 2 minutes and 36 seconds old when Dave Schriner broke away and took a clear shot that sped in over the shoulder of Karakas to send the Americans away to a one goal lead. The Blackhawks came back strong, ganged the goal and had Worters down on the ice when an attempted shot looped harmlessly over the cage. Oliver was sent off for tripping as the players scrambled near the goal.

New York Increases Lead.

The Americans ganged the Hawks' stronghold and in a wild scramble Jerwa finally poked the puck in while Karakas was sprawled on the ice. The time was 13:30 and Stewart and Oliver were credited with assists. The Americans then tightened their defense as the Hawks went on the attack.

The Hawks put on what looked like a scoring play at the opening of the third period. Burke carted the rubber up to the goal, drew Worters out, and then passed to Romnes, who had a clear shot, but tripped and fell with the puck on his stick and an open gate in front of him.

Stewart took the puck in center ice, carried in close, and took a weak backhand shot that was blocked, but Oliver, coming in like the wind, belted home the rebound before Goalie Karakas could get set again. It was a fast bit of work by Oliver, who turned the trick with Hawks all around him.

Silver Skates Derbies Set for Jan. 11-12 at Garfield Park

The nineteenth annual Silver Skates Derbies, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and sanctioned by the Illinois Western Skating association, will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 11 and 12, at Garfield park. Silver Skates, the oldest and most popular winter event in the midwest, always has attracted several thousand entrants. It is arranged so that every boy and girl may compete and all are rewarded for their willingness to enter.

As in other years each contestant will receive a souvenir button. Five prizes also will be awarded in each of the seven age classes. But this year there will be a new feature. Each winner of a qualifying race will receive a gold medal.

120 Qualifying Races Held.

More than 120 qualifying races were held last year during the races at Lincoln park. At least this many, and perhaps many more gold medals, will be awarded. Here is added incentive for boys and girls who may be fast enough to win a trial race but fail in the finals. It is the same plan adopted last summer in the annual 100 yard swimming races which met with unanimous approval of Chicago's boys and girls.

The seven age classes, five for boys and two for girls, are as follows:

Boys' senior, 18 years of age and over.
Boys' intermediate, 16 and 17 years of age.
Boys' junior, 14 and 15 years of age.
Boys' juvenile, 12 and 13 years of age.
Boys' midget, under 12 years of age.
Girls' junior, under 16 years of age.

Each of the seven champions will receive silver skates. Those placing second and third, respectively, will win bronze skates while fourth and fifth place winners in each of the above events will be awarded silver and bronze medals. In addition to these 35 prizes, there are gold medals for winning qualifying races and bronze buttons for participation in the races.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

"RECOGNIZING" ATHLETES.

THE WAKE views with at least mild approval, certainly with equanimity, the action of the Southeastern conference in voting to consider athletic ability as well as scholastic merit in awards of scholarships, jobs, and student loans.

If it serves no other purpose it will be a testing laboratory for the experiment of paying college football players for their services, an idea which has been gaining many converts in recent years.

In our nearly four decades' observation of intercollegiate athletics, there never was a time when proselyting was not discussed as an evil. It has existed and always will exist — its prevalence or its obnoxiousness, if it be obnoxious, depending on sentiment at the time and rules of the period.

We have known many instances of prep athletes being fêted and "rushed" by college alumni, being promised jobs, being extended indirect and sometimes direct financial aid. Unlike Prof. Owen of Massachusetts Tech, we name no names for we have no desire to receive demands for proofs or apologies.

On the other hand, we do not recall similar rushing of brilliant students for the debating team or for Phi Beta Kappa. Admiration for sports prowess, also known in the professional field, is the answer.

Our high school sports star has become a pretty wise young fellow. If he has to work his way through college in whole or in part, he is very likely to "shop around" to ascertain where he can do best. Can one blame him? He has something to offer. The real question is whether he goes to college to play football or plays football to go to college. Scholastic requirements should take care of that.

Commissioner Griffith of the Big Ten says 70 per cent of conference athletes are partly dependent on their own efforts. At a large eastern college known as a "college for rich men's sons," we were surprised to be told the percentage was one-third. Since the percentage had grown to that figure the college's teams had improved materially in performance.

It is recognized, at least here in the middle west, that poor boys or boys in modest circumstances compose a greater number of athletes than those of well-to-do parents. Coaches assert they are more amenable to discipline, perhaps come from hardier stock, try harder—they have not other diversions like a car or a co-ed.

One of the Southeastern conference gentlemen brought out the point that a football player in his several hours of daily practice was of more value to the university than the student who spent the same amount of time sweeping the college library and should be compensated for his football time; that to ask him to do both was sacrifice of time he should have for studying. We feel that way about it.

Now this Southeastern experiment may not prove successful. There may develop competitive bidding with rewards beyond those authorized. All college sports agreements depend on good faith. But at least direct aid is out in the open with no premium on secrecy and deception.

Back of this whole controversy, however, is the question of scholarship. To our mind, that is most important of all. If scholarship standards are maintained it has seemed to us that the vital standard—securing an education — was observed. There, again, is the question of good faith between faculties of rival colleges and universities.

The whole collegiate world will watch this present experiment, considered radical at this time, as a guide to future action.

NORTHWESTERN AND NOTRE DAME BATTLE TONIGHT

Unbeaten Teams to Meet at South Bend.

Games Tonight

Miami at Indiana.
Northwestern at Notre Dame.
Ohio State at Muskingum.

Big Ten basketball teams batted .750 Saturday night when six of the eight quintets which saw action emerged victorious over opponents from outside the Western conference. Tonight three more games are scheduled, and tomorrow night two of the three Big Ten co-champions of last season will resume their practice competition.

Heading the list tonight is the first of the annual home and home series, between unbeaten Northwestern and unbeaten Notre Dame at South Bend. The second half of this rivalry will, as usual, be staged at Evanston New Year's eve. Indiana's veteran quintet will take on Miami at Bloomington, and Ohio State will move over to New Concord, O., to keep an engagement with Muskingum college in other contests this evening.

Tomorrow night Purdue and Illinois, which tied for the title with Wisconsin last season, will face Xavier at Cincinnati, O., and DePauw at Champaign, respectively.

Expect Close Game.

The battle at South Bend tonight is expected to be another thrilling chapter in the Wildcat-Irish series. Seldom has the victor in any past game won by more than two or three points, regardless of its ability against other teams. Both Northwestern and Notre Dame will enter the game with untarnished records. The Wildcats have defeated Carleton and Pittsburgh by convincing margins, while Notre Dame has run over all opposition to date, although Washington university kept the score down to a reasonable margin. In other games, Notre Dame has piled up an amazing point total in double headers with teams of minor league caliber.

Down at Bloomington, Indiana is expected to get by Miami without undue exertion, as the Hoosiers' preseason showing indicates Coach Everett Dean has a real threat to capture the Big Ten title. Ohio State's speedy quintet, lacking height but composed of a scrappy squad of boys, may continue its victory march against the Muskingum quintet. The Buckeyes have a sensational basket shot in Capt. Whitlinger, but are handicapped at the present by the loss of their regular center, Earl Thomas.

Results of the Iowa-Pittsburgh and Carleton-Minnesota game last Saturday night caused some eyebrow lifting around the conference. While Iowa's defeat by Pittsburgh wasn't considered too startling, Carleton's victory over Minnesota came as something of a shock.

Purdue Stops De Paul.

In the big game at Chicago Stadium, Purdue again put a halt to a De Paul string of victories when the Boilermakers scored a 28 to 24 victory over the Demons before a crowd of 8,252, which braved miserable weather to witness the contest.

Although De Paul has one of the greatest basketball teams in the country, and has had for three years, the Demons simply can't beat the Boilermakers. As it is, De Paul has captured 36 of its last 38 games, the two losses being administered by Purdue, 48 to 37 last season, and 28 to 24.

Capt. Bob Kessler, who last year connected for 21 points against De Paul, again led Purdue Saturday night. The flashy forward, second in scoring in the Big Ten last year, scored the first basket of the game within thirty seconds, and, after a De

Faculty Again Calls Spears and Meanwell

Madison, Wis., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Football Coach Clarence Spears and Athletic Director Walter Meanwell appeared again tonight before the University of Wisconsin faculty athletic board as that group continued to push its investigation into the troubled affairs of the university's athletic department.

Both were called in at a late hour tonight after the board had already spent seven hours during the afternoon and evening questioning members of the football squad.

Unofficially it was learned the board had "made more progress" toward formulating its report to the university board of regents, which meets here next Thursday in a special session to take up the controversy.

Golemgeske Is Questioned.

Among those questioned today was John Golemgeske, captain-elect of the 1936 football team, whose signed statement that the petition he circulated asking the resignation of Spears was instigated by Meanwell, stirred the controversy to white heat ten days ago.

Players Are Questioned.

With the exception of the last two, all those who appeared today were members of this year's football team. Ferris was a half back on the 1934 team, but did not report this fall, allegedly because of dissatisfaction with coaching methods. Bender was captain of the 1934 team.

The questions, players reported, revolved principally about the sentiment on the squad in regard to Coach Spears and the chronology of events leading up to circulation of the petition.

Several of the questions, it was learned, were far removed from the immediate controversy. One of them concerned the comparison of football material at Wisconsin and Notre Dame. A number of the players were questioned as to the amount of scrimmage in the last two practice sessions before the games.

Pro Football Teams Open, End Season in Poor Weather

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15.—An all morning rain which later turned to snow, and was swept through the University of Detroit stadium by a brisk north wind during the championship game between the Detroit Lions and New York Giants, brought to a close today the most disagreeable season, from the standpoint of the weather, in the history of the National Professional Football league.

Slush and water flooded the seats, and unpaved pathways to the stadium were ankle deep in mud as the 15,000 trooped in, timing their arrival with the kickoff. Almost immediately after the final whistle, the weather cleared.

Inclement weather throughout the league during the regular season kept down attendance, and, in many instances, turned what figured to be stirring contests into dull, drab affairs.

Despite the unfavorable weather, six of the nine teams in the league showed a profit on the season. The losers were the Philadelphia Eagles, Pittsburgh Pirates, and the Chicago Cardinals. The Eagles and Pirates

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15.—Detroit's Lions are the champions of the professional football world. They won that honor this winter afternoon at the University of Detroit stadium when they smashed the defenses of the New York Giants, defending title-holders, for four touchdowns and a 26 to 7 victory.

Fifteen thousand watched the climax of the post-graduate season. These loyal fans, with complete disregard for an early morning rain which by noon had changed to a driving snowstorm that was whipped into the stadium by a north wind, huddled in the uncovered stands. They were repaid by a brilliant battle in which the Lions were dominant throughout because of a sturdy line and alert backs, who not only checked New York's famed air attack, but raced over the muddy, slippery turf with an agility that was almost phenomenal.

Lions Score in a Hurry.

The Lions opened with an air drive that scored their first touchdown before the Giants had possession of the ball. They added a second touchdown before the end of the first period when Dutch Clark sped 40 yards through the entire Giant team, twice reversing his field in a startling run which has had few counterparts in modern football.

This advantage, 13 to 0, was the score at the rest period. Then the Giants, with the winter wind at their backs, narrowed the margin on Ken Strong's touchdown run after grabbing a pass from Ed Danowski, deflected from the hands of Ace Gutowsky, defending back. The pass and run gained 42 yards. Strong then followed with a placement for the extra point which left Detroit vulnerable, 13 to 7.

Lions Strike Again.

This was the setting in the final period as the Lions moved to the attack in the gathering gloom with the wind at their backs.

Those who may have thought the Lions had spent their strength in the first half now saw them capitalize on a charging line which blocked a kick by Danowski that was recovered on New York's 25 yard line by George Christensen, Detroit tackle. From this point the Lions paraded to the goal in seven plays. This touchdown, with Clark's placement, assured victory.

But Detroit was not through. Four more plays, the first an interception of Harry Newman's pass by Buddy Parker, scored the final touchdown. Detroit had won its first professional football title and the manner of the accomplishment left no opportunity to doubt that the Lions deserved the championship.

Vicious Tackles Mark Battle.

This summary is a mere sketch of the bitter fight between two great elevens, a succession of vicious tackles, one of which sent Tod Goodwin, Giants' end, from the game in the first period after he had caught a pass on Detroit's 12 yard stripe. It does not pay tribute to the smashing play of Buddy Parker, Detroit full back, whose line plunges made possible the off tackle runs of Clark, Ernie Caddel, and Glenn Presnell.

This recital also does not tell of Harry Ebding's brilliant block of Danowski's punt on the third play of the second quarter, after which he recovered the ball and raced 36 yards to New York's three yard line, where he lost the ball when knocked off his feet as if he had crashed into a stone wall. The ball tumbled to the corner of the end zone where Detroit recovered, but in that recovery shoved the ball outside of the zone for a touchback. Thus, in one flash of a few seconds, Ebding's feat, which

Welterweights Head Card at Marigold.

The Card

Billy Celebron vs. Fritzie Zivic [10], 147.
Stanley Dorgan vs. George Bittner [5], heavyweights.
Irish Mickey Walker vs. Jimmy Richards [4], 132.
Tommy Howell vs. Davey White [4], 120.
Duke Calloway vs. Harry Shone [4], 120.

Billy Celebron, Rockford, and Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh, two of the hardest punching young welterweights in boxing, will meet in an elimination bout at ten rounds tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Victory will strengthen the winner's position in the climb to his goal—a shot at Barney Ross' title.

Both fighters scored knockouts in their most recent appearances at Marigold, Celebron stopping Tonelli and Zivic knocking out Sammy Chivas. While Zivic may be superior as a boxer, the Rockford lad appears to be more durable and puts more power behind his blows.

There will be five supporting matches, one of which will involve wrestlers.

Other shows tonight include two amateur boxing cards and a professional wrestling program.

Johnny Silvy, the Hamilton light heavyweight, and Rudy Kay of Chicago will head the wrestling show, to be held at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. The match is set for one fall, with a one hour time limit. Homer Goodling, South Bend, Ind., and Ivan Nickaloff will be opponents in the semi-final, which will be for one fall or 30 minutes. Preliminary encounters will bring together Cleve Welch and Eddie Slake, Ken Fenlon and Charley Peterson, and Lee Umbles and Ed Van Herrick.

Amateur shows will be offered at Coulon gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street, and Queen of Angels auditorium, Western and Montrose avenues. The Coulon card will be topped by matches between Louis Johnson and Dutch Long, middleweights, and Frank Scorza and Nick Apostle, bantamweights. Charles Rodriguez will oppose Charles Patrick, Joe Martinez is matched with Louis Smith, Emil Schirato will face Jimmy Dunnington, and Emil Campagna is paired with Ike Burnette.

Eight contests will comprise the program, sponsored by the 47th Ward club, at Queen of Angels auditorium. Jesse Robinson will meet Jimmy O'Brien and Al Ware will clash with George Nelson. Barney Ross, welterweight champion, may referee one of the matches.

The second round of the heavyweight elimination tournament being conducted in Chicago by James C. Mullen, Nate Lewis, and Kid Howard Carr is likely to be presented Dec. 27.

Winfrid Mullins returned yesterday to Vincennes, where he will defend his Indiana state featherweight title against Paul Lee of Indianapolis in a ten round bout tomorrow. F. M.

WILLMAN WINS AUTO RACE ON ARMORY TRACK

Tony Willman, Milwaukee pilot won the midseason championship indoor auto race before 8,000 fans at the 124th Field Artillery armory last night, defeating Jimmy Snyder of Chicago in a close battle. Emil Andres took third place.

The forty lap race was also a thriller. Curly Mills of Los Angeles was the winner after beating off several challenges from Warren, Snyder, and Householder. Warren, who just recently arrived from the coast, finished second only inches ahead of Householder.

FIRST RACE—[12 laps]—Won by Curly Mills; Chuck Niesel, second; Pat Warren, third. Time, 2:46.
SECOND RACE—[12 laps]—Won by Harry McQuinn; Jimmy Snyder, second; Emil Andres, third. Time, 2:47.
THIRD RACE—[12 laps]—Won by Tony Willman; Ronney Householder, second; Harold Shaw, third. Time, 2:54.
FOURTH RACE—[12 laps]—Won by Lou Schneider; Frank Brisko, second; Jimmy Rogers, third. Time, 2:46.
FIFTH RACE—[Special match races 15 laps]—Won by Tony Willman; Jimmy Snyder, second; Emil Andres, third. Time, 3:24.
SIXTH RACE—[15 laps]—Won by Paul Russo; Carl Peterson, second; Harry Lewis, third. Time, 3:29.
SEVENTH RACE—[15 laps]—Won by Jimmy Snyder; Lou Schneider, second; Wally Zale, third. Time, 3:31.

CHICAGOANS WIN THREE MIDWEST BOWLING TITLES

The Budweisers, with 3,083, won the five man crown. The Strohs of Detroit were second with 3,039, and the Heil products, Milwaukee, third with 3,030.

Kurt Pagel and Billy Heermann won the two man title with 1,352, with P. Krumske and W. Goldhammer second with 1,325 and D. Jackson and G. Beth, Racine, third with 1,321. Gil Zunker and Hank Marino, Milwaukee, finished fourth with 1,303, and Doc Ehlke and Billy Sixty, their teammates, won fifth award with 1,301.

Gil Zunker, of Milwaukee, holder of the A. B. C. record of 2,060 pins for nine tourney games, knocked over 1,982 pins to win the all-events.

Tropical Park Opens Florida Racing Season

"All signs point to the biggest season in the five years of legalized racing in this state," said Carl G. Rose, chairman of the Florida racing commission.

Try Out Totalisator.

Thousands visited beautified Tropical Park during today's open house, with mutuel clerks utilizing the throng for a dress rehersal of the new electric totalisator installed as part of the track's $300,000 summer remodeling.

Advising Anna, racing in the colors of Mrs. Ed Haughton and ridden by Jocky Eddie Litzenberger, likely will be the favorite in the field of seven milers entered in the $1,000 Coral Gables handicap.

Lynx Eye Entered.

Chief opposition is expected to come from Robert Robertson's Lynx Eye, once a member of the powerful Whitney stable, and Apprentice, once the property of the late James Butler of New York.

The year's jocky sensation, Wayne D. Wright, will have the mount on Golden Rock II, which races for C. W. Muller. Dowdy Dell, Chasar and Sunanair round out the field.

boys was held with 300 entrants. He conducted every event until his death in 1930. This team trophy will become the permanent possession of the team which first wins it three times.

Another team trophy will be offered this year. This cup will be presented to the team which has the largest number of contestants in the preliminary races. This award is not based on the number of entries submitted but on the number of contestants actually participating.

First Preliminaries Are Jan. 11.

Preliminaries in three of the boys' events, the midget, juvenile, and junior derbies, will be held on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 11. All other preliminaries and the finals in the seven Derbies are scheduled for Jan. 12.

Entries for all races close at midnight Jan. 5. No contestant may compete who has not sent in his name, age, and address. No skater is barred except for professionalism. Regardless of where you live or your age, there is a Silver Skates Derby for you.

Derby—	Qualifying distance.	Final distance.
Men's senior	1 mile	2 miles
Boys' intermediate	½ mile	1 mile
Boy's intermediate	½ mile	¼ mile
Boys' junior	¼ mile	½ mile
Boys' juvenile	220 yards	¼ mile
Boys' midget	110 yards	220 yards
Girls' senior	½ mile	1 mile
Girls' junior	¼ mile	½ mile

Gold medals for lap prizes in the girls' senior, men's senior, and boys' intermediate races will be awarded. These go to the contestants leading in the final race for the greatest number of laps.

St. Louis Soccer Team Beats Milwaukee, 7 to 0

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 15.—(AP)—The St. Louis Shamrocks, outplaying the visitors all the way, handed the Milwaukee Deutschers a 7 to 0 defeat in soccer today. Bill Pruetz, Deutscher Goalie, kept down the scoring with several brilliant blocks. Bert Patenaude, center, and Bill Gonsalves, inside right, each scored three goals for the Shamrocks.

TABERSKI WINS FROM CARAS IN CUE MEET, 125-71

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Jimmy Caras, young Wilmington, Del., player, was the victim of the third straight major upset in the world pocket billiards tournament tonight when he lost to Frank Taberski, Schenectady, N. Y., 125 to 71, in a 15 inning match. It was Caras' first defeat in five starts.

Despite the loss, the 22 year old Caras retained first place with four games won and one lost.

George Kelly, Philadelphia, the national champion, lost his afternoon match to Pasquale Natalie of Chicago, 125 to 24, when he missed an easy shot in the 13th inning and Natalie clicked off a high run of 32 to end the match.

Charles Seaback of Astoria, N. Y., defeated Joe Procita of Gloversville, N. Y., in the final match of the night by the score of 125 to 100 in 26 innings. Procita had the game's high run of 54 in the 22d inning, but was unable to overhaul the Astoria veteran, who had runs of 32, 30, and 18 in the late innings.

SPALDING WINS.

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Spalding institute this afternoon won its first Illinois Catholic conference basketball game, beating St. Paul's of Odell, 21 to 18.

Notre Dame, Northwestern Meet Tonight

Paul rally had cut Purdue's margin to 25 to 24 with thirty seconds to play in the last half, broke the Demons' backs with a charge under the net for a basket. He added a free throws a few seconds later.

Wisconsin's Badgers, which have been rolling along in championship style, added to the Big Ten's prestige by handling their ancient rival, Marquette, a 35 to 22 defeat at Madison. More than 8,800 watched the game and saw Fuller and De Mark, Wisconsin forwards, score 18 points between them. The Badgers clicked on 13 of 16 free throws, while the Hilltoppers could do no better than 4 of 12.

Michigan, utilizing the tremendous height of the Townsend brothers, Earl and John, kept up its winning ways by taking Michigan State into camp, 35 to 24. The Wolverines, although playing without John Gee, their regular center, who also towers into the clouds, were behind at the half, but came back with a rush.

Capt. Whitlinger swished in eight baskets and two free throws to lead Ohio State to a 38 to 21 victory over Evansville, Ind., college. The Buckeyes might have made the score more lopsided, but compromised by using 17 players, two injured members of the squad being withheld.

Pitt Whips Iowa.

Pittsburgh, following a 38 to 30 defeat at the hands of Northwestern Friday night, squared things with Big Ten teams by taking care of Iowa's erratic quintet, 32 to 22. Roderick led the Panthers, while Rosenthal, a Chicago boy, showed the way for the losers. Capt. John Barko, ordinarily one of Iowa's most dependable men, had a miserable night. He was held to one field goal, and missed a dozen open shots under the basket.

The Maroons, following two defeats, finally found a team they could beat and Wheaton had to go home with a 41 to 25 defeat. Bill Haarlow, leading Big Ten scorer last season, who had been stopped by De Paul, staged a field day. The Maroon ace dropped in 12 baskets and four free throws for 28 points.

Indiana made it an all-Hoosier night in Chicago by beating Loyola, 32 to 25, before 3,200 at Loyola. Everything might have been all right for Loyola had it not been for Kenny Gunning, who stepped through the Loyola defense often enough to score seven baskets.

Carleton, snowed under by dozens of Northwestern and Iowa baskets in its previous two games with Big Ten teams, obtained some revenge by making the Minnesota Gophers, previously undefeated, take a 29 to 26 drubbing.

MICHIGAN WILL TALK OVER PAY CUT RESTORATION

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Restoration of some of the pay cuts made in the last few years will be discussed and possibly acted on by the University of Michigan board in control of physical education Tuesday night.

The problem, tying in with the whole question of the year's budget, is to be taken up in accordance with the suggestion made in the annual report, released a few days ago. The report mentioned that coaching and clerical stafs had taken cuts and, inasmuch as the stafs had been carefully assembled over a period of years, action should be taken toward restoring the old salary levels.

SETTERS BEATS HUGHES, 31-27; IN K. OF C. GAME

St. Cyr Rallies to Win from Lafayette, 38-17.

Setters handed Hughes its first defeat of the season yesterday in the West Division of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league, 31 to 27. Red Delarme, Skysznta and Asher set the pace for Setters, which led 11 to 10 at the half.

St. Cyr moved into first place by staging a second-half comeback to upset Lafayette, 38 to 17, at St. Philip's gymnasium. Lafayette was in front, 17 to 14, with about five minutes of the second period gone, but was blanked from there to the windup while St. Cyr sank baskets from every angle.

London Athlete Claims Hop, Step and Jump Mark

LONDON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Sydney Metcalfe today claimed a new world record of 51 feet 9⅜ inches for the hop, step, and jump. The present record is listed to C. Nambu of Japan, who is credited with covering 51 feet 7 inches in this event at the 1932 Olympic games at Los Angeles.

DON'T LET HIM GET BALD

Complete the Hair Cycle and Hair Loss Stops!

Because all your husband's relatives are bald, don't think he is destined to be bald too. "Baldness is the result of nothing more serious than neglect. Baldness is not hereditary," says Charles Nessler, famous inventor of the Permanent Wave. "No child need lose his hair simply because his father is bald."

Years of research on thousands of human heads, brought to light the facts of Charles Nessler's hair cycle theory—namely, that hair grows, falls out, is replaced. You can no more stop hair from falling than you can stop an animal from shedding. Adopt the natural, easy Pro-Ker Treatment.

Excess oiliness, dandruff and itching scalp are secondary symptoms relieved by the healthful application of the Pro-Ker Treatment. Start using it today. You will be amazed at the results.

BOARD VOTES ON MOST VALUABLE BIG TEN PLAYER

Candidates

Chicago—Jay Berwanger, back.
Illinois—Eddie Gryboski, guard.
Indiana—Wendel Walker, back.
Iowa—Dick Crayne, back.
Michigan—Bill Renner, back.
Minnesota—Vernal LeVoir, back.
Northwestern—Wally Cruice, back.
Ohio State—Gomer Jones, center.
Wisconsin—Eddie Jankowski, back.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

Members of the board of award are balloting on the ten candidates, chosen by their respective teammates, for the honor of being named the Big Ten player of greatest value to his team for the season of 1935.

The winner will receive THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's twelfth annual trophy, a handsome sterling silver football, actual size, mounted on an ebony base. The silver football becomes the permanent personal property of the winner. In addition to the silver football, the winner and each of the other nine candidates are awarded token white gold footballs, watch fob size, as insignia of their prowess and mementos of their college days.

Presentation Made at Game.

Not enough replies to the letter sent out to the board of award have yet been received to indicate the composite choice, but it is hoped announcement may be made a week hence, or at latest within two weeks. Presentation of the trophy usually is made at one of the early January basketball games on the home floor of the college attended by the winner where the undergraduate body may participate in the celebration.

Some readers may have forgotten the origin of this trophy, the winning of which is considered the greatest honor in middle western football. At that time there was no prize or trophy of similar nature. Nor has any been introduced since which conforms to the conditions of the silver football.

For Player of Greatest Value.

This Chicago Tribune trophy is not for the greatest player, but for the player of greatest value to his team. Qualities considered by the board in making the choice include playing ability, of course, leadership, self-sacrifice for the benefit of the team as a whole and sportsmanship. In playing ability, both offense and defense have equal place.

The letter sent to the board of award reads:

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is now ready to award its twelfth annual trophy—a sterling silver football, actual size—to the Big Ten player of greatest value to his team for the season of 1935.

"You are cordially invited to assist in making this a fair and impartial award. We do not ask you to name the greatest player, but the player who has contributed most to his team's success.

Choice from Ten Players.

"Under a change in plan, inaugurated in 1930, the choice is from ten players, one from each eleven. These ten players were named by their teammates as the boys considered most valuable to their respective elevens.

"We hope to have as soon as possible your first and second choices from this list. Please name two, as first choice counts 2 points and second choice 1 point.

"The result of the vote, as a whole, will be published. Your own particular ballot will be regarded as confidential.

"Your prompt forwarding of your ballot will be appreciated. Thanking you for coöperation." [Signature.]

Members of the board of award are the ten coaches, ten officials who have worked in conference games, and three others. Here are the coaches with their alma maters also named:

Chicago—Clark Shaughnessy, Minnesota.
Illinois—Robert C. Zuppke, Wisconsin.
Indiana—A. N. McMillin, Centre.
Iowa—Ossie Solem, Minnesota.
Michigan—Harry G. Kipke, Michigan.
Minnesota—Bernie Bierman, Minnesota.
Northwestern—Lynn O. Waldorf, Syracuse.
Ohio State—Francis A. Schmidt, Nebraska.
Purdue—Noble H. Kizer, Notre Dame.
Wisconsin—Dr. C. W. Spears, Dartmouth.

Frank E. Birch, Earlham.
Anthony Haines, Yale.
Fred Gardner, Cornell.
J. J. Lipp, Chicago.
Joe Magidsohn, Michigan.
James Masker, Northwestern.
H. L. Ray, Illinois.
John Schommer, Chicago.
Jay Wyatt, Missouri.
Fred H. Young, Illinois Wesleyan.

The other three members are Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten; Wilfrid Smith, and Harvey Woodruff, Tribune football writers.

LEO FREISINGER WINS POSITION ON U. S. SKATE TEAM

He clipped one second off the records set by both winners of the tryouts held here last winter and came within one second of the world record in his 500 meter trial.

Freisinger negotiated the 500 meters in 33.8 seconds, one second less than Delbert Lamb, Milwaukee, took in qualifying for the Olympics in his trial here a year ago, and then sped over the 1,500 meter course in 2:32.6. Last winter Eddie Schroeder, Chicago, won that event in 2:33.7.

A fifth place will be added to the United States skating team roster to accommodate Freisinger, for whom this special trial was arranged by Chet Roan, Mineapolis, president of the American Amateur Skating union. Freisinger will take a 5,000 meter test later this week.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Detroit's Red Wings won their third straight game here tonight, defeating the New York Rangers, 4 to 2, to remain at the top of the National Hocky league's American division. About 9,000 fans saw the rough, fast game.

Early in the opening period Kelly gave the Wings a lead on a double pass from Bowman and Wally Kilrea. Hec Kilrea put them 2 up shortly afterward with an unassisted tally, but in the final minute of the period Keeling tallied on Mason's pass to put the Rangers in the game.

Score Is Tied.

After a rough second period, in which Murdock and Hec Kilrea drew majors for fighting, Lynn Patrick knotted the count on a neat pass by Seibert. With less than a minute to go Bucko McDonald, Wing defense man, counted the winning goal with a great back-hand shot made possible by Aurie's pass. Just to clinch matters, Aurie a moment later caught the Blue Shirts down the ice, raced in to pull Davie Kerr out of position, and scored cleanly.

Eight Penalties Incurred.

Eight penalties were handed out, each team drawing four. Kerr made 27 stops, 14 in the final period, while Smith for the Wings had but 14 saves.

BRUINS BEAT CANADIENS

Boston, Mass., Dec. 15.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins nosed out the Canadiens, 2 to 1, tonight when these National Hocky league last place clubs waged a listless battle before 12,000 at the Boston Garden.

With two minutes to go Bill Cowley raced the winning goal on a solo rush. When he got inside he lifted a closeup backhand shot into Goalie Wilf Cude's cage.

The game was only 74 seconds old when the Bruins forged into the lead. Cooney Weiland carried into the right corner and passed out to Dit Clapper, who then uncorked his first scoring shot of the season. The flying Frenchmen tied the score in the second period when, while playing shorthanded, Armand Mondou trapped the Bruins in foreign territory, sped straight down the center lane, and fired a bullet-like drive through the Boston goalie.

Shortly after the Mondou goal Max Kaminsky crashed with Art Lesieur with such force that the blade of the Boston winger's stick snapped against the Frenchman's face. He suffered a cut on his nose, but was able to return to action during the last 10 minutes of play.

seemed certain to add a third touchdown to the Lions' score, was reduced to no score and possession of the ball by the Giants.

Nor can words describe the spirit of the losers, who badly beaten, yet blocked out a path for a 40 yard return by Harry Newman of Caddel's kick off on the last play of the game, a return which almost sent the former Michigan star the length of the field.

Lions March 62 Yards.

Detroit won the toss and naturally chose to defend the north goal with the driving snow in their opponents' faces. Ken Strong, New York veteran, kicked off to Caddel, who was dropped on Detroit's 38 yard line. Six plays later Gutowsky ripped between Bill Owen and Len Grant on a full spinner for a five yard romp to the goal line. On that drive, no Giant player touched the Ace, and he shot clear through the end zone to fall in the pile of straw in front of the temporary bleachers.

In this advance of 62 yards, Presnell tossed a long pass down the east side line to Frank Christensen for 27 yards after a wide run in the opposite direction, a maneuver which fooled the Giants' defensive right half. On the next play, Gutowsky passed to Ed Klewicki, his left end, who crossed through the back field to make the catch and gain 25 yards and a first down on the Giants' seven yard line. Presnell struck at guard for two yards and Gutowsky then plunged for the score. Presnell place kicked the point with Ace holding.

Giants Come Right Back.

One touchdown seldom whips the Giants and now the eastern champions came back with Richards showing the way. Twice they hammered through the mud with the storm beating at them and each time only an aroused Lion line turned back the assault.

The first drive for three first downs carried from the Giants' six yard line, where Richards received Caddel's kickoff, to Detroit's 23 yard line. Here three plays lost a yard and on fourth down Strong's placement attempt from Detroit's 33 yard stripe sailed to the right of the posts.

The second drive, made possible by Gutowsky's fumble recovered by Big Bill Morgan on the Lions' 21 yard line, surged to the 12 yard line where the injured Goodwin was helped from the field after receiving Danowski's pass. On the next play, fourth down, Jack Johnson, the best tackle on the field today, grabbed Richards for a four yard loss and Detroit took the ball.

Detroit kicked out and again the Giants started from their own 35 yard line. Strong got eighteen yards on the first play, and the Giants were past midfield when disaster overtook them. Frank Christensen stepped in front of Danowski's pass and, at full speed, returned twenty-seven yards down the side line to New York's 46 yard line before he was trapped. Two line thrusts netted six yards and then came Clark.

The flying Dutchman went outside New York's right tackle, came to a full stop and reversed straight across the field. Purple shirts picked off the crimson defenders. Clark ran thirty yards across field, then again changed direction and doubled back. He found an opening, and once again his mates sent a wave of protectors as escort. Now Clark bent his flight to the goal and crossed the last line for a net gain of forty yards, an actual run of twice that. Clark's attempt for the point was wide.

Detroit Keeps After Ball.

All this occurred in less than 15 minutes. Ebding's block of the Giant punt opened the action in the next period, a heartbreaking loss for Detroit, which must have visioned security in a third touchdown. Even here alert Lions covered the fumble, but Jim Stacy, substitute Detroit guard, could not keep the ball in the scoring zone.

New York swept to the attack immediately. An exchange of punts, with the wind now favoring the Giants, gave them the ball on Detroit's 45 yard line. Walt Singer made twenty-two yards in the advance by grabbing Danowski's pass. Newman and Richards carried the ball to Detroit's 9 yard line. A touchdown would have given New York new life. In succession, Danowski, Richards, and Max Krause hit the line for five yards. With goal to go, Richards swept the Lions' left end, but he went down without gain under a wave of defenders. Detroit took the ball.

Giants Score on Pass.

New York elected to defend the north goal to start play in the second half. The choice led to a touchdown on a perfect pass play midway in the quarter. With the ball on Detroit's 46 yard line, Danowski plunged for four yards. Then he passed to Strong running wide and ten yards down field in territory defended by Gutowsky. The Ace reached the ball, but it bounded from his hands and behind him where Strong received and continued down the west side line to score. Strong's placement was good.

New York now was within reach of a tie or victory, but shortly afterward the teams changed goals and New York never threatened again.

Christensen's Punting Helps.

Frank Christensen's long, high kicks, soaring down wind, one of them for more than 60 yards in the air from the line of scrimmage, forced the Giants back. With five minutes to play, the Detroit line rushed through on Danowski's kick and the ball struck a New Yorker in the back, rolling to New York's 25 yard line where George Christensen recovered.

Seven plays, featured by Parker's spinners into the line or fake spinners with Caddell carrying the ball, advanced to the score. Caddel got the touchdown when Clark faked a straight plunge and handed the ball to him for a sweep around the Giant right end that was tightly drawn in on the one yard line. Clark's placement was wide and the Lions had arrived at the final tabulation of 26 to 7.

Lions Complete Two Passes.

Detroit attempted five passes, all in the first half, and two were successful for 52 yards. New York tried 13 passes, completed four for 88 yards, had two intercepted, and seven were incomplete. The Lions made 12 first downs, two by passes, one by penalty, and nine by rushing. New York rang up 10 first downs, two by passes, two by penalty and six by rushing.

SCHMIDT PLANS EARLY START ON OHIO PRACTICE

Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Coach Francis A. Schmidt of Ohio State university's football team is planning an early start for the 1936 season.

Ernest R. Godfrey, line coach, announced today that Schmidt is ready to open winter practice after the holidays. The indoor practice, to be staged three afternoons each week in the gymnasium, will be primarily for the reserves and freshmen.

Schmidt hopes to have the newcomers thoroughly versed in the wide open Ohio system by the time spring training opens in April. The coaching staf must find replacements for 14 first-stringers lost by graduation.

had the weather and poor teams to blame. The Cardinals' losses are traced directly to rain and cold at their first three home games, in which they met Detroit, Philadelphia, and Green Bay.

There were more blankets from one of Detroit's leading hotels in the stadium this afternoon than there were in the hotel itself. Everybody seemed to be wrapped in green bedclothing smuggled past bell boys and housekeepers.

Every player on each squad, except Ike Frankian, the Giants' veteran end, managed to get himself thoroughly besmeared in the muck on the first play in which he participated. Frankian, who started the game, played part of the first period and most of of the second without getting mud above his shoe tops. He finally slipped coming out of a huddle in the third period and got a trifle soiled. Only the seat of his bloomers will be sent to the cleaners.

The University of Michigan's 100 piece band marched on the field before the game and took its place on a platform floated in a pond behind the Lions' bench. The nimble fingers of the piccolo players were susceptible to the extreme cold, however, and musical interludes were held down to a minimum.

Detroit's favorite player is Dutch Clark. He also was Detroit's best player. His every move brought the crowd up cheering.

Tim Mara, owner of the New York Giants, who sat on the bench with his team, said before the game the Giants would score at least thirty points because they had five scoring plays. He wasn't so sure about the points after touchdowns.

Steve Owen, the Giants' coach, was all decked out in Broadway finery, but Potsy Clark, the Lions' coach, turned up in an old battered hat, a blue mackinaw, and a pair of faded overalls borrowed from the groundkeeper. Five minutes after the opening kickoff he had big patches of mud on his knees, but a smile on his face.

President Joe Carr of the National Professional league, sat out in the snow and sleet, working up a very strong preference for bridge.

Harry Newman, the old Michigan star, who came into the game as relief for Ed Danowski and Ken Strong, received the biggest ovation of the afternoon. Newman, who prepped in Detroit, obliged with several long returns of kickoffs, one for 40 yards to midfield.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 15.—The net receipts from today's Detroit-New York championship bootball game after taxes were deducted, were $33,477. The expenses of staging the game were $9,452.98. This left a net of $24,024,02, of which 50 per cent, or $12,012.01, was the players' part.

Ten per cent, or $2,402.40, will be divided between the second place teams in the esatern and western divisions. Another 10 per cent goes to the league and the remaining 30 per cent is divided between the New York and Detroit managements equally.

The $12,012.01 belonging to the players is split 40-60. The Detroit Lions will receive $7,207.20, or approximately $300 each. The losers will receive $4,804.30, or about $200 each.

MUD O. K. WITH SPARTA; BEATS CLEVELAND, 4-0

BY OFFSIDE.

The Sparta Garden City soccer team, its heavy players suited to the muddy field, scored an easy 4 to 0 victory over Cleveland Slavia before 1,500 at Sparta stadium.

Tengler, rangy Cleveland goalkeeper, kept Sparta away from the net for 25 minutes, but then Monroe scored on a penalty shot. Ten minutes later Vleck scored a goal on a short shot from scrimmage.

Starting the second half Cleveland made several advances, but was turned back by Scott and Myrnka. Vleck and Monroe came through with goals to increase Sparta's advantage.

SPARTA [4].		CLEVELAND [0].

In other soccer games yesterday Calumt Park beat the Wilsons, 4 to 3, and the Oddfellows tied the Slovaks, 1 to 1.

CHAMPIONS BEAT LA PORTE.

HORTON SMITH LEADS IN MIAMI GOLF WITH 139

73 Qualify for Finals of $10,000 Open.

Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 15.—(AP)—With Horton Smith, tall, blond professional from Chicago, showing the way at 139 for the first 36 holes, 62 top flight golf professionals and eleven amateurs paraded today into the last two rounds of the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open.

So fierce was the competition that the money players needed scores of 149 or better to qualify for the concluding 36 holes of the sport's richest tournament.

Smith's 36 hole total, three better than par for the distance, served definite notice to the field—that included almost every famed golfer in this country—that he was back on the game that brought him fame and riches five years ago. The modest 27 year old Missourian joined today's round of 70, one under perfect figures, to yesterday's 69 to lead the field.

As in previous years, comparative unknowns were well up among the leaders after the first two rounds. One stroke back of Smith, at 140, was John Milutic, Youngstown, O., who put together two subpar 70s.

Tied for third place at 141 were three players, two of them comparative unknowns—Al Watrous, veteran Detroit professional, whose 69 today came within one of tying the day's best score; 25 year old Bruce Coltart, Woodcrest, N. J., and Al Nelson, Hopewell, N. J.

Leading the amateurs into the final two rounds was young Henry Russell, home town boy, with 148.

Stars Are Shut Out.

Metz Shoots 68.

Qualifiers at 142, even par and three strokes back of Smith, were Dick Metz, Chicago, whose 68 was tops for the day; Frank Walsh, Chicago, and Byron Nelson, Ridgewood, N. J.

At 143 were Tommy Armour, Chicago; Tony Penna, Pensacola, Fla.; George Smith, Chicago; Turner, the medalist, and Bert Montressor, Decatur, Ill.

Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa.; Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., and Felix Serafin, Clark's Summit, Pa., registered 144, while Archie Hambrick, French Lick, Ind.; Orville White, Memphis, Tenn.; Henry Kaiser, Racine, Wis.; Denny Shute, Chicago; Willie Klein, Miami Beach, and Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va., turned in 145.

Runyan, Revolta Fail.

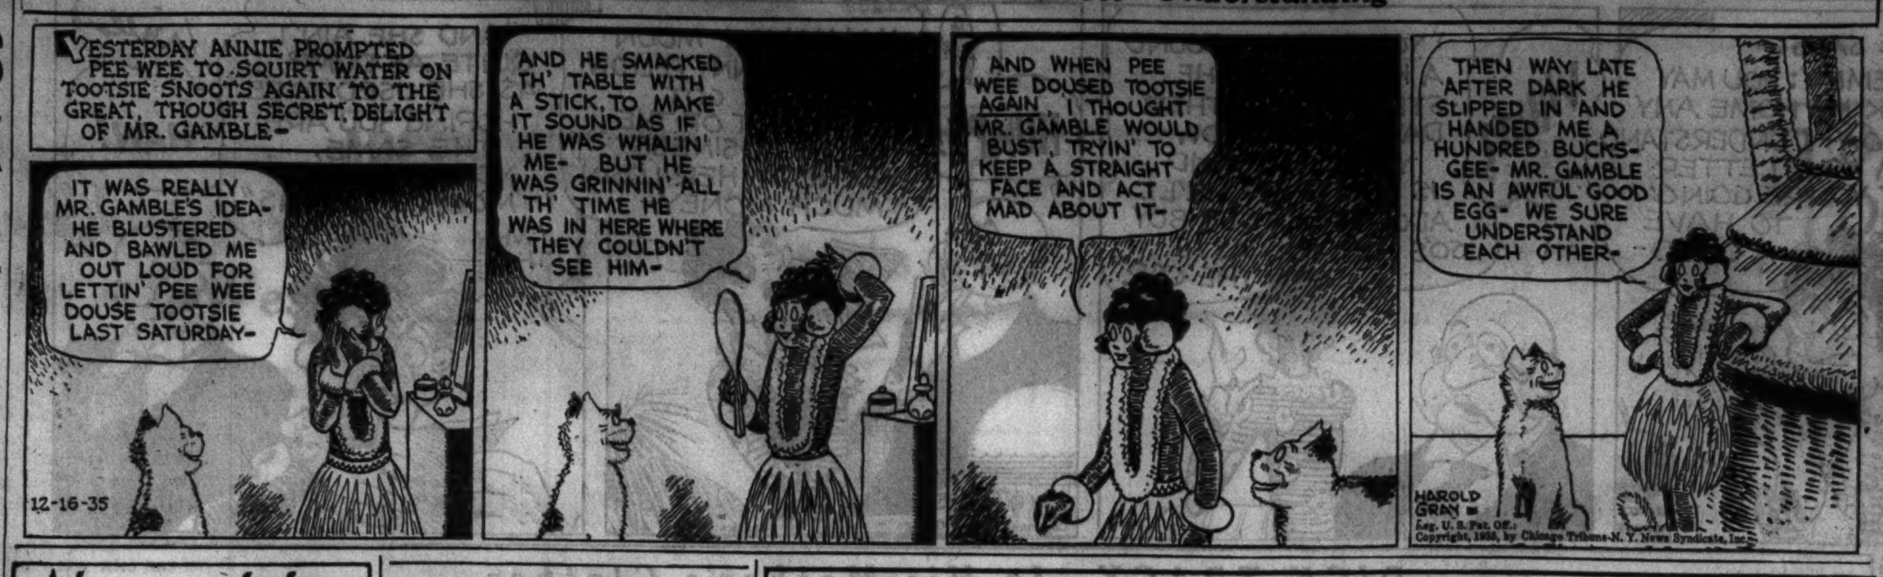
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Perfect Understanding



YESTERDAY ANNIE PROMPTED PEE WEE TO SQUIRT WATER ON TOOTSIE SNOOTS AGAIN TO THE GREAT, THOUGH SECRET, DELIGHT OF MR. GAMBLE—
IT WAS REALLY MR. GAMBLE'S IDEA— HE BLUSTERED AND BAWLED ME OUT LOUD FOR LETTIN' PEE WEE DOUSE TOOTSIE LAST SATURDAY—12-16-35
AND HE SMACKED TH' TABLE WITH A STICK TO MAKE IT SOUND AS IF HE WAS WHALIN' ME— BUT HE WAS GRINNIN' ALL TH' TIME HE WAS IN HERE WHERE THEY COULDN'T SEE HIM—
AND WHEN PEE WEE DOUSED TOOTSIE AGAIN, I THOUGHT MR. GAMBLE WOULD BUST, TRYIN' TO KEEP A STRAIGHT FACE AND ACT MAD ABOUT IT—
THEN WAY LATE AFTER DARK HE SLIPPED IN HERE AND HANDED ME A HUNDRED BUCKS— GEE— MR. GAMBLE IS AN AWFUL GOOD EGG— WE SURE UNDERSTAND EACH OTHER—

GOV. F. H. COONEY OF MONTANA DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Cooney, elected lieutenant governor in 1932, became chief executive upon the resignation in the spring of 1933 of Gov. John E. Erickson, who later was appointed United States senator to succeed the late Thomas J. Walsh.

Cooney came to Butte in 1891 from Canada with his brother, Howard C. Cooney, and formed the Cooney brokerage concern. He later moved to Missoula, where he engaged in business and farming.

The chief executive's wife and two of their six living children were at the bedside. One son was killed in an automobile accident last year.

POPE TO ADD 20 NEW CARDINALS IN RITUAL TODAY

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI. will create twenty new cardinals tomorrow, filling the sacred college almost to the limit of the seventy cardinals stipulated by Vatican regulations. Members of the sacred college will assemble behind guarded doors to give an affirmative vote to the pope's selections by raising their red hats as a symbol of approval.

The vote, for many centuries a formality, will be followed by two more ceremonies. On Wednesday in secret session the twenty will receive the red hats symbolical of their rank. On Thursday there will be the final and public presentation at a consistory held in St. Peter's basilica.

Creation of the new dignitaries will restore the traditional Italian supremacy in the college of cardinals. At present there are 24 Italians and 25 foreigners. By naming 14 of the 20 from among his countrymen the pope will bring the balance to 38 Italians and 31 foreigners. France will receive two new cardinals and Spain, Czechoslovakia, Argentina and Syria one each.

CARDINAL HAYES' BIRTH CONTROL FIGHT OPPOSED

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Answering Cardinal Patrick Hayes' statement that birth control advocates were "prophets of decadence," 13 clergymen today appealed to the Catholic church to adopt a "hands off" policy outside its own sphere.

The clergymen's reply was to a sermon preached last Sunday by Cardinal Hayes in anwer to a demand by the American Birth Control league that the Catholic church withdraw its opposition to the dissemination of contraceptive information among relief families.

"No one questions the right of the cardinal to remind the communicants of the Roman Catholic church of its teachings on the subject of the limitations of the family, . . ." the clergymen stated.

"We must, however, in the same measured, deliberate, and emphatic terms employed by the cardinal protest against any word or act of the dignitaries of the church that would in effect impose upon other Americans the beliefs and practices of Roman Catholicism."

D. W. STEVICK DIES EN ROUTE FROM FLORIDA

Thomasville, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—David William Stevick, 48, Champaign, Ill., newspaper publisher, died today when en route to his home by automobile from Florida.

The publisher, owner of the Champaign [Ill.] News-Gazette, was seized with a heart attack and died in his sleep. In ill health for some time, Mr. Stevick was accompanied by his chauffeur, Gene Dozer, and a trained nurse. His body was brought to Thomasville and it was planned to send it to Champaign tomorrow.

The publisher had been convalescing at Miami since September following an operation in Chicago. Although still weak, Mr. Stevick decided to make the trip to Champaign to be with his wife, Mrs. Helen Stevick, and their daughter, Marajen, for the holidays.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon.

E. F. Prigge, Former Legion Post Head, Is Victim of Gas

Elmer F. Prigge, 39 years old, 6451 North Mozart street, was found dead yesterday from carbon monoxide fumes, when Rogers Park police broke into the garage at the rear of his home. Mrs. Prigge, who summoned the police, said her husband must have fallen asleep when he returned from a shopping trip. Prigge was a dealer in tavern supplies and was a past commander of the Indian Boundary post of the American Legion.

Derailment Halts Trafic on Burlington Line 12 Hours

Travel on the St. Paul branch of the Burlington railroad was tied up for twelve hours yesterday when seventeen cars of a Chicago bound freight train were derailed at Oregon, Ill. A special passenger train bringing students home for the holidays from Campion College of the Sacred Heart at Prairie du Chien, Wis., was delayed for four hours until it was rerouted.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Details of William C. Ward's plans to search for Paul Redfern, long lost aviator, among the tribes of Guiana are to be revealed on the W-G-N program, "Grandstand Thrills," at 7:30 tonight. Late developments in the Redfern hunt are also to be dramatized tonight. Ward, who lives at Clarksburg, W. Va., whose expedition was inspired by a broadcast about Redfern on "Grandstand Thrills" several months ago, expects to get started for the South American jungle country within a month. Redfern has been reported held by natives as a "white god."

By train, plane, and motor Al Pearce's Gang has been converging on Chicago over the week-end preparatory to making their first local radio appearance at 4 p. m. today over WMAQ-NBC. They'll be heard at the same hour on Wednesdays and Fridays. Prime favorites on the west coast for many a year, the Pearce gang lately has been appearing in New York. They work for the same concern that has Amos 'n' Andy on the air.

The Pearce specialists in hokum and harmony, in addition to the brothers Al and Cal, include: Mable Todd, Andy Andrews, Tony Romano, guitarist; Harry Foster, tenor; Arlene Harris, human chatterbox; Monroe Upton [Lord Bilgewater]; Morey Amsterdam, and the Three Cheers—Travis Hale, E. J. Derry, and Phil Hanna. Harry Sosnik's orchestra, a perennial favorite hereabouts, will lend musical support to the gang.

•

Phillips Lord [Seth Parker] will join Leo Reisman on that cigaret program over NBC with a series of spine chilling tales of men and women who have faced death. These stories will present a man who has faced a firing squad and lived, another who has seen a ghost and can prove it, a tiger hunt in the mid-Pacific. Perhaps Lord will fall back on some of his own hair raising experiences. First one will be presented on Christmas eve. Think of that!

•

Ted Fio-Rito has been added to W-G-N's imposing array of dance orchestras. He will be heard via MBS every Sunday night from midnight to 12:30 a. m. . . . Marlene Dietrich will make her radio debut on "Hollywood Hotel" at 8 o'clock next Friday evening. . . . Pierre Andre has had French twins in Detroit named for him. The poys are Pierre and Andre.

When Paul Whiteman's new program for that soapmaker goes on the air in January he will become a competitor of the General Motors Symphony hour on Sunday evenings. Whiteman will have the advantage of getting on the air fifteen minutes earlier and overlapping the symphony hour during the first half of its program. Paul will be heard from 8:45 to 9:30 p. m.

•

Ted Hammerstein, with the coöperation of Twentieth Century-Fox Pictures, will begin giving radio "screen tests" in a new feature to be added to his Music Hall of the Air beginning tonight at 7 o'clock. A new wrinkle in the amateur hour, manifestly.

Deitrich Voelker, Resident of Chicago Since 1858, Dies

Deitrich Voelker, one of Chicago's oldest residents, died yesterday in his home at 2431 Aubert avenue. He was born in September, 1835, in Hanover, Germany, and came to Chicago in 1858. A new residence he had just completed, at what is now 1743 Mohawk street, was burned to the ground in the fire of 1871. He saved the furniture by burying it, and rebuilt after the fire. Surviving is his daughter, Mrs. Anna Knoepfle, and a son, Charles. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the chapel at 5200 North Western avenue with interment in Wunders cemetery.

Richard H. Buettner, 79, Ex-Manufacturer, Dies

Richard H. Buettner, 79 years old, a retired cigar manufacturer, and survivor of the fire of 1871, died yesterday at his home, 307 North Mason avenue. Buettner was brought to Chicago from East Prussia as a boy, three years before the fire. Surviving are five daughters, Emily, Hattie, Della, Alma and Helen. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Bethany Evangelical Lutheran church, with interment at Concordia cemetery.

James P. Walsh, Policeman for 18 Years, Dies Suddenly

Policeman James P. Walsh, assigned to the South Chicago station, died suddenly last night in his home at 1525 East 65th street from a heart attack. He was 46 years old and had been on the police force for eighteen years. Surviving is his widow, Catherine, and three children, Jerry, John, and Mary Catherine.

W. O. Payne, Former Editor of Des Moines Paper, Dies

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 15.—(AP)—W. O. Payne, 75, former weekly newspaper editor and at one time candidate for Republican nomination for United States senator, died here today.

MARY HUGHES, 87, UTILITY CHIEF'S MOTHER, IS DEAD

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hughes, 87 years old, mother of George A. Hughes, president of the Edison General Electric Appliance company, died yesterday in her apartment in the Seneca hotel after a long illness.

Mrs. Hughes was the widow of Gen. Alexander Hughes, once attorney general of Dakota territory. She was born in Greencastle, Ind., the daughter of Dr. Samuel Higginbotham, one of the early physicians of South Bend. As a school teacher in Monticello, Ia., she met and married Gen. Hughes. For many years they lived in Bismarck, N. D. Later they moved to Minneapolis, where Mrs. Hughes was president of the woman's club for many years.

In addition to her son, George, Mrs. Hughes is survived by three other sons, William B. of Evanston, E. A. Hughes, a retired utility executive of Chicago, and Frank C. Hughes of Glendive, Mont., and a daughter, Mrs. George W. Dulany of Chicago.

Funeral services will be held in the Lakewood chapel, Minneapolis, at 12:45 p. m. today.

E. G. SWEENEY, 54, PULLMAN BANK EXECUTIVE, DIES

Edward G. Sweeney, 54 years old, a vice president of the Pullman Trust and Savings bank, died yesterday in his home at 11025 South Park avenue after a short illness. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow from the Holy Rosary church, 113th street and South Park avenue, and burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Mr. Sweeney was born in Crown Point and came to Chicago as a child. He was connected with the Pullman Trust and Savings bank for 27 years, and prior to that time was a traveling auditor for the Pullman company.

Surviving are his widow, Rose, two daughters, Grace and Marion; a son, Edward Jr., and two sisters, Mrs. James Gorman and Miss Florence Sweeney, all of Chicago. Mr. Sweeney was a member of the Olympia Country club, the Pullman club, the Calumet Commercial club, the San Salvador chapter, Knights of Columbus, and the Catholic Order of Foresters.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR T. W. HOUSE WILL BE TODAY

Houston, Tex., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Funeral services for Thomas W. House Jr., 31, nephew of Col. E. M. House, who died in Waco Saturday of gunshot wounds described by Joe Trippett, assistant district attorney, as self-inflicted, will be held here tomorrow afternoon.

The body was brought to Houston last night.

Mr. House, son-in-law of former Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, was vice president of the Texas Long Distance Telephone company. His father, T. W. House Sr., was a resident of Houston.

He was found fatally wounded in the basement of his Waco home yesterday. He had been shot four times.

Former Senator Deneen departed from Chicago yesterday for Waco, Tex., to accompany his daughter, Mrs. Bina Deneen House, to Houston, where funeral services for her husband are to be held today.

Francis W. Frost, Former Chicagoan, 59, Dies in East

Francis W. Frost, 59 years old, wealthy eastern importer of oils and minerals, died Saturday in his home at Plainfield, N. J., according to word received here yesterday. Mr. Frost, who was born in Chicago and left this city as a youth, was a grandson of Edwin Hunt, who came to Chicago in 1852 to establish a hardware business. His father was George H. Frost, who founded the Engineering News in Chicago. Mr. Frost is survived by his brother, Harwood Frost, 5737 Kenmore avenue. Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Plainfield.

Indiana Man Dies Here from Mystery Ailment

An inquest was ordered to determine the cause of the death of Clarence Hunsicker, 48 years old, of Mulberry, Ind., who died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital. Dr. Matthew J. Kiley, coroner's physician, performed a post-mortem examination and said he could not determine the cause of death. He said he would ask a coroner's chemist to aid him. Hunsicker was brought to the hospital when his home physicians were unable to diagnose his ailment.

Dr. Martin Hardin, Former Chicago Pastor, Dies in East

The Rev. Martin D. Hardin, 62 years old, who was pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, Ashland and Ogden avenues, from 1908 to 1917, died Saturday in Ithaca, N. Y., where he was pastor of the First Presbyterian church, according to word received here yesterday. Dr. Hardin left his Chicago pastorate to become a Red Cross official during the world war. After the war he accepted a call to the Ithaca church. He was well known as a Chautauqua lecturer.

Drunkenness Is a Disease!

This FREE Booklet Explains Facts That Every Person Should Know

HERE is a treatise written on the disease of inebriety and its cure, written especially for the Keeley Institute. It is based on fifty years' experience, embracing the treatment of more than 400,000 patients, including men and women from all walks of life.

It tells you "why" the medical profession recognizes drunkenness as a disease; what famous medical authorities say about the disease of drunkenness . . . and "how" drunkenness can be cured. The booklet is free, and mailed in a plain envelope. Write at once for your copy NOW!

LARGER PROFIT SHOWN FOR 1935 BY SWIFT & CO.

Producer Also Gets More, Says Report.

G. F. SWIFT.

Operations of Swift & Co. in the fiscal year ended Oct. 26 resulted in a substantial increase in net income, G. F. Swift, president, disclosed yesterday in his annual report to stockholders. Net income totaled $8,767,302, compared with $6,131,579 in the preceding fiscal year, equal to $1.45 a share, against $1.02.

Profit was after an extraordinary deduction of $6,000,000 to offset possible declines in inventory value. Last year $6,500,000 was reserved for this purpose. Based on the $25 par value of the 6,000,000 shares outstanding net income was equivalent to a return of 6.7 per cent and averaged 1.9 cents per dollar of sales, which aggregated $767,000,000, against $657,449,600 in the 1934 period.

Current Assets Show Increase.

Current assets, as of Oct. 26, amounted to $185,250,148, including cash of $27,920,979 and government bond holdings of $11,950,425, against current liabilities of $29,513,748. At the close of the preceding year quick assets totaled $171,506,892, including cash of $17,357,254 and government bonds of $11,530,488, compared with current liabilities of $22,414,603.

In his report Swift says a higher profit was attained despite the decrease in meat production because of an increase in dollar volume, resulting from higher live stock and meat prices, and from efforts to maintain volume production.

"Owing to the high level of meat prices," he asserts, "which necessarily prevailed under short supply conditions, the year was one of improvement to producers who were able to carry their animals through the 1934 drouth. The meat supply during 1936 is not expected to be very different from the past year, but after 1936 a larger yearly supply should become available."

Cites Live Stock Shortage.

He says the shortage of supplies during 1935 is strikingly shown in the official figures of live stock population. At the beginning of 1934 there were 68,290,000 cattle, 57,177,000 hogs, and 52,212,000 sheep on the farms. A year later the cattle population had been reduced to 60,667,000, the hog population to 37,007,000, and the sheep population to 49,766,000.

"Because of the shortage of feed and water," Swift continues, "the drouth of 1934 forced many stock raisers to market their animals before they were properly finished. Also, at the height of the drouth the government inaugurated a program of cattle and sheep buying in the stricken areas.

Trace Rise in Meat Prices.

"Altogether 8,279,750 cattle and 3,609,576 ewes were purchased by the government under this program, and the commercial supply was reduced accordingly.

"Under these conditions of reduced supply the rise in live stock and meat prices which began in 1934 continued throughout the greater part of the year just closed. While some of the rise in meat prices may be attributed to slightly improved business conditions and the increased purchasing power that is always associated with better business, the principal explanation is to be found in the extraordinary reduction in the quantity and weight of live stock marketed, particularly in the reduction of hog receipts.

"The short supply of pork not only caused a material rise in prices but affected also the prices of beef, veal, and lamb, all of which are in constant competition with one another for the consumer's dollar.

How Prices Have Risen.

"By the end of October, 1935, wholesale beef prices were about 40 per cent higher than in October, 1934. Dressed lamb prices were 30 per cent higher; fresh pork was 65 per cent higher, and cured pork was higher by 40 per cent.

"It is a well established principle that the price of a meat animal in any competitive market is dependent primarily upon the value of the meat and byproducts the animal contains. In accordance with this principle, the rise in meat and byproduct prices during 1935, as a result of the conditions of short supply, was accompanied by a material rise in live stock prices in all markets."

Guess at Fees to Reorganize Middle West

Only the small army of lawyers connected with the case in the period of receivership and bankruptcy trustee operation since April 15, 1932, can tell how much their requests will aggregate. Only Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who has heard the case and will pass upon the requests, has any idea of how large a sum he will consider reasonable as compensation for services rendered in setting the corporation on its feet.

Best guesses place at $1,000,000 or more the amount which will be asked by the array of legal talent involved. Only the more optimistic believe the lawyers will place a more modest valuation on their services.

Court Urges Moderate Fees.

When Judge Wilkerson warned the various attorneys and protective committees last week to submit requests which are moderate and "within the range of reason," many in the legal profession recalled with a shudder what Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe did to fee requests of $2,841,000 in the reorganization of Paramount-Publix corporation, which was in court 2½ years. Judge Coxe slashed the aggregate to $776,426, or less than 30 per cent of the amount asked.

While observers gained the impression that Judge Wilkerson is determined to hold fees down, most felt the court indulged in wishful thinking when he remarked that requests aggregating $100,000 or $200,000 would be received with favor and acted upon quickly, while claims of $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 will be treated in an opposite manner.

Recommend $626,199 Fees.

A list of fees aggregating $626,199 was presented to the court Feb. 21, 1935, on the recommendation of the reorganization committee headed by Abner J. Stilwell, vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, which is one of the principal Middle West creditors.

This listing did not include any fees for counsel of the trustee and receivers, for the attorneys who filed the reorganization petition for petitioning creditors, nor for the half a dozen legal firms representing minority interests in the case. Neither did it include receivers' fees. Charles A. McCulloch, former receiver, has a request pending for $130,000 in addition to the $95,000 he has been paid.

Upward Revision Likely.

Revision upward of the February figures of those included also may be expected in view of the numerous legal skirmishes and resultant compromise plans of various sorts which preceded the actual reorganization. The largest bill in the February list was that of the noteholders' committee for $344,410. This included $114,410 expenses, $30,000 fees, and $200,000 for attorneys.

The preferred stock committee asked $146,637—$42,137 expenses, $20,000 fees, and $84,500 attorneys. The Lindsay common stock committee listed $55,132—$25,874 expenses, $20,000 fees, and $32,000 for attorneys, minus $22,742 cash on hand. The reorganization committee listed $60,000 for attorneys, $20,000 expenses, and nothing in fees.

STANDARD OIL FINDS FIVE DAY WEEK A SUCCESS

The five day week for employés of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has worked out successfully and will be continued indefinitly, Edward G. Seubert, president, announced yesterday. The plan has been on trial since April 1, 1934, in the company's general offices, refinery offices, and sales division headquarters in thirteen midwestern states.

Directors of the company believe that general adoption in industry and trade of the five day week for office employés will speed recovery, Seubert said.

ARGENTINA ENDS WORLD'S SUPPLY OF CHEAP WHEAT

Europeans Must Pay More for Grain.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

By guaranteeing farmers a price on their 1935 wheat crop above the level of the export market the government of Argentina has served notice on the world that it has no more cheap wheat for sale. In recent years Argentina has been the principal source of supply for economical European buyers. Consumers have purchased the lower grade Argentine grain rather than pay the stiff prices asked by Canada.

The government's announcement last week of the establishment of a minimum price equivalent to approximately 90 cents a bushel in terms of United States funds came as a surprise. The conditions giving rise to the government's edict, however, have been well known for several weeks. Long before the harvesting of the Argentine crop began it was apparent that country would be forced to surrender its preëminent position in the world export market.

Argentine Crop Reduced.

Curtailed acreage and drouth cut drastically into Argentina's production of wheat this season. After providing for her own needs there will be a surplus for export of only about 50 million bushels, or approximately one-third of the actual sales which Argentina made to other countries during the last year. With such a comparatively small amount of wheat to market in other countries the government apparently believes the price of 90 cents a bushel can be easily maintained.

From the standpoint of the United States and Europe the Argentine action is of immediate importance. Canada now controls the bulk of the world's surplus. When the Argentine news broke last week a panic developed among European and American buyers who wanted Canadian wheat.

Canada Sells More Wheat.

Export sales from Canada for the week were estimated in the neighborhood of 15 millions, of which around 10 millions were sold in the course of a few hours following the announcement of the setting of the Argentine price peg. Canada probably has it within her power to force up the world prices materially. That she does not appear to want to exercise her power is not because of unselfishness.

The dominion wheat board offered wheat freely to all buyers during the uprush in prices last week. The new board, from present appearances, is intent on liquidating as much as possible of the country's surplus. The supply available for export and carryover is placed at approximately 300 million bushels.

Prospects that the Canadian supply will be substantially reduced and eliminated as a constant threat to the world market are the best in a long time. The evident belief of the dominion board that the present time presents an opportunity to reduce its surplus, rather than an opportunity to hold up the rest of world, has been reassuring to importing countries.

Price Advance in Chicago.

May wheat advanced 3 cents a bushel in Chicago last week, due entirely to the changed status of the world market.

$40,000,000 Steel Program Is Announced

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 15.—(AP)—The Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation disclosed a $40,000,000 improvement and expansion program today in a letter to stockholders.

Approval of a $100,000,000 first mortgage, $60,000,000 to be held in reserve, was requested, involving one of the most important new private financing projects since 1929.

Work would be given to thousands in the construction and operation of a $25,000,000 strip and sheet mill in Pittsburgh, the largest of its kind.

Announcement of this step in the call for a special meeting of stockholders Feb. 14 heralded the long expected entry by the 85 year old concern into the production of strip and sheets.

To Meet Future Needs.

The letter said:

"The decision to engage in this branch of steel manufacture was arrived at after a comprehensive study made over an extended period of all the major steel products, and with the conclusion strip and sheets best meet the need of the corporation's requirements for increased consumer goods."

Jones & Laughlin is the largest steel concern to retain its identity without consolidations or mergers since it was founded more than a decade before the civil war. It is the fourth largest producer in the United States, with an annual ingot capacity of 5,660,000 tons and employs approximately 18,000 persons.

The refinancing plan involves retirement of $5,248,000 bonds outstanding from an issue of $30,000,000 authorized in 1909, only $25,000,000 of which was issued. Provisions are made for reimbursement of working capital being used on a $5,000,000 44 inch blooming mill now under construction, $1,500,000 for additions and improvements to a four high reducing mill in suburban Aliquippa, and $3,000,000 for capital expenditures already made and shortly to be made.

Contracts to Be Let Later.

Actual letting of contracts cannot occur until after the February meeting, which is 60 days away, because of a limitation placed on special meetings by the Securities and Exchange commission.

The steel industry hailed the move as another sign of improvement, coming as it did but a few weeks after United States Steel announced a similar $140,000,000 program.

HOLIDAY PURCHASING FINDS LUXURY GOODS IN CONTINUED DEMAND

While Christmas and seasonal retail business hummed along at a level 20 per cent higher than a year ago, wholesalers last week also shared in the banner season, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Luxury goods were in continuing demand.

Out of town department stores and other outlets have found themselves not as amply stocked for the holiday trade as they had thought, and are back in the local market for heavy replacements. The demand is particularly heavy from rural districts.

Household furnishings continue in leading demand, with all lines in favor, including furniture, electric equipment, floor coverings, linens, draperies, and radios.

Chicago will end the year on the upgrade industrially, it was added. Gradual increases in employment and pay rolls are showing from week to week. Rail trafic and utility service are running well ahead of volume a year ago. Automobile sales are holding their fast pace. Steel commitments eased slightly, but the output is well ahead of the national average and far higher than last year.

FINDS WEALTH IN MORE HANDS THAN SUPPOSED

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Wealth is far less concentrated than is generally supposed, Dr. Ralph C. Epstein, dean of the University of Buffalo school of business administration, said here today in a radio address. "The wealthiest 10 per cent of income receivers obtain only 31 per cent of the national total," he said, "and any statement that 10 per cent of the people get 80 or 90 per cent of income is utterly false." He used 1929 figures in the computation.

Aveyard to Head Chicago Office of Batten, Barton

A. E. Aveyard, formerly vice president of Lord & Thomas, has been made a vice president of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, and will have charge of the latter advertising firm's office, it was announced yesterday. Aveyard joined Lord & Thomas in 1925 after having been associated with the Campbell-Ewald company. Other plans for the Chicago office of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn are to be announced soon.

Drop in Steel Output Viewed as Only Brief

A drop of 2½ points in the national steel producing average last week to 54½ per cent of capacity means only a temporary lull in the market, according to the magazine Steel, which says that demand for iron and steel is proving unusually resistant to year-end influences.

So far in December there has been practically no letdown in pig iron production, and shipments are running 75 per cent ahead of the comparable period in November, with melters' stocks lower than anticipated, the journal says.

Although the national and most sectional steel producing averages were lower for the week, there were scattered cases of finishing mills increasing their schedules. In addition sheet mills are operating at 65 to 75 per cent of capacity, strip mills at 60 to 65, the highest for the year, and tin plate mills at 80 per cent, up 5 points.

Regional Declines Shown.

Regional declines for the week as compared with the preceding week amounted to 4 points to 59 per cent in Chicago, 1 to 42 at Pittsburgh, 2½ to 37 in eastern Pennsylvania, and 11 to 82 per cent in New England. Cleveland gained 2 points to 84 per cent and Youngstown 2 to 62, while other sections remained unchanged.

A recession in production with the approach of the inventory and holiday season is inevitable, the magazine says, but since there is no apparent weakness in the underlying situation any current decline is expected to be of short duration.

Scrap Steel Prices Rise.

The magazine's scrap composite rose 13 cents last week to $13.29 a ton, which tops a steady rise for seven weeks and is the highest price since May, 1930. Increases included a boost of 50 cents a ton to $14.50 for heavy melting steel at Pittsburgh. The iron and steel price composite gained 2 cents to $33.32 a ton, but the finished steel index remained at $53.70 a ton.

Inasmuch as the finished steel prices did not share in the boost in semi-finished steel, the nonintegrated mills have been making a concerted drive against the $2 lift and some makers of the semi-finished product permit shipments in January on orders received up to Dec. 31.

Makers of merchant wire products have discarded the quantity differential system which they adopted in August, the magazine says, and the former base prices now apply with less than carload lots up $4 a ton, instead of the former $2, and fencing $3 to $5 higher per base column.

VARIED EVENTS ACT AS BRAKE ON STOCK TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 15.—Trade and political uncertainties at home and abroad have conspired to impose a brake for the time being in the steady stock market rise, which, beginning last March, carried the averages up approximately 39 points.

There were a number of factors last week which caused traders to assume a cautious attitude. Many traders have retired to the sidelines, some of them unloading commitments laid up in rosier days.

Among these adverse factors were: The demoralization of the world silver markets brought about by the treasury department's action in halting its bids for white metal in London last week. The fresh tension that has arisen in the Italo-Ethiopian peace negotiations. Some misgivings here and there on the scores of nearby prospects for American trade. The potentialities of the new congress, which gets under way in January.

Loses Nearly Four Points.

The market lost nearly four points last week, selling orders dominating the activity in four of the five and a half sessions. As a result the close of business yesterday found THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's index on fifty representative stocks of the list between six and seven points below their high for November, with the industrial group making an even worse showing.

Chart followers who set great store by such things figured that the list had broken through the so-called "resistance level," established on last month's mild mannered little correction, and some of them feared out loud that the development was not a healthy sign for the nearby trend.

Another thing: Brokers' loans jumped some $31,000,000 on the week, making an increase of nearly 100 millions in the figures in three weeks, and some traders thought this might bode further reaction. The theory was that the advance showed large investment holders who had loaded up on stocks when prices were at more attractive levels had been unloading on the public, thereby weakening the market's technical position.

Letdown by Industry.

Still another item out of which professionals on the outlook for a break tried to make capital was the measurable letdown in the country's industrial production. Steel, for example, receded from 57 per cent of capacity to 54½. It was pointed out in more optimistic quarters, however, that a reduction in November and December from the October maximum is the usual course of things in this industry and that the jump of more than 8 per cent in the weekly output between the first of November and the first week of October was unusual.

Railway car loadings for the first week of December, as reported yesterday, were 15¼ per cent above the corresponding week of last year and nearly 18 per cent above the figures for the same week in 1933. Retail trade, too, has increased more than 26 per cent over that of 1934.

As for the market's "technical position," there are plenty of veteran observers who hold that the shakeout of the last week or ten days has materially strengthened, instead of weakening, the list and put it in line for a resumption of its interrupted advance, barring, of course, untoward developments.

No Fear of Bear Market.

Nobody, so far as the record shows, seriously believes that a bear market is in the making, however conflicting the views over the outlook over the next few weeks.

As among the different groups, silver shares fared worst in the week's upset. In one or two sessions losses in the group ran as high as four or five points. The group rallied moderately yesterday, but United States Smelting finished the session showing a net loss of nearly twelve points on the whole, while Cerro de Pasco was down ten, and American Smelting nearly six points from their previous Saturday figures. Gold stocks showed a tendency to firm up as the silvers sold off. Of the other divisions, the oils held up fairly well and during the latter part of the week the motors showed some fresh strength.

Compo Shoe.

Investors' Guide: Please send latest report on Compo Shoe Machinery.—S. F.

Answer: Compo Shoe Machinery corporation, Boston, manufactures shoe manufacturing machinery used in cementing soles to shoe uppers. These are leased to shoe manufacturers. It also sells on a licensing basis Compo cement and solvent, used in connection with the manufacture of Compo shoes. Its plant is in Boston, Mass.

Earnings rose steadily from 1929 through 1934. During the first half of 1935, however, they dropped sharply, totaling only $62,000, or 52 cents a share, against $138,000, or $1.18 a share, for the first half of 1934. Output of shoes under its method during the first ten months of 1935 was 13.2 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1934 period.

Gross revenues in 1934 were $1,346,000, against $1,197,000 in 1933. Net income in 1934 was $205,000, or $1.73 a share, against $184,000, or $1.57 a share, in 1933. In 1932 net income was $124,000 and in 1931 $71,000.

On June 30, 1935, current assets, including $90,000 cash, totaled $479,000, and current liabilities were [illegible]00. There are outstanding 118,583 shares of $1 par capital stock on which quarterly dividends of 12½ cents a share are being paid. There is no funded debt.

National Electric Power.

Answer: "As a public utility holding company system," said a recent statement by Irving Trust company, trustees in bankruptcy of National Electric Power company, "National Electric no longer exists and has not been such for over three years. National Electric is a mere corporate shell, with no corporate business and no attempts at corporate business. The corporation is active only to the extent that its estate in bankruptcy has not been finally liquidated and distributed.

"There remains in the estate no substantial value in the securities of any going concern. The securities of such subsidiaries as will exist as going concerns have passed to others."

The company was the top holding company of the group of eastern properties of the Insull "empire." Too rapid expansion was financed with bank loans, secured by assets of the company. When the expansion collapsed the banks foreclosed on the collateral.

OIL DELIVERIES INCREASE.

For the 11 months ended Nov. 30 the nine pipe line companies formerly in the Standard Oil group showed a gain of 919,112 barrels in net deliveries of crude oil, as compared with the like period of 1934.

RESERVE GROUP TO STUDY IDLE FUNDS THIS WEEK

Seeks Method to Control Credit Expansion.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Clashing viewpoints on the banking situation's foremost problem—voluminous excess reserves—will be pitted against each other this week with a meeting of the federal reserve system's open market committee.

The Tuesday session will be the last for the committee as presently constituted before a new group dominated by the federal reserve board takes up its task of gauging the need for acquisition or sale of government securities by the federal reserve banks.

By such transactions, economists say, the volume of excess bank reserves and through them the basis of the nation's maximum credit expansion may be sharply controled.

Position of Committee.

The present open market committee, composed of the governors of the twelve federal reserve banks, is on record as favoring control through an increase in reserve requirements, which would transform excess reserves into required reserves and thereby remove them from the credit picture.

On the other hand, the federal advisory council has urged that the reserve banks sell substantial amounts of their government securities to achieve the same general objective. The customers would be the member banks. The excess reserves would be used to purchase the bonds. This council is composed mainly of business men, one for each district.

Both the present open market committee and the advisory council function in a purely advisory capacity. However, the committee as it will be reorganized under the banking act of 1935 will have authority to instruct the reserve banks to buy or sell bonds and to name the amounts.

To Function in March.

It is expected to begin functioning early in March, its creation to follow the reorganization of the board itself, also ordered by the new banking act. It will consist of seven members of the new board and five appointed by the reserve banks.

The open market committee had its beginnings in the "back to normalcy" period following the world war. It continued informally until the enactment of the banking act of 1933, which recognized and gave it legal status.

In 1932 and 1933 the federal reserve banks acquired more than $2,000,000,000 worth of government bonds in an effort to release funds for bank lending, in the hope of stimulating recovery. The result, however, was the accumulation of more than $3,300,000,000 in excess reserves.

Pelley Reports Big Saving by Car Handling Method

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, in a statement issued today declared that member roads are deriving "a substantial saving" from the revised method of payment for freight cars in service on "foreign" lines. The present arrangement, adopted by the association last May, provides that the roads pay on a monthly average basis for the use while on their lines of box cars belonging to other roads, instead of for the actual number of days such cars are held, as formerly.

Westinghouse Gets Order for 10,000 Air Brake Sets

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 15.—(AP)—The Westinghouse Air Brake company announced tonight it had been awarded an order for 10,000 complete sets of brake equipment for the Pennsylvania Railroad company. The order was estimated at approximately $1,500,000.

The equipment will be used on the 10,000 new freight cars which the Pennsylvania announced last week would be built at a total cost of $25,000,000.

TRADE IN BONDS IS MARKED BY NARROW MOVES

Cheap Rails, Foreign Liens Show Widest Changes.

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The bond market failed to show a clear cut price trend last week. Narrow backing and filling movements took up most of the time, with considerable shaking up in the low priced rails and foreign issues the sole feature.

The dislocation of world silver prices, a balky stock market most of the week, and gloomy prospects for peace in Europe were news items calculated to have an adverse effect on security prices.

Only One Large Offering.

Only one new issue of importance was marketed, that of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, which was reported to have met a good demand. State and municipal financing, however, continued large and the market remained firm. New offerings in the coming week in this classification will aggregate $28,000,000.

Year-end adjustments in portfolios came in for some attention during the week, as well as selling for taxation purposes. The latter item, however, was believed smaller than is usual at this time of year because of changes made in laws which make it less attractive to establish losses for income tax purposes.

Reorganizations Are Factors.

Progress in reorganizing several companies attracted heavy buying in bonds that were believed to be selling out of line with value under new setups. Spectacular gains were made by a few, including American Type Founders 6s.

Continued improvement in the statistical position of the oil industry lent encouragement to those working for higher prices in petroleum company mortgages.

LETTERS

Letters of not more than 200 words, addressed to the Financial Editor, will be printed in these columns from time to time.

SEC Salary Revelations.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 13.—The information given out by the SEC as to salaries of officers of corporations is misleading and unfair. When you publish such figures you should place in brackets immediately following these amounts the net salary after deducting the federal income tax. An individual receiving a salary of $100,000 turns over to the government more than half of this amount.

SUITS & OVERCOATS CUSTOMIZED BY

Hickey-Freeman

Men who've paid $150 or more for custom tailored clothes tell us they're happier with Hickey-Freemans. The tailoring is just as fine—finer, if anything—they get some of the choicest domestic and imported woolens—and they save the annoyance of repeated try-ons

$55

The very finest suits of exclusive imported British weaves

$75

Y-O-U-R O-W-N
B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S
Would you be interested in starting in business for yourself without one cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shop workers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constant increasing demand.

Now, here are our requirements: You must be under 50, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance, and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side of Chicago, northern Indiana, and northeastern Illinois.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and, if selected, will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to this offer as we even pay rent, light, heat, telephone girl hire, consign your merchandise, and finance your accounts.

Apply Monday only between 1 and 3 p. m. Ask for Mr. Wayne, Suite 404, Maryland Bldg., 63d-st. and Maryland-av.

BURNHAM'S
Will Enable You to EARN MORE

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

BURNHAM'S AWARDS TRIP TO PARIS to STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sailed June 19 on S. S. Manhattan, with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.

DAY OR EVENING CLASSES.
Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduation. It is to your advantage to register now, even if you cannot start until later. Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.
